Let the Old Cat Die.

Dictatorship and Measles.
Russia Builds. We Talk.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

GENERAL JOHNSON thinks the time has come to turn over management of NRA to a commission and he hopes he can get out of the thing entirely.

That sounds a little like "letting the old cat die out."

General Johnson insists that NRA must "keep teeth" and he would not let big business dominate it. But it is hard to keep teeth in a commission.

TODAY, PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT, in the big cruiser Houston, passed through the Panama Canal, built by his distant cousin, Theodore, the other Roosevelt President.

What did F. D. R. think as he saw the canal, its great locks and the deep cut? What plans did he form to make Theodore's canal look like "child's play?"

Did he make up his mind (let us hope that he did) to dig canals from the Great Lakes through the Mississippi Valley to the Gulf, and from the Great Lakes to the Atlantic Ocean all on American soil?

Whatever else he may do, Franklin D. Roosevelt, in one year of work, has done what the world would have called impossible. Today when the name "Roosevelt" is mentioned, everybody thinks of Franklin D. He has made "Theodore" a part of ancient history. What will the next "President Roosevelt" accomplish?

A DICTATORSHIP seems to run its course like measles or mumps. The energetic little Chancellor Dollfuss of Austria takes the regular "next step," assuming practically all the national power. He declares himself minister of foreign affairs, minister of defense, which includes control of the army, and minister of agriculture.

In Italy, Mussolini is the "pooh-bah" of official life. In Turkey, Russia, Germany, Kemal, Stalin, and Hitler are everything.

DOLLFUSS has an idea for the discouragement of bomb explosions.

Anybody found with explosives in his possession will be put to death, no explanations accepted, after a few days grace for delivering the explosive to the government.

The idea isn't entirely new. We did the same thing with gold in this country, although the penalty is not death.

In England, after the Phenix Park murders, to have dynamite in your possession meant imprisonment at hard labor.

SOMEBODY in Russia seems to possess common sense as regards armaments. Moscow will listen, if invited, to talk about limiting warship building at the 1935 naval conference, but says she is not interested in having somebody else tell her what ships she may build.

Russia has various water frontiers, the Pacific Ocean, the Caspian and Black seas. She reaches the Atlantic through the Arctic Ocean, the Baltic and the Gulf of Finland, and is busy, just now, building ships that she thinks she needs and she doesn't tell anybody how many they are or what they are like.

She is also building airships and has more than ten trained pilots to our one.

STALIN OF RUSSIA has abolished the secret police method of justice, substituting regular legal procedure—a good sign.

The Russian dictator would be interested, probably not much alarmed, to know that Count Anastase Andrevitch Vonsiatskoy-Vonsiatsky, married to a rich American girl, and called "V-V" for short, is organizing his "All Russian Fascisti" in Paris, preparing for war against Stalin. The latter would probably advise "V-V" to confine his fighting to Paris. It would take the fortunes of several American girls to overthrow the gentleman who put through the five-year plan.

THE CRIMINAL knows how to discourage what he calls "crime" and the criminals that he dislikes.

A New York race track gambler who, according to police, operated under various names, and was heavily in debt, went out "to meet Bill." He was found dead on the sidewalk in front of a Brooklyn police station yesterday, the usual number of bullets in his body.

The police conclude that gangsters were among those whom the race track gambler had swindled. He will swindle no more. The police are looking for "Bill."

TREASON TRIALS CALLED; NAZI EXECUTIONS FEARED

CO-ED QUEEN DEATH STILL MYSTERY

Prosecutor Seeks 'Real Story' of Tragedy In Apartment

NORMAN, Okla., July 12.—(AP.)—Dissatisfied with the story of Mrs. Hazel Brown, 39-year-old fraternity house cook at the University of Oklahoma, County Attorney Paul Updegraff said today he would demand a new statement from her concerning the death of 20-year-old Marian Mills, campus beauty queen.

Miss Mills died Tuesday afternoon in Mrs. Brown's apartment, and the cook, who is held as a material witness, in a statement said the girl took frequent doses of a "quack" remedy in an attempt to avoid motherhood. Updegraff said:

"I don't believe now that death was caused by this medicine. There's a lot happened out there at Brownie's house we haven't learned."

No trace has been found today of Neal Myers, 21-year-old junior in pharmacy at the university, who vanished from Mrs. Brown's apartment after summoning the physician who found Miss Mills dead.

Besides seeking Myers, Updegraff said he would ask Bernard Doud, Shreveport (La.) student who came here for Miss Mills' funeral today, about their former engagement. Updegraff continued:

"He can tell me whether the engagement was broken off some time ago, as reported, and perhaps can relate something about the girl's state of mind that we don't know. He visited her at her home July 3 and stayed three days."

The county attorney also said that physicians who performed an autopsy on the body of Miss Mills, daughter of a university professor, reported that vital organs appeared upon superficial examination to be normal. A complete report will be made Saturday or Monday.

Mate Who Didn't Do Right by Nell Fined With Girl

Calmly Mrs. Nellie Crittenden, 41, alias "Nell Callahan," reputed North Side night life queen, stood in Morals Court today and heard her husband profess his love for another woman.

The drama developed at the hearing of Robert Crittenden, nine years younger than his wife, arraigned with the "other woman," Marjorie Hager, 20, of 220 Sandusky street, on a morals charge.

Police testified that the pair had been found together in a room in a building owned by Nell Callahan at 907 Irwin avenue.

The husband stood by the Hager girl at the hearing. He told Magistrate J. W. McGowan:

"I love her."

He said he would marry her if his wife divorced him.

That seemed to fit in with plans of the reputed night life queen. Without emotion she announced that she intended to sue for divorce.

She said that during their 13 years of married life they "had not been getting along very well."

The husband and the girl were fined $5 with the alternative of serving five days in jail.

Nell Callahan, who had been arrested in connection with the case as the owner of the house, was discharged when she testified that she had sub-let the place to another person.

Convention Delegates Victims of Tragedy At Bethesda, O

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., July 12.—Fifty or more persons, most of them women and girls, were injured today in the collapse of a porch balcony of the Epworth Park hotel at Bethesda, near here.

Emergency calls for doctors and ambulances were broadcast 10 miles around.

Whether or not anybody was fatally hurt could not be learned.

Hundreds were gathered at the hotel attending a school convention.

An atmosphere of festivity was turned into a scene of horror as rescuers began digging into the debris to extricate those caught beneath the wrecked timbers.

Four ambulances were sent from Bethesda from St. Clairsville and a detachment of deputy sheriffs, nurses and physicians were rushed to the scene in automobiles.

Bethesda has a summer colony of Methodist church people, according to the sehriff's office in Belmont County. The Edworth Hotel is a three or four-story building housing several hundred guests. In addition there are many cotatges in the park.

The convention, it was said, brought together several thousand people for a three-day outing at the park.

HITLER FOES WILL FACE TRIBUNAL

Chancellor to Protest Encirclement of Germany

By TOM WILHELM
International News Service.

BERLIN, July 12.—A special tribunal to deal with treason and political crimes was suddenly summoned by the People's Court today to meet on Saturday, the day after Chancellor Hitler makes what is expected to prove the most important speech since he assumed power to the Reichstag.

Whether this meant that executions of anti-Hitlerites is to be resumed no one knows.

The session will be a long one. Among those to be tried for treason, where the death penalty may be pronounced, probably will be Ernst Thaelmann and Ernst Torgler, Communist leaders. Thaelmann was the Communist candidate for the presidency of the Reich in 1933 and polled millions of votes. Torgler was accused of helping set fire to the Reichstag building.

LEADERS FACE TRIAL

A number of Nazi storm troopers, alleged to have been involved in the Roehm putsch suppressed by Hitler and Gen. Goering on June 30, are also to face trial.

Before the special tribunal begins its sittings the Reichstag is expected to have legalized the mass executions that have already taken place and perhaps to have given this new tribunal extensive powers to deal with anti-government elements.

For Hitler, in his address tomorrow night, in which he will justify these executions, undoubtedly will ask the Reichstag to throw the blanket of legality over the acts of June 30 and subsequent days.

Politically the vital part of his speech will be his protest against the encirclement of Germany, just completed.

In effect, the Nazi Chancellor will protest the use of the Locarno pact in violation of the "Locarno spirit."

NATION TO LISTEN

Germany will be mobilized to the last man tomorrow to hear Hitler's speech. A special order was issued by the ministry of propaganda to provincial radio officials calling for the unprecedented collective mass broadcasting of the speech, organized in such a way that no one will have any excuse for missing what the chancellor has to say.

Portions of the address and a translation also will be rebroadcast to the United States.

Nazis Deny Ordering Vienna Envoy Home

VIENNA, July 12.—(AP.)—The German legation in a communique today said "reports that the German Minister to Vienna has received instructions to prepare to leave for Berlin are unfounded."

Meanwhile, two new bombing outrages were reported today, only a few hours after Chancellor Dollfuss had announced a new anti-terror campaign with the death penalty for possession of explosives.

Five persons, four of them tourists, were injured at Salzburg when a bomb destroyed the automobile of a member of the Dollfuss "Fatherland Front" organization. Seven Nazis were jailed as suspects.

APPLES BLAMED IN BOY'S DEATH

Green apples apparently caused the death today of Joseph Klug, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Klug, of 34 Lawrence street, Millvale.

Meanwhile, his younger brother, Regis, 5, is in Children's Hospital recovering from a serious illness seemingly brought about by the same cause.

Regis was rushed to the hospital after eating some of the apples Sunday. Quick action by doctors was credited with saving his life. In spite of his brother's close call, Joseph ate more of the apples yesterday, probably from the same tree.

Joseph became too ill to be taken to the hospital, so Dr. Luke Barnett treated him at his home last night, but early today he sank into unconsciousness. He was pronounced dead after his mother rushed him to the office of Dr. W. C. Barnett, 426 North avenue, Millvale.

Surprised, he said, at a death from green apples, Dr. W. C. Barnett asked for an autopsy.

Doctors at Children's Hospital, also looking for some other cause for Regis' grave illness, ordered tests at University of Pittsburgh laboratories. Analysis so far, they report, has discovered nothing but green apples as a possible cause.

Newsmen in Court Snubbed by Papale

Magistrate Charles Papale, who hands out decisions at the East End police court and in Traffic Court, today laid down a virtual censorship on news from those spots. He banished reporters from their usual place near the judicial desk and ordered them outside the railing, where they will be unable to hear the testimony at hearings.

The magistrate's action was seen as a reprisal for stories detailing some of his lenient decisions in traffic court.

Ban on Meter Tax Made Final by Court

In a final decision handed down today, Judge Elder W. Marshall perpetually enjoined the City of Pittsburgh from collecting or attempting to collect the $2 tax on meters of public utility companies.

This action supplements the recent ruling of Judge Marshall, when he held the city meter tax ordinance illegal and invalid. The city now has 10 days in which to prepare an appeal to the Supreme Court.

Traynor's pitching selection was Larry French and Manager Terry changed his batting order accordingly. Lefty O'Doul moved up to second position, Travis Jackson to fifth position and Hank Leiber, a rookie, replaced Moore in center.

PONZI'S PARDON PLEA DENIED

BOSTON, July 12.—(AP.)—Charles Ponzi, the little man who startled a nation 14 years ago with promises of fabulous profits to investors, today lost his attempt to prevent deportation by obtaining a pardon from Gov. Eby, but he halted further deportation proceedings by seeking a writ of habeas corpus in the federal courts.

Immediately after Ponzi had fulfilled a promise to surrender to immigration authorities, his counsel filed the habeas corpus petition, which will be heard July 17.

The government had hoped to deport Ponzi on account of two offenses involving moral turpitude—his conviction in Massachusetts of larceny and a federal conviction of using the mails to defraud.

Ponzi argued before the Governor that they both were based upon the same offense and consequently there should be only one moral turpitude charge against him.

Forsaking Nudism Wins Pair's Freedom

CHICAGO, July 12.—(INS.)—Pledging to forsake nudism forever, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Wallace, Jr., the famous nudelyweds of the World's Fair, today won a year's probation.

Judge Borrelli, who last Saturday found the couple guilty of participating in an indecent exposure when they were married "au naturel" in the World of a Million Years Ago exhibit, said he did not believe any good would result from jailing the offenders.

J. P. Morgan Sailing To England in Yacht

NEW YORK, July 12.—(INS.)—As fishermen angling nearby disdainfully ignored his departure because, in the words of one of them, "fish are more important," J. P. Morgan set sail from Glen Cove, L. I., on his $2,000,000 yacht, Corsair, today for England.

He was accompanied by a party of six or seven friends. As usual, guards—all ex-marines—lined his estate and the beach front, preventing anyone from coming within a quarter of a mile of him.

Hightower Jailed, Lacks $2,500 Bail

Unable to post a $2,500 bond, the Rev. A. V. B. Hightower, Negro pastor and private detective, was sent to the county jail today, held for court on charges of aggravated assault and battery, pointing firearms and surety of the peace.

Hightower was sent to jail by Alderman Thomas M. Geary after Harry Pittler, 70 Roberts street, testified the pastor-detective had attacked him June 23.

STEEL CAR CO. HEAD REMOVED

Frank N. Hoffstot, for more than 25 years president of the Pressed Steel Car Company, today was deposed as a trustee for his company.

Federal Judge R. M. Gibson today appointed Attorney George D. Wick and Walter Bonitz as trustees. These two, with Hoffstot had been serving first as receivers, then as trustees for the company which is trying to reorganize out of a receivership of a year ago.

Judge Gibson remarked that he felt Hoffstot's efforts towards reorganization will be the same, whether he is a trustee or not.

Some stockholders and bondholders opposed Hoffstot. They pointed to salaries of $469,000 in 1931 while the company was losing $1,853,219.

On the other hand, Attorney William G. Heiner, for the company, reported that the directors favored Hoffstot as trustee.

Dry Leader Drowns Himself in Bathtub

LIBERTYVILLE, Ill., July 12.—(AP.)—The Rev. John E. De Long, dry leader who once engaged Samuel Insull in a controversy over prohibition, was found drowned last night in the bathroom of his home. The minister, who had been left alone in the house while his wife went on an errand, had been in ill health for more than a year. Dr. John L. Taylor, Lake County Coroner, said the minister left a note saying ill health made it impossible for him to carry on.

KEEPS PLEDGE WITH DEATH

JACKSONVILLE, Ark., July 12.—(AP.)—Helen Spence Eaton, 21-year-old Arkansas bad girl who said she never would be captured alive, has kept her word.

She is dead—shot down by a guard 24 hours after she fled from the state prison farm for women. The guard said he fired when she reached into her blouse for a pistol.

The former White River shanty boat girl, twice convicted of murder, had escaped from prison four times before. On this last attempt for freedom, she left a note saying:

"I'll never be taken alive."

Frank Martin, a trust prisoner assigned to guard her, overtook the girl late yesterday nine miles from the prison farm. The shooting followed.

Martin, himself serving a 21-year sentence for murder, was exonerated by Coroner L. C. Aday.

The pistol Helen had taken from Martin's quarters prior to her escape had not been removed from a belt inside the blue denim blouse she wore.

Enzo Quitting Wife for Hollywood

'I'll Sure Be Star,' 'The Frenzo' Says; Done With Ring

International News Service.

NEW YORK, July 12.—The indomitable Enzo Fiermonte, handsome Italian boxer, is going to detach himself from his wife, Mrs. Madeline Force Astor Dick Fiermonte, and carve himself a career in Hollywood.

The husband of the former Mrs. John Jacob Astor is not discouraged over the New York State Boxing Commission refusing him a chance to battle Maxie Rosenbloom for the light heavyweight boxing championship.

Enzo said:

"Ive given up boxing. I' off to Hollywood. I feel I must make my own way. My only ambition now is for a movie career."

Enzo was asked:

"Does Mrs. Fiermonte know about this? Does she approve?"

He replied, with a fatalistic gesture:

"She knows about it—but does she approve? You must ask her yourself. She didn't approve of my boxing."

Mrs. Fiermonte was reported by friends to be planning an ocean voyage that will land her, by one of those coincidences, within easy speaking distance of the Paris divorce courts.

Enzo has signed a year's contract with a motion picture company.

There's a special clause in the contract eliminating any boxing role, Enzo revealed. He wants to act. He said:

"I shall play romantic roles. I shall emulate—not Maxie Baer—but the late Rudy alentino. I shall succeed, of course."

"What do you think of the new decency drive in Hollywood?"

"I don't know anything about it."

"Have you any other 'heart interest' at the moment?"

Enzo replied:

"At the moment—none."

Mary Pickford Heads East; Lacks Plans

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., July 12.—(INS.)—Mary Pickford today was en route East to decide just what future activities will occupy her time.

She was definite in one thing, however, and that was that she had no plan for meeting Douglas Fairbanks, the husband from whom she is estranged and whom she is suing for divorce.

Gifts for Italian Royal Babe Declined

ROME, July 12.—(AP.)—An official communique today asked the adoring Italian people not to shower gifts on the infant expected in mid-autumn by Crown Prince Umberto and the Princess Marie Jose.

Citizens with an impulse to equip bassinets were asked to make their contributions to the national Mothers' and Infants' Protective Association.

Early Downfall of Hitler Predicted by Earle

NEW YORK, July 12.—(AP.)—The early downfall of Adolf Hitler as chancellor of Germany was predicted today by George H. Earle, until recently minister to Austria, and now the Democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania.

Earle arrived on the United States liner Manhattan from London, where he has been observing the European situation. Freed from the responsibility of being a representative of the American government, he expressed himself freely today on his distaste for the Nazi movement in Germany and Austria.

Turning his attention to the immediate problem in his own future, that of wresting control of Pennsylvania from the Republicans at the November election, Earle launched an attack upon the G. O. P. rule of that state during the last three administrations.

He said:

"We are going to win next November because the people of our state understand the New Deal. Not from reading about it, but from living under it. Our task will be to make the New Deal permanent in Pennsylvania. The Republican party leaders have made the Roosevelt New Deal the issue of this year's election. We thank them."

A delegation of Pennsylvania Democrats met the boat. Among them were David L. Lawrence, the Democratic state chairman, and Joseph P. Guffey, a candidate for the United States Senate.

JOHNSON DRAFTS BASIC LABOR RULE FOR UNCODED TRADES

30 DAYS GRACE TO BE GIVEN INDUSTRY

NRA 'Czar' Leaves on Trip West to Resell 'Blue Eagle'

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—A "basic code" to regulate problems of labor in the 262 industries not yet under the Blue Eagle was announced today as Recovery Administrator Hugh S. Johnson flew westward for a 30-day combined vacation and speaking tour.

Under Johnson's promulgation all industries except the service activities will be given 30 days to complete "all code making."

It is not the NRA plan, his order noted, "to compel every industrial group in the country to have a code, but if any of those remaining out at the end of 30 days appear to be harboring abuses of labor, a hearing to determine whether a labor code shall be imposed will be given within 40 days from today."

Johnson's plan does not include arrangements for the settlement of difficulties surrounding the anthracite coal and shipping industries, and a few lesser ones involving sectional and international problems.

476 CODE INDUSTRIES

There are now 476 codified industries, representing more than 90 per cent of industrial employment.

Included in the 262 uncoded industries are 135 whose codes have passed public hearing or have been set for hearing and in which agreements appear to be obtainable. It is hoped by NRA executives to complete these within the next 15 days.

Johnson expects that most of the remaining industries will come under existing codes for related lines.

Those codes coming under the "basic code" by choice or by executive orders will have hour and wage provisions established at figures already in force in related codes.

Besides regulating hours and wages the basic code provides for the right of collective bargaining, abolishes child labor, provides safety and health rules and establishes a simple plan of open price reporting, as well as the authority for providing fair trade practices.

CODE DIRECTORS

Johnson has designated Robert K. Strauss, special assistant administrator; Dr. Leon C. Marshall, economist of John Hopkins University, and George S. Brady, assistant administrator for policy, to direct the entire program of code making.

To simplify the transition to the basic code or compliance with a related code, Johnson has ordered that there be no public hearings on applications by groups of such industries. Upon the applications all interested parties will be given 10 days' notice. Johnson decreed, and if there are no substantial objections, the applications will be approved and the codes will go into effect automatically at the end of 10 days.

Any industry which subscribes to the basic code may ask later for: Merger with an existing code; modification of the basic code or inclusion of additional fair trade practices. Hearings will be heard for the latter only upon the assent of 75 per cent or more of the industry.

TEAMSTERS AID COAST STRIKE

SAN FRANCISCO, July 12.—(AP.)—Threats of a general strike increased today as 3,700 truck drivers of San Francisco Bay cities walked out to tighten the commerce blockade of striking Pacific Coast maritime workers.

The action of the teamsters' unions of San Francisco and the East Bay cities of Oakland, Berkeley and Alameda came despite an appeal of a federal labor disputes board which reported its first definite step toward possible settlement of the strike which has crippled coast shipping.

MINNEAPOLIS, July 12.—(AP.)—Union truck drivers, charging their employers have "double-crossed them," have voted to go on strike Monday.

Truckmen in St. Paul will vote tonight whether to join the strike.

The meeting adopted a resolution calling upon other trade unions of the Twin Cities to "rally to our support with moral and financial aid," and to be ready for "sympathetic strike action, if such becomes necessary."

in 43 years, also the lowest oats, barley, rye and flax crops in 30 years, the same for corn, except for 1930.

Once such crop failure would have been called a calamity. Under the New Era, it is presumably a blessing. It certainly should increase the prices of grain, which will please the farmers that have any, and the speculators that are "long."

THE PLAN to put all industry under control of labor union officials meets resistance. The third biggest steel company in America, the Republic, after working with the American Federation of Labor for more than twenty years, refuses to renew contracts with the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, and will run an open shop.

The Republic says its action is based on "the danger that the management of the Amalgamated will pass into the hands of the radical element."

At Warren, Ohio, plants of the Republic company, normally employing 5,000 men, are closed due to lack of orders. The company blames its idleness "on the labor situation."

MAHATMA GANDHI is learning that you cannot easily remain a prophet in your own country. Since he has taken up the cause of the unhappy "untouchables," lowest caste in the Indian population, those of higher caste look upon him as our "best minds" look on "Reds and Socialists."

The Mahatma's supporters inflicted serious injuries on a certain orthodox Hindu leader, Pundit Lal Nath, an enemy of Gandhi.

Instead of giving three rousing cheers, and telling the Pundit, "I wish they had broken your neck," as a rugged Westerner might do, Gandhi will fast for an entire week, "to expiate injuries inflicted on an enemy."

If you try to understand the Asiatic mind, you will fail.

The British don't try to understand him; they boss him.

REPUBLICAN SENATORS object because the new chairman, Mr. Fletcher, of the Republican National Committee, attacks the New Deal. They are afraid the popularity of the New Deal may defeat the big Republicans that attack it.

Mr. Fletcher may truthfully tell these gentlemen that you can't defeat an administration by calling it perfect.

Perhaps the wise Republicans really don't expect to defeat the administration, and are merely "going through the motions."

STEEL BONUS SUIT FOUGHT

TRENTON, N. J., July 12.—(AP.)—The Bethlehem Steel Corporation today asked the Chancery Court to dismiss for lack of jurisdiction the action of a stockholder for an accounting of $26,000,000 paid in bonuses to directors between 1917 and 1930.

In an answer to an amended bill of complaint filed by the Standard Investment Company of Pittsburgh, holder of 250 shares of Bethlehem common and preferred stock, the corporation asserted the proceeding had not been pursued diligently and no appeal had been made to other stockholders to co-operate in seeking redress from the alleged grievance.

The investment company began a suit in April, 1933, demanding an accounting and charging the bonus payments to the directors were "wholly out of proportion to the value of services given."

Crop Loss $75,000 In N. J. Farm Strike

BRIDGETON, N. J., July 12.—(AP.)—Return of the last of 200 workers today will write a peaceful finis to a two weeks' strike which officials say cost the Seabrook Farms $75,000 in crop losses.

With crops worth $85,000 yet to be harvested, company officials pronounced the strike settlement—effected yesterday—"quite satisfactory" and the employes were jubilant at getting back their jobs.

REPUBLIC MEN TO STAY OUT

WARREN, O., July 12.—(AP.)—Amalgamated Association steel workers employed by the Republic Steel Corporation here today accused the company of refusing to bargain collectively with workers and voted not to go back to work until a union contract is signed.

The workers' statement answered the corporation, which announced it would not renew a contract which expired June 30 after 20 years of contract relations with the affiliate of the American Federation of Labor.

The union claims a membership of some 1,200 in the hot mills. All the mills of the corporation in this district employ about 5,000 persons.

FOLLET NAMED STORE HEAD

Appointment of L. H. Follet, for 10 years assistant controller of Kaufmann Department Stores, Inc., as store manager, was announced today by Edgar J. Kaufmann, president.

J. C. Ritchie, a Pittsburgh accountant, will succeed Mr. Follet as controller.

STEEL MEN MAP REPLY TO UNION PAY DEMAND

Parley of Independents With Amalgamated Nearing Close

Independent steel operators were preparing to submit a counter proposal this afternoon to the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers as an answer to the union's demands for higher wages for the men.

Reconvening their conference early this morning in the William Penn Hotel, both sides expressed hopes that an agreement might be reached today. The joint conference ended about 11 a. m., and the operators, members of Western Sheet and Tin Plate Association, began preparing their counter proposal.

At the recess members stated it was unlikely the parley would end today.

Since the Republic Steel Corporation, largest independent, severed its contract with Amalgamated Tuesday, the manufacturers' association represents only seven companies.

Amalgamated President M. F. Tighe said that the wages established by the Amalgamated Association largely become the standard throughout the steel industry, including thousands of steel workers not members of any union.

Meanwhile, it was learned that the group of rank and file leaders have launched a campaign to organize every steel man in the country as a member of a union, whether Amalgamated or some other. This movement started, it was said, at a meeting in Canton, O., which was attended not only by steel workers, but by representatives of other unions—coal, automobile, railroad and company steel unions.

COURT GRANTS REAL SUBWAY FOR COWS

Judge Smith Proves He Knows Transit Needs of Bossies

To restore the self-respect of Farmer Brown's cows, the Montour Railroad has been ordered to construct a better subway from the new barn to the pasture so the cattle can pass beneath the railroad tracks with proper dignity.

Showing rare insight into the behavior of bovines, Judge Ralph H. Smith in Common Pleas Court handed down this order yesterday—a signal victory for Farmer D. C. Brown, of Washington County, and his lowing herd.

In 1913 the railroad obtained a deed for a right-of-way through the farm by agreeing in return to construct a tunnel under its tracks for the convenience of the cattle.

Instead of a tunnel, a ditch or culvert was provided and as the years went by the farm changed hands and nothing was ever done about the subway. But when Farmer Brown got the farm, he looked up the deed and decided something should be done about it.

This is what Judge Smith said:

"The evidence clearly established that no self-respecting cow, laboring under psychological inhibitions of that peaceful animal, would, without great persuasion, some compulsion or perhaps inducement, commit itself to a dark passage of 45 feet in length, offering a slippery footing, unless especially trained to do so."

So, the cows will get a real tunnel—and there will be no tolls.

TRUSTY SLAYS GIRL FUGITIVE

Cicero Spence, Helen was free awaiting outcome of her appeal when the slaying of Jim Bohots, Dewitt restaurant owner, occurred. It went unsolved for two years and then one day, while on parole from the sentence for Worls' slaying, Helen walked into Little Rock police headquarters and confessed she killed Bohots because he had made improper advances to her.

Tuesday, Helen complained of illness while working in the strawberry patch and she was excused to permit her to take medicine.

Shortly afterward, Martin saw her walking off from the wire enclosed prison. She disappeared before he and Deputy Superintendent V. O. Brockman could overtake her.

Yesterday afternoon Mrs. H. R. Vann reported a woman with a man's black hat pulled down over her eyes had demanded at the point of a pistol that Mrs. Vann drive her away in an automobile.

Brockman, Martin and two youths overtook Helen walking down a road. Martin said:

"When I got to within 20 to 30 yards of Helen, I called and told her to raise her hands. She reached for her blouse as she half turned away from me, and I fired."

Helen, who eschewed cigarets, but had mastered the art of cigar smoking, had gone in for writing lately and her defiant note that she would never be taken alive was written on the back of a rejection slip she received from a magazine to which she had offered her life's history.

In her meager belongings were found bits of poetry she had attempted. One of them apparently was an attempt at hymn writing.

The heavy wooden cell bars in Helen's special cell—they reached from the floor to the roof of the structure—were covered with pictures she had clipped from magazines.

Wins His Wings

YOUNG PINCHOT NOW AVIATOR

HARRISBURG, July 12.—(AP.)—The Gifford Pinchots—father and son—are progressing aeronautically.

Close on the heels of the Governor, who won his student pilot's permit recently, Gifford, Jr., 18, yesterday became a full-fledged amateur airplane pilot. He passed his test, completing 10 hours of dual instruction and 15 hours of solo flying, at the Harrisburg airport.

Next the Governor's son plans to complete 50 hours of "solo" flying and thus qualify for a higher grade.

Mrs. Pinchot failed to pass a physicial examination for a student's permit recently because of a minor eye defect.

SHOOTS YOUTH AFTER RAID

A youth was shot early today after officers raided a 300-gallon still in operation in a garage in Waverly street, Castle Shannon.

He is Mike Pastrik, 19, of 138 Washington street, Vandergrift. He is in the South Side Hospital suffering from a bullet wound in the right arm.

Constable P. J. O'Donnell, of Overbrook, and Chief of Police C. Bowman, of Castle Shannon, were the raiding officers.

As they were guarding the garage following the raid, Pastrik drove up in an automobile. Constable O'Donnell said when he showed his badge, Pastrik attempted to flee in the automobile.

O'Donnell leaped to the running board of the car. He jumped into a ditch, however, when Pastrik headed the machine for a pole. The car overturned. Pastrik climbed through a window and bolted. O'Donnell said he fired one shot and brought Pastrik down.

Pastrik denied that he had any connection with the raided garage. He said he mistook the constable for a holdup man.

Bruno Tripodi, of 1313 Gibbon street, Pittsburgh, said to have been found operating the still, was arrested.

Three Youths Held In Jewel Theft

Accused of having stolen $2,500 in jewelry and $150 in cash, three youths were held for a further hearing by Magistrate J. W. McGowan in Central Police Court today on a charge of robbery. They are John Williams, 19, of 1616 Wylie avenue; Thomas Crosby, 24, and his brother, Julius, 18, of 26 Crawford street, all Negroes.

PARK TO COMBAT 'RED LIGHT' DISTRICT

Mayor, Bell Seeking Group to Study Vice Control

Mayor McNair and Public Safety Director A. Marshall Bell today were seeking to find five or more Pittsburghers willing to make a study of vice control.

The Mayor has approved Bell's plan to name a commission of social and industrial leaders who would attempt to cope with that age-old problem — suppression of vice.

But as to a segregated vice district, the Mayor said:

"I am not very strong for it, but this commission might be."

However, whether this new commission might or might not approve a "red light" district, District Attorney Andrew T. Park today let it be known he would be opposed to it.

It was before another commission—Councilman John Kane's Police Research Commission—, which ailing Ben Marshall, the resigned police superintendent, today was anxious to appear.

Marshall wants to enter vehement denial that he ever accepted graft in his 25 years on the force, or that retired Inspector Frank R. Boyd was his "collector" from the joints.

James N. Hoey, the former police inspector, now a member of the research commission, implied charges against Marshall at the commission's hearing which brought testimony from Mrs. Charlotte Ryan, of Wabash avenue.

DENIES GRAFT CHARGE

Marshall declared:

"If I never speak another word and if I were to die tonight, I never received a penny of tribute from racketeers, any woman or any one else.

"I never had a collector, Frank Boyd or anyone else.

"I resigned voluntarily as superintendent of police because of illness. But I leave it to the public in general to decide that I have done everything since becoming superintendent to take police out of politics and graft, more than any other superintendent in the last 25 years.

"My doctors tell me it will be from two to six months before I will be well enough to leave here.

"But my one hope and ambition is that God will give me the strength to appear before the Police Research Commission before they adjourn so that I can answer any and every question they ask me."

Supt. Marshall averred he could explain satisfactorily why Inspector Jerry Deasy was transferred from the Oakland district to East Liberty.

Marshall said:

"I took it up with Deasy. Inspector Walter Kaiser and Magistrate Charles Papale of the East End Station could not get along, and I was not getting to first base in putting the police of that district in proper order."

Meanwhile, Mayor McNair and others stirred the pot to boiling with talk of a return to the old system of licensing disorderly houses, and placing them under police regulation.

DEPLORES RETURN

Charles A. Poth, attorney and former member of the City Bureau of Public Morals Control, which drove "segregated" districts out of the city more than 25 years ago, deplored talk of their return.

He said:

"No, they should never come back. We should keep the hand of the law pressing down on these resorts."

Former Police Inspector John Barry, who was an investigator of the old district under the Morals Squad, expressed his hope that it would never return.

Flier to Dare 13th ... With Black Cat Leap

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., July 12.—(AP.)—Pvt. Ralph Watson, 68th Squadron, Kelly Field, is not superstitious and, just to prove it, he is going to make his thirteenth parachute jump on Friday 13 and carry a black cat along with him.

Just before Watson bails out, "Rattle Bones," his solid black cat, will be thrown over the side of the plane.

Dill Will Retire When Term Expires

SPOKANE, Wash., July 12.—(AP.)—Senator C. C. Dill, Democrat and Washington's senior Senator, today announced his retirement from politics.

Only "some pressing issue in Congress affecting this state that demanded the help that only a Senator of experience and prestige could give" would induce him to run for office again, he said.

RED ACTIVITY IN U. S. AIRED

By DAVID P. SENTNER
International News Service.

NEW YORK, July 12.—The congressional committee investigating "un-American" activities today turned to probing alleged communistic propaganda in this country in violation of the agreement reached by Foreign Minister Maxim Litvinoff, of Soviet Russia, and President Roosevelt.

The American Communist Party was shown to be a part of the Communist Internationale in the Soviet which seeks to overthrow the capitalistic system.

This admission was contained in testimony given in executive session to the committee by Earl Browder, executive secretary of the American Communist Party.

The committee's statement declared that the central executive committee of the Communist Internationale, meeting in Moscow, adopted resolutions advising on tactics to be employed to overthrow capitalistic governments all over the world.

ROSES FROM AIR FOR DEAD GIRL

Two dozen red roses, dropped from the sky, today mark the grave of Lois B. Sangelo, parachute jumper, in St. Thomas Cemetery, near Braddock.

The flowers were dropped on the last resting place of the 21-year-old girl yesterday from a plane by Downie Marshall, her teammate in a 'chute jumping act.

Pilot George Heller, who took the girl aloft Sunday at the Wilkinsburg Airport, where she fell 1,200 feet to her death, dipped his plane low over her grave while Marshall dropped the roses.

It was Marshall's final tribute to the girl he taught to jump a short time ago. She was known as Lois Marshall in the "brother and sister act." Marshall's real name is George Walters.

Police Surprise Two Stripping Hill Auto

Patrolmen John and Patrick Flaherty, cruising the Hill district in a radio car, surprised two Negroes stripping an auto at 2988 Webster avenue, early today.

The men fled as the police car approached, dropping two tires they had stripped from the car. One of the officers fired two shots at the fleeing men.

U. S. Power Chief Flays 'Kept' Legislators

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., July 12.—(AP.—Frank R. McNinch, chairman of the Federal Power Commission, asserted that the power industry had invaded the government. He hit at the "vicious practice of having 'kept' legislators."

He called upon the industry to put its resources behind state and federal regulation, and asked for "helpful co-operation, not jealous antagonism."

McNinch, who was recently reappointed chairman by President Roosevelt, spoke yesterday a the Institute of Public Affairs of the University of Virginia. In his first public statement since reappointment, he said:

"For years we have had occasional shocking and shameful revelations of individual lawmakers, administrative officials and others in positions of public trust being subsidized by public utility money.

"Some utility leaders have piously posed as great defenders of constitutional government, while at the same time setting up this extra-constitutional and vicious practice of having 'kept' legislators do their bidding in violation of constitutional duty."

Arrest 12 Pickets In Gulf Oil Strike

PHILADELPHIA, July 12.—(INS.)—In the first outbreaks of violence attributed to the 15-day-old strike at the Gulf Refining Company's Girard Point plant here, windows in the homes of two non-striking workers were smashed with rocks, a policeman's foot was injured by a striker's automobile and 12 pickets were arrested today.

A conference between the management and representatives of the 1,000 strikers loomed as federal mediators stepped in to attempt to settle the walkout.

McNair Benches Vanish, Loafers Standing Again

Those benches have disappeared—stolen, mislaid or something.

The 18 benches, generously provided for hangers-on, were not in their customary place on the city side of the City-County Building lobby today.

All of which probably will displease Mayor McNair's secretary, Theodore L. Moritz.

Moritz arranged with a South Side merchant, who spread advertisements on them, to install the benches for tired loafers outside the City-County Building, in Diamond street.

County officials moved them into the building, contending the benches were on the county side.

They were there several days—in fact, the Mayor carried one of them there.

But today they were missing. And the hangers-on resumed their former leaning, rather than sitting, position.

The Mayor refused to be disturbed by the incident. He said:

"Are they all gone? I'll bet Buck McGovern (County Commissioner) did that."

BOWMAN IGNORES TURNER'S WRITINGS ON RELIGION

MUM ON PROBE THREATENED BY PINCHOT

Chancellor Refuses To Say if Pitt Will Ban Textbook

The writings of Dr. Ralph E. Turner on religion have not come to the attention of Chancellor John G. Bowman, of the University of Pittsburgh, Dr. Bowman said today. He refused to say whether a Turner textbook would be banned from the university.

The Chancellor likewise refused to say what answer, if any, he would make to criticism of Dr. Turner's dismissal contained in a letter to him from Gov. Pinchot.

The Governor said he would ask a legislative investigation of the firing of Dr. Turner after a new contract was given him as recently as May 9. Turner's dismissal was ascribed by Dr. Bowman to his "sneering attitude" toward religion.

BOWMAN AWAITS LETTER

Recognizing that Dr. Turner has been active in advocating social reform, Gov. Pinchot said his dismissal indicated the university's purpose had been "perverted to conform to the views of a small group of wealthy and powerful men."

Informed of the letter in the Sun-Telegraph, Chancellor Bowman would say only:

"I am not making any statements until I receive the Governor's letter. It has not arrived yet."

Neither would the Chancellor amplify his explanation that he dismissed Dr. Turner because of his attitude on religious subjects. But he did state that the dismissal was not based on Turner's religious writings in his textbook, "America In Civilization," which was used in his introductory survey history course for freshmen at the university.

BOOK NOT IRRELIGIOUS

Dr. Turner denied any hostility toward religion. His own textbook displays no antagonism to religions, but simply traces their development and effect on civilization.

His chapter on religion states in part:

"Strictly defined, religion is concerned with the relation of man to the mysterious power which moves behind natural existence, to the supernatural power.

"Jesus was the founder of ethical religion, and that meant that after him mere participation in ritualistic observances had to be supplemented by good deeds before the religious duties were fulfilled."

Dr. Turner termed the chancellor's explanation of his dismissal for his religious attitude as a "deliberate attempt to divert the public mind from the fact that it was discontent among a group of businessmen which caused my dismissal."

Gov. Pinchot, in his letter, said:

"The University of Pittsburgh appears in fact to have curtailed the academic freedom which gave the university its reason for existence and its right to state aid.

"If the Mellons want a school to teach their ideas, then let them support it. The commonwealth cannot."

Asked if he would make a reply to this section of the letter, Chancellor Bowman again insisted that he would make no reply until he had received the Governor's message personally.

MINISTERS COMPLAIN

In a lengthy explanation of the Turner dismissal, Dr. Bowman previously had said that he learned several ministers were opposed to Dr. Turner's attitude toward religion.

Asked if he intended to ban the Turner textbook from the University, Dr. Bowman said:

"I know nothing about it."

Asked if he had read the book, he said:

"I know nothing about it and I have made no decision."

He refused to look over the chapter on religion in which Turner writes:

"In comparison with Oriental and primitive cultures, a most outstanding feature of modern western civilization is the relatively lesser part that religion plays in life.

"The Western world is not irreligious, but it certainly is not predominantly religious.

"The most outstanding religious development of recent times has been the socialization of Christianity. The part of Christ in the scheme of human salvation has been reinterpreted; his life, as the man Jesus, is now seen to be a model of social service, and his teachings as a program of social organization."

Attorney Herman P. Eberharter, Democratic nominee for the Legislature from the Third District in which the Pitt campus is situated, announced today that if elected, he would introduce a resolution in the January legislative session to investigate the university's attitude toward social and labor legislation.

JUNE PREPARED TO 'TELL ALL' ABOUT PARTY

Spectators in Court Shocked by Story of Girl Friend

International News Service.

LOS Angeles, July 12.—June Delong, the girl with the beautiful hands, went to court today to tell her story of what assertedly happened to her apartment on the afternoon of April 26.

She was to be the state's star witness in the trial of Dave Allen, head of Central Casting Bureau, and Gloria Marsh, film extra player, charged with taking part in an alleged bacchanalian revel.

Miss Delong's testimony was to be an elaboration of the tale told by her friend, Mrs. Pearl Owings, film player.

Omitting not one intimate detail, Mrs. Owings described the asserted wild party said to have been attended by Allen, Miss Marsh and Miss Delong.

SPECTATORS SHOCKED

Before Miss Delong, a film extra known in private life as Ann Snyder, takes the witness stand, Mrs. Owings faced cross-examination at the hands of defense attorneys.

Mrs. Owings' testimony had the spectators dazed and shocked.

They leaned forward, almost in a body, some cupping their hands to their ears, as Mrs. Owings was asked to "describe thoroughly" the scene she said she encountered as she entered Miss Delong's apartment unbidden on the afternoon of April 26 after her knock had gone unanswered. Mrs. Owins asked in a startled voice:

"Do I have to tell that?"

As Mrs. Owens began her story in a soft voice, the spectators leaned eevn farther forward in their seats and the crowd outside strained to hear her words.

Most of the women flushed as the story fell from the lips of the witness. Members of reform organizations, in the crowd, took copious notes. Allen, head of the casting office that furnishes all the studios with extra players, kept his eyes on Mrs. Owings' face and so did Miss March. Mrs. Owings testified:

"I had known Miss Delong for three years. I promised to go by her apartment to pick up some photographs.

"I rapped on the door and there was no response. I tried the knob and found the door unlocked, so I walked in. I walked up the hallway which led into the living room, which is also a bedroom when the bed is pulled down.

THREE IN PARTY

"There were three persons there. There were two women and a man. The two women were Miss Delong and Miss Marsh. The man was Dave Allen, whom I knew my sight.

"I stood there speechless. Mr. Allen leaped up and approached me, his face angry, and demanded to know who was responsible for the 'frame-up.'

"He then showed me some sort of a police or district attorney's badge and told me that a high police officer had advised him to see those kind of girls to run down what looked like a frame-up.

"He said he often did this kind of investigating and thought it was 'beautiful work.'"

Mrs Owings said that Allen told her she needn't have sneaked in that way. She testified:

"'You could have come on in and joined the party' he told me. Allen asked me if I wanted some picture work and I told him I wasn't interested. He then offered Miss Delong and me $200 to forget about the whole thing. He made Miss Delong promise to leave town."

WOMAN'S DUAL ROLE AS WIFE REVEALED

Had Daytime Mate And Another One At Night

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—When the sandman filled the eyes of Mrs. Clara Sands or Mrs. Clara Wenger—two sets of her neighbors know her by either name—her husband says she could truthfully say she had a busy day.

But her man, the Sands man, was not around to look out for her during the day.

It is claimed the hands of the clock apportioned twice as much work for Mrs. Sands or Mrs. Wenger (her maiden name was Clara Remy, of Alexandria, Va.) than they do to the ordinary wife—she administered to two husbands and kept two houses, according to sworn statements of her husband, Louis Sands, of Baltimore. Sands declared:

"Since 1919, when I have just been told she married another man, John Wenger, in Washington, while she was legally married to me, she lived with me in the night time and lived with Wenger during the day."

It happened Sands worked during the day and was home at nights and Wenger worked at night and was home during the day, Sands added:

"I might never have known about this other man if my wife had not overstayed her visit to Lewiston, Me., after the death of her mother. I went there and found her with Wenger who told me he was her husband. We were married in 1918 in Alexandria."

On the basis of Sands' statement a warrant, charging bigamy, was issued for Mrs. Sands or Mrs. Wenger, and sent to the Baltimore police to be served.

WORMS CAUSE SUBWAY PANIC

NEW YORK, July 12.—(AP.)—Passengers in a subway car were thrown into a near-panic yesterday. Men and women pushed, yelped and screamed. The reason: 10,000 meal worms were on the loose.

Mrs. Billy Rose, who breeds the squirmy meal worms for rare birds in her pet shop, carried them on the train in a glass jar.

An unidentified woman, pushing through the crowded car, knocked the jar from Mrs. Rose's arm. The glass broke and soon 10,000 worms were seeking a new abode—crawling on arms, necks and faces of the passengers.

Mrs. Rose gathered up as many of the worms as she could find, but most of them were carried off by the excited passengers who rushed from the car at the next station.

LOS ANGELES, July 12.—(AP.)—Mrs. Marah Ellis Ryan, 68, writer and authority on Indians, died yesterday at her home from encephalitis (sleeping sickness).

Mrs. Ryan was born in Butler County, Pa., and wrote under the pen name of Ellis Ryan. She went to live among the Hopi Indians 25 years ago and claimed to be the only white woman ever admitted to the secret religious rites.

'PARTY' KILLING ALIBI ASSAILED

SAN FRANCISCO, July 12.—(AP.)—A milkman's watch became an important factor today in the state's efforts to check the time element in the murder trial of Millard Hickman, charged with slaying Miss Louise Jeppesen, of Ogden, Utah.

George Niebarger, a milk company employe, testified that as he was passing Golden Gate Park the morning of the murder he heard screams which he described as "loud and shrill, with a muffle in between." The milkman, who said he thought at first the screams were made by "joy riders," looked at his watch and it was 4:02 a. m.

The state contends Hickman, 45-year-old marine engineer, took Miss Jeppesen to the park after a Saturday night party, attacked her and then strangled her with her own belt.

MRS. ROOSEVELT HIDES PLANS

SACRAMENTO, Cal., July 12.—(AP.)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt found the privacy she desired in California today shortly after she arrived by airplane from Chicago.

Slipping away from newsmen and admirers whom she left standing in a hotel lobby, she drove away in an automobile accompanied only by Miss Lorena A. Hickok, a former traveling companion now in the government service.

Whether she was bound for a Nevada reunion with her daughter, Mrs. Anna Roosevelt Dall, or had already been joined by her and was on a leisurely drive down Sacramento valley was her secret.

Arriving here at 6:35 a. m. she was met by Miss Hickok, drove to the hotel and walked through the lobby. While their followers waited for them to return, the pair stepped out another exit and into a waiting automobile, said to be Mrs. Dall's.

Child Chained To Wall; Father Exposed by Girl

AKRON, O., July 12.—(AP.)—A 14-year-old girl wept out a story yesterday which led police to arrest her father for allegedly tying his son, Arthur, 8, with a chain, and keeping him prisoner in his home for a month.

Officers arrested the father, Daniel Thomas, who said:

"Arthur has been a bad boy and the authorities told me to keep him tied up."

A heavy 20-foot chain was tied around the boy's waist and anchored to a screw driven into the floor when the officers arrived.

The youngster was taken to the county detention home with his sister while John H. Todd, county humane officer, considered filing cruelty charges against their father. Thomas was booked by police on a suspicious person charge.

Five other children were in the Thomas home when neighbors called police and listened to the girl, Emma, tell of the alleged cruelties. She recited a story of severe beatings at the hands of her father.

Raymond Arnold and O. P. Smith, officers, released the boy and then, they related, heard cries from an upstairs room. Investigating, they said, they found Thomas whipping Emma.

He was making ready for the longest run of his vacation cruise, out across the Pacific to Hawaii.

The President said he had signed only about half a dozen official papers since leaving the capital and was giving most of his time to inspection and relaxation.

Asked about a report that Gen. Hugh Johnson was recommending that a commission take over the work of the NRA, he said he expected Johnson to continue with the NRA after returning from a vacation trip to visit his mother in Colorado.

Weather Conditions

The weather is decidedly unsettled this morning over the country as a result of the many centers of low pressure. There is a high over the North Atlantic; a low over the South Atlantic coast and centers of low pressure over the lower lakes, the upper lakes, the central plains, Alberta and Arizona. This condition is attended by much cloudiness, and a large area over which thunderstorms occurred. Temperature changes were unimportant except in the Dakotas where it is cooler than yesterday. The weather is moderate over the eastern states, cool over the Northwest, while over the southern plains the persistent heat will prevail. The highest temperature reported yesterday is 106 degrees at Concordia and Dodge City, Kan.

River Conditions

Generous to heavy rainfall over the Monongahela River basin is causing a slight rise in the river. The heaviest rainfall reported is 2.44 inches at Thomas, W. Va., on the Cheat River. Stage at Franklin is 1-10th foot below zero. Locks No. 7 (Mon.), 10.5; Pittsburgh, 9.8; Dam No. 4, 9.1; No. 6, 9.0; No. 10, 9.5, and No. 12, 9.8. The dams are up.

LINK PROMOTER IN SWINDLE

NEW YORK, July 12.—(AP)—A confidence swindler penned in Federal Court yesterday to William J. Graham, wealthy Nevada promoter, and charged him with being a man who took 15 per cent of the loot of an alleged international swindling ring.

The witness, Nagle John Moore, was the first actually to confront Graham with the alleged head, which is said to have mulcted 42 victims of more than a million dollars.

James C. McKay, cohort of Graham who also is charged with misuse of the mails, was not directly linked to the scheme by Moore.

Moore told the jury, however, that it was the general understanding among confidence men all over the United States and Canada that "McKay and Graham always get 15 per cent for fixing."

In four swindles, he testified, he personally handed over to Graham or a gambling club all the money kicked from the victims.

Graham held the money, Moore testified, until the victim was conveniently out of town and then returned it to the operators minus 15 per cent "for fixing."

River Boat Engineer Drowns at Elizabeth

Believed seized with cramps, James E. Arkard, 35, of Monongahela street, Hazelwood, drowned in the Monongahela River at the foot of the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation's marine ways at Elizabeth, last night, according to a Coroner's report. He was the engineer of the steamer Titan. His body was recovered by companions.

J. P. RIGBY DIES, CARTOONIST

Joseph P. Rigby, 65, ace of Pittsburgh's first cartoonists, died suddenly in his home at 1427 Marsh avenue, Swissvale, last night.

Joseph P. Rigby

Mr. Rigby, a member of the art staff of the Pittsburgh Press, worked late last night. Returning home apparently in good health, he ate a light supper, but a few minutes later complained of feeling ill. He died before a doctor could be called.

Before coming to Pittsburgh he worked on the New York World and the Brooklyn Eagle. He also worked on The Comet, a Pittsburgh magazine. His first comic strip was known as "The Burking Auto," which depicted the troubles of motorists in the early days. He collaborated with the late Elmer Rigdon on a column known as "Police Court Sketches."

He leaves his widow, Edith Cone Rigby, and two brothers, George Rigby, of Cleveland, and Lucian Rigby, of Youngstown.

RWD Musicians to Give Concert Tonight

The first of a series of four chamber music concerts by Relief Work Division musicians will be held in the auditorium of the Manchester Educational Center, 1522 Chateau street, at 7:45 tonight. Music for this first concert is furnished by a woodwind group and a soprano soloist.

Frank Buck Forces Food on Homesick, Starving Python

CHICAGO, July 12.—(AP)—Josie, the python, was and still is homesick.

That is why the reptile which is 20 feet long and weighed 350 pounds when captured a year ago in the Malay jungle, refused to eat, World's Fair attendants explained.

The hunger strike lasted from the time the snake was placed aboard a steamer at Singapore four months ago until yesterday when Frank Buck, the big game hunter, with the aid of 14 assistants, forced 40 pounds of raw beef down Josie's throat. Several of the feeders were bitten.

Josie is down to a mere 200 pounds now.

YOUTH AWAITS DEATH BY GAS

FLORENCE, Ariz., July 12.—(AP)—Resigned and professing no fear, 19-year-old George J. Shaugnessy, of Albany, N. Y., today awaited his death in Arizona's new lethal gas chamber.

At dawn tomorrow—Friday the Thirteenth—he will pay for the murder of Lon Blankenship, Tucson automobile dealer. His petition for a two-weeks stay of execution was refused yesterday by the Board of Pardons and Paroles.

He will be the third boy still in his teens to die in the gas chamber. The chamber was first used last Friday when Fred and Manuel Hernandez, 19 and 18, were executed for the murder of Charles P. Washburn, an aged prospector.

PA. POPULATION OVER 10 MILLION

HARRISBURG, July 12.—(AP)—Pennsylvania's population is on its way to the 11,000,000 mark, the State Chamber of Commerce reveals in astonishing calculations based on public school attendance.

C. W. Lewis, statistician for the chamber, said yesterday the population in 1932, on this basis, exceeded 10,000,000. He added:

"These estimates are only approximately true, but are sufficiently near the actual census figures for most practical purposes.

"The population growth does not always follow a constant even growth, but sometimes occurs in waves. Therefore the best accepted method for estimating population is on the basis of average daily attendance in public schools. When people move into the state they bring their children with them, and when they move out they take them along."

Duncan Sisters' Father Wins Tiff

LOS ANGELES, July 12.—(AP)—S. H. Duncan, father of Vivian and Rosetta Duncan, dancing sisters, was acquitted of a charge of battery upon his neighbor, Mrs. Bertha McLaughlin, in an argument over her dog. Judge A. A. Scott said:

"This case bears all the earmarks of a good old-fashioned family row and, at most, is interesting because it shows how some people can easily and innocently exaggerate."

GABLE LOSES TO SEA LION

SAN DIEGO, Cal., July 12.—(AP)—Clark Gable, screen actor, can talk about the "one that got away" and without danger.

Fishing off the Coronado Island with Garry Fleischman, Hollywood, a friend, Gable hooked a large barracuda. He had the fish within about 20 feet of the boat when, suddenly there was a swirl on the line and it reeled toward nearby rocky cliffs.

Gable never saw "the one that got away," but the bait tank attendant, from his more lofty perch, reported it was a large sea lion which had taken Gable's barracuda.

FATHER FACES JAIL FOR BABY

Roderick Francisco, Millvale avenue, must give his wife possession of his 3-year-old son, Wendell, at 6 p. m. Sunday or go to jail, Judge M. A. Monnacco so ruled late yesterday. Francisco's only reason for not bringing the boy into court on habeas corpus proceedings was:

"My parents would not give the child up to me."

The parents of Francisco live in Parkers Landing, Armstrong County. Francisco and his wife, Jeanne Francisco, of Pitcairn, separated last April. On May 13, Francisco went to the home of his wife's parents and said he wanted to take the child for an automobile ride. He took the youngster to Parkers Landing. Mrs. Francisco, through Attorney O. Rody Scheib, then sought the aid of the court.

When Francisco said his parents would not give up the boy, Judge Monnacco remarked:

"You will either give that child to its mother by next Sunday evening or go to Warden McNeil's hotel."

BANDITS SHOOT CARD PLAYER

MEADVILLE, Pa., July 12.—(AP.)—Amateur highwaymen last night attempted to hold up a card party at the Iroquois Club, Conneaut Lake, but were frightened away after having wounded a Meadville business man.

Dale Kirkpatrick, garage owner, was taken to Meadville city hospital with two bullet wounds in his leg.

The bandits, two of whom entered the clubhouse with masks covering their faces, broke into the room in which a party of five men were playing cards and commanded them to throw up their hands, at the same time firing two shots over their heads. Kirkpatrick, his back to the door, swung his fists at the intruders. One of them, members of the party told officers, fired two shots that took effect in Kirkpatrick's leg and then both robbers fled, joining a companion sitting in an automobile in the driveway a short distance from the building.

Man Charges Couple Doped, Robbed Him

Lured into an apartment in East Lacock street, Herbert Knee, of 509 East Lacock street, was "doped" and robbed of $40, he told police. He blamed Stanley Sheftick, 25, and his wife, Lillian, 25, both of 509 East Lacock street. Knee and the Shefticks were arrested and were to be given a hearing in Morals Court.

This week, about 400 checks had been returned, the depositors having moved from their old addresses. If they want their money, Brooks wishes they would please come and get it.

1,000 ATTEND STORE PICNIC

More than 1,000 Boggs and Buhl employes attended the store's annual picnic, held at West View Park. The store's Welfare Association, headed by A. K. Bettridge, president, sponsored the affair.

Following a picnic lunch, served in the pavilion, the group held a series of feature races, among them a "needle" race. The Boggs and Buhl mushball team defeated the Quaill mushball team. W. H. Newmyer was chairman of the picnic committee.

BAER'S STORY OF LIFE AND LOVES

Maxie 'Warms Up' Before Going Into Ring

MY LIFE AND LOVES
By MAX BAER
World Heavyweight Boxing Champion

CHAPTER XXII.

Here's some inside news, folks.

We "froze" Prime Carnera out of his title.

By "we" I mean my Board of Skullduggery and Deep and Brainy Thinking—plus the right hand swipe I sent whistling to Primo's whiskers in the first round.

Here's how that happened:

A couple of weeks before the fight, a sports editor, who was among my first boosters in the East, and who has been a friend of Ancil Hoffman and Mike Cantwell for many years, dropped in for a little visit at our small 95-room cottage at Asbury Park, and, while we were talking about this and that, he said:

"More knockdowns and knockouts are scored in the first round than in any other single round of a fight. That's because a fighter is brittle and he remains brittle until he is warmed up and gets to sweating.

"Football players, rushing off a bench for substitute duty, are more in danger of injury than the fellow who has been in there for 45 or 50 minutes. The latter's body, because of perspiration, has become rubbery and yields to shocks instead of cracking. Every baseball pitcher has to warm up his arm before he goes to work. Tennis players work out and get up a perspiration before they go into the real battle. And so it goes down the line—except in boxing.

'Warms Up' for Bout

"Almost all fighters go into the ring without doing any exercising. They have to sit around for a while, and, even if it's a warm night, they are in danger of getting stiff and brittle.

"Any fighter who worked a round or two in his dressing room just before he went into the ring, and got up a sweat, would have a huge advantage over the 'cold' fighter."

Well, that set my serious thinkers and careful planners to doing the natural thing—for them. They thought and they planned. They talked to Jack Dempsey and he said that the thing to do was to heat me up just before the time arrived to go into the ring.

When I was told to get ready to go from my dressing room, I immediately was put through some fast paces. In no time at all, I was warm throughout my body and the sweat was beginning to break. Then I put on my robe and went prancing along into the ring.

MAX BAER . . . FISTS THAT WON HIM THE CHAMPIONSHIP

Imagine my great surprise to see Carnera, the champion, already there. Imagine how much more surprised I was to learn that Primo had been parked there five minutes — maybe more! Yes, dear people, I was so greatly surprised, because it is not good for a big man to be sitting out in the starlight, with the danger of getting hit by drops of dew.

The Fight Is On!

"Now," said Ancil Hoffman, who is Poppa Brains himself, as time neared for the first round bell, "you are nice and warm. We all hope that dear Primo is the same. But maybe he isn't. The way for you to find out if he is brittle is to gallop in the first chance you get and singe his beard. Be liberal with him. Give him a good $2.50 singeing. Then step back fast or you may get crushed by a falling mountain range."

Somebody banged a bell and I walked out to see what I could do about getting myself a crown. The first thing I saw was a large fellow named Primo Carnera and he happened to be wearing just the kind of invisible golden headgear that I wanted. I guess he must have seen me looking at it and admiring it much too much, because he tried a couple of times to poke me on the nose for being an upstart or something.

We fiddled around a little, and all the time I was waiting for a swing at the chin. I jockeyed Primo into an opening, and then I let go.

Zingo! I cracked the target full and solid and Primo went down as if somebody had knocked his shoes from under him. It's just as well that Ancil Hoffman warned me to beware of falling bodies.

Primo got up. But he might just as well have stayed there. He never really recovered from that first punch. I had nailed him while he was cold—and brittle — and the paralyzing shock he received in the first round meant the end for him. He went the rest of the way on pure courage.

Missed Early Knockout

I'll always feel that I could have put him away in the opener if Referee Arthur Donovan hadn't been jumping around the ring in such a way that he interfered with my free movements, and halted me from keeping right on top of Carnera before Primo ever had a chance to recover somewhat from the first pile-driver right.

My brains department was almost stunned when we got into the ring and found Donovan there. We had asked the commission to bar two referees—Eddie Forbes, because he seemed too frail to handle big heavyweights, and Donovan, because he gave me a tongue-lashing all during my fight a year ago with Max Schmeling.

D. Walker Wear, one member of the commission, agreed with us that we were within our rights in objecting to Donovan. Had it been left to him, he would have ruled Donovan's name off the list of prospective referees. But Commissioner Bill Brown, who said I was an unfit bum (and perhaps hoped I'd prove it) and Commissioner John J. Phelan were opposed to letting any fighter "dictate" about referees, so Donovan's name was left on the list.

Criticizes Referee

It's what the smart set calls a coincidence that when the commission finally picked a referee it chose the very man whose presence in the ring was a mental hazard to me. The commission had a hatful of referees to choose from, any of which would have been suitable to me; yet Donovan was the final choice.

Whether he messed the job is for the public to determine.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

Industry Kings, Not Hindenburg, Back Von Papen

WASHINGTON, July 12.—The answer to the German riddle can be found where many answers to political problems are hidden—in the upper crust of business influence. You can get an insight into the whole situation by prying into the enigma of von Papen's retention as second man in the Nazi government.

Von Papen is not a Nazi and never was one. He is the only person in Germany who has had the courage to speak out openly against Hitler. But, when Mr. Hitler decided to wash his Nazi hands in blood, he did not dare to touch von Papen. Indeed, he did not even dare to demote von Papen.

Most people laugh this peculiar situation off by saying it is von Hindenberg who keeps von Papen's smirking countenance at Hitler's side. That is a logical surface explanation, but the roots go much deeper. Von Hindenberg is a tired old man awaiting death. He is much beloved, but only as a name. His influence is ebbing with his life.

There are others who make both Hitler and von Papen dance.

THYSSEN

The industrial Ruhr is controlled by two strong business groups. One is the Otto Wolff-Deutsche Bank group. It is liberal, Jewish, Catholic. The other is the Thyssen-Flick Volger group. It is Prussian, militaristic and nationalist.

It is no secret now that the Thyssen-Flick Volger group backed Hitler early in the game and got the upper hand over its business adversaries. Thyssen has been the angel of the Nazis since 1927. It was he who invited Hitler to Dusseldorff, headquarters of the steel men, in 1929, and introduced him to 300 leading industrialists. Again in 1932 he brought Hitler to the same place and presented him to 2,000 German industrialists as "our boy."

When election time came around, the Thyssen crowd contributed three million marks to the Hitler campaign. That is about all the money Hitler had.

PICKING

NRA insiders noted with what care Gen. Johnson picked the five men to stroke the Blue Eagle in his absence.

One is a friendly Army officer; the second, an Army officer and a Moline plow boy like Johnson; the third, a bank vice president; the fourth, a General Motors vice president, and, the fifth, a labor leader.

This quintet will folow the Johnsonian policies, only with less noise. Their economic pedigrees follow:

COL. LEA—In charge of purchase, storage and traffic for the general staff during the war; later with Moline Implement Company, and then with Lea Fabrics, Inc.

LIEUT. COL. LYNCH—General staff of the Army, West Point class of 1903.

A. R. GLANGY—Formerly president Oakland Motors and later vice president of General Motors.

GEORGE BUCKLEY — Newspaper and magazine publisher; vice president of City Bank, Farmers Trust Company, New York City.

GEORGE BERRY—President, International Pressmen's Union; major of engineers in AEF; one of founders of American Legion.

NOTES

Among those who lent a quiet, helping hand to make Joseph Kennedy chairman of the new Securities Commission were: Postmaster General Farley, Bernard Baruch and Herbert Bayard Swope. . .The new federal stamps on hunting licenses were drawn by the famous cartoonist, Ding, who is serving in the wild life (mostly game preservation) end of the New Deal . . . An ex-Army officer and song writer walked into Senator Reed's office the other day with a new line of bon mots against the New Deal, the first one being: "A code sandwich: philosophic air between two professors."

MOVIES YIELD TO CLEANUP DEMANDS

International News Service.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., July 12.—The czars of the motion picture world today had made their promised move to clean up the films being shown in the 16,800 theaters of the United States.

The move, which was announced after a conference between the leading film executives and Will H. Hays, head man of the Association of Picture Producers, Inc., it was revealed, may cost the producers a maximum of $10,000,000.

It also marks the first break in the heretofore ironclad block-booking rule of the producers, in that it will permit theater owners to omit from exhibition any film released prior to July 15 against which there is a genuine moral protest.

At the same time the producers, after a long, closely guarded conference with Hays, announced that changes had been made in the production code of the industry.

Under the new arrangement the board of directors of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America assumes final responsibility for the character of the pictures produced.

Joseph I. Breen, assistant to Hays, will be vested with wide powers in designating what is moral and what is immoral in the pictures which Hollywood will produce in the future.

There will be no appeal to a jury of producers as at first planned, the only appeal from the decisions of Breen being to the directors of the producers and distributors.

It also was announced that no company will distribute or exhibit any picture which has not been approved by the code administration.

In commenting on the new plan Hays said:

"It is recognized that the solution of the problem of the right kind of screen entertainment rests solely with the quality of the product and these strengthening arrangements are directed to discharging that responsibility more effectively."

All of the major companies have agreed to the plan including Columbia Pictures Corporation; Cecil B. DeMille Productions, Inc.; Walt Disney Products, Inc., Education Studios, Inc.; First National Pictures, Inc.; Fox Film Corporation; Samuel Goldwyn, Ltd.; Inspiration Pictures, Inc.; Jesse L. Lasky Productions, Metro - Goldwyn - Mayer, Inc.; Paramount Productions, Inc.; Pathe Exchange, Inc.; Principal Pictures Corporations; Reliance Pictures Corporations; RCA Photophone, Inc.; Hal Roach Studios, Inc.; Charles R. Rogers, Inc.; Twentieth Century Pictures, Inc.; Universal Pictures Corporation; Warner Brothers Pictures, Inc.; United Artists Corporation and others.

Thus the film world answered the demands which have swept the nation in the last few weeks for a higher moral grade of picture.

The July 15 date was set, it was explained, because on that time the one-man censorship of Breen becomes effective.

It was estimated today that at least 1,000 pictures will come under the plan which will permit theater owners to discard objectionable films. These 1,000 feature pictures represent, it was said, almost the entire output of the film colony for the 1932-33 period.

JAIL THOMPSON IN STOCK FRAUD

Pleading guilty, Alexander I. Thompson, 46, former official of the Atlantic Drug and Chemical Company, was sentenced to two years in jail by Judge M. A. Musmanno today on three charges connecting him with an alleged $250,000 swindle in sales of the drug company stock.

The alleged swindle took place in 1930, following which Thompson disappeared. He returned two weeks ago and surrendered.

State and federal authorities still are seeking Henry Bass, president of the company, and a number of others, David Hanlon, a secretary of the company, and John Ritchie, a salesman, have served terms.

J. W. Connolly, investigator for the State Securities Bureau, told the court this company purported to own a nationally advertised drug line. It sold stock through an elaborate suite of offices in the Law and Finance Building.

Indictments in Federal Court charging the use of the mails to defraud still are pending against officers of the company.

Must Give Up His Dog

BLIND HENRY ALTENHOF AND THE DOG HE CAN'T AFFORD

Blind Man, Broke, Faces Loss of 'Eyes'--His Dog

'Elsie's' Food Costs $1 a Week, Pair Lives on $3

By SALLY DIGBY

Because he can't buy it food, J. Fred Altenhof, a blind man, of 1460 Park boulevard, apparently must give up his German shepherd dog, Elsie V. Adlerberg, who has been his "eyes" for four years.

Altenhof is broke and has been unemployed for some time. He and his wife, Sara, receive but $3 relief each week, and it takes $1 of that to feed the dog.

If the Altenhofs feed their dog they must starve themselves—and without Elsie, Altenhof is helpless.

A few days ago Altenhof took Elsie to Humane Society officials and asked them to do away with his pet guide. The officials, looking at the healthy dog, refused.

After being refused one of the "seeing eye" dogs, because he is lame, Altenhof bought Elsie as a puppy and trained her to lead him.

France to Study U. S. Film Imports

PARIS, July 12.—(INS.)—A "cinema committee" to study the situation with regard to the importation and exhibition in France of American films will be formed by the government, it was announced in an official communique today.

SLOVAK PRIESTS BACK CLEANUP OF MOVIES

Sixty-one Roman Catholic priests and representatives of more than 100,000 Slovaks enthusiastically indorsed an "unclean movie boycott" pledge, which will be sent to Bishop Hugh C. Boyle's committee on motion pictures today.

The pledge was broadcast to some 1,000 gathered in Kennywood Park for the eleventh annual Slovak Day yesterday. It read in part:

"The action taken against all indecent, immoral and salacious moving pictures is and shall be enthusiastically upheld by us all, and we solemnly pledge ourselves not to attend any house of cinema entertainment where pictures which do not conform to reasonable moral standards are exhibited.

"Furthermore, we pledge ourselves to use our best influence that no friends and acquaintances of ours at any time view pictures not of reasonable moral standards."

Rain did not dampen the ardor of the crowds gathered about the park loudspeakers as the Rev. K. J. Hrtanek, chairman of the Slovak Day arrangements read the pledge. Cheers and handclapping greeted the message.

It will be signed and sent to Bishop Boyle today by the Rev. M. J. Yesko, the Rev. Michael B. Fialko and the Rev. Josef C. Bohacek, officers of the First Catholic Slovak Union.

Among the leaders of the union attending the celebration in Kennywood Park were Dr. Peter Hletko, of Chicago; Adam Podkrivacky, president of the union, also of Chicago; Mrs. Mary Grega, secretary, and Joseph Husek, editor of "Svornast."

LUTHERANS JOIN FIGHT ON FILMS

CHICAGO, July 12.—(AP.)—Adding the power of 3,500 churches to the rising tide of opposition to indecent motion pictures, the Associated Lutheran Charities at their annual convention today considered a resolution condemning films which "offend against common decency and ethical principles of the Christian religion."

Delegates said the resolution, which was submitted by the Rev. H. F. Wind, superintendent of the Buffalo Children's Friend Hospic Society, was certain of passage.

It called on all member agencies of the association, which represents 92 Lutheran institutions in the synodical conference, and all individual workers within the agencies, to join their efforts with those of "like minded men and women" in all movements designed to abolish "this evil."

Princess' Award In Rasputin Film Suit Appealed

LONDON, July 12.—(AP.)—The famous Rasputin film libel case was reopened today with the argument of an appeal by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Pictures, Ltd. against an award of £25,000—$125,000—in trial court to Princess Irina Alexandrovna Youssoupoff.

Princess Youssoupoff alleged she had been libeled by the film, "Rasputin and the Princess," because the character, "Princess Natasha," shown in the picture as Rasputin's love, might be taken as a portrayal of herself. There were many points of similarity between the film and her own life, she claimed.

Her husband, Prince Youssoupoff, testified during the trial that he killed Russia's "Mad Monk."

Attorneys for the film company denied Princess Youssoupoff was represented by "Natasha," who was said to be a purely fictitious character.

HAYS' MOVIE PLAN FLAYED

BOSTON, July 12.—(AP.)—New England Catholic and Protestant leaders had joined today in attacking the latest efforts of Will H. Hays, supreme arbiter of the motion picture industry, to bring peace between producers and crusaders for "decent" films.

A statement issued by Joseph M. Kirby, state director of the Knights of Columbus central committee on motion pictures, flayed Hays' proposal that exhibitors be granted the right to omit showing any "indecent or obscene motion picture without obligation for its rental" as a "timid step forward" and declared it was "not a solution which strikes at the heart of the problem."

The Knights of Columbus official asserted that every Catholic family in the Boston Archdiocese would be urged to boycott for a month or more any producer who released a film in any way objectionable if the film industry had not undergone a satisfactory "house-cleaning" by July 31.

The Catholic organization's offensive received the full and unqualified support of Bishop Henry of the Episcopal Church in New England, and of "Zion's Herald," Kirby Sherrill, one of the leaders Methodist Church weekly.

Clean Films Crusade 'Greatest Crisis' for Hollywood, Says Expert

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
Motion Picture Editor, Universal Service.

HOLLYWOOD, July 12.—Hollywood faces its gravest and greatest crisis in the war declared upon its films by the churches, by the women's clubs and by the Purity League, numbering 4,000,000 members. Will Hollywood meet this issue which hits not only the pocketbooks of the producers, but the plans for the 1934-35 product? Those most affected, the producers, are trying to meet it in the hopes that a compromise can be effected and that theaters will not continue to stand empty.

A few exceptions, "Cavalcade," "Little Women," "Lady for a Day," "House of Rothschild" and others of this character prove that it is possible to make clean pictures and still take in money at the box offices. Yet, generally speaking, it was, unfortunately, the offending films that were the most profitable.

The danger in strict censorship lies in too strict supervision. Certainly, it will be impossible for our producers to completely ignore phases of life which certainly are not suitable for a child to see.

PINK TICKET SUGGESTED

One of our prominent producers suggests that a pink ticket should be issued with each picture that contains anything not meant for childish eyes. He says that England used this method successfully and that there was never any protest.

I doubt very much if the churches would have interfered with motion pictures if producers had not glorified the girl who seeks the easiest way. I doubt if we would have had trouble if gangsters had not been made heroes and if illegal love had not been made so alluring.

We like to feel these people who do wrong are punished. We like our children to be taught from the beginning that crime does not pay. We want them to feel the men and women who break the laws of society are not heroes and heroines, but people who should be properly punished for their wrongdoing.

ERRORS REALIZED

The producers now see the mistakes they have made. You cannot talk to one of them without having him agree that the screen should be cleaned up. The real question is to what extent. We must have pictures that will be interesting to the adult as well as to the child.

Will Hays, despite much that has been said, has really given as good services as has been humanly possible under the old system. Before this new regime his pleas could be overridden by a committee of three producers. Today such a coalition will not be possible.

Joseph Breen, the one-man censor, appointed from the Will Hays office, will say whether a picture is fit to be released for circulation or not, and I do not think I am exaggerating when I say his word will be law with these thoroughly frightened motion picture magnates who are eager to cooperate.

EXPECTS TOLERANCE

It would be a pity if this vast industry, the fifth largest in America and some say the fourth, were allowed to suffer permanently. Other people in the world have made mistakes and rectified them. Certainly, the churches, who teach us tolerance, patience and forgiveness, will be the first to come forward when the producers clean house and a new deal is declared.

Louis B. Mayer, Adolph Zukor, Jack Warner, Irving Thalberg, Winfield Sheehan, Harry Cohn, Carl Laemmle, who represent the big names in the picture business, have all signified their desire to follow the censorship decreed by the churches.

They do, however, fear federal censorship which looms menacingly on the horizon. Such a censorship would be fatal because it's so often placed in the hands of incompetents who are unqualified to pass judgment.

W. HOMESTEAD TAX ARGUED

Judge Samuel R. Gardner after hearing testimony yesterday on mandamus proceedings instituted to compel the Council of West Homestead to pass an ordinance fixing the borough millage, adjourned the case until next Wednesday and advised Council to meet in the meantime and try and pass the ordinance.

District Attorney Andrew T. Park brought the mandamus action against Burgess Richard A. Lawry and three minority members of Council to compel them to meet with the majority members and decide on the tax millage.

Refrigerator Firm Plans Summer Drive

Plans for an extensive summer advertising and selling campaign to be launched July 16 by Frigidaire dealers here were announced today by Al Hattenbach, president of the Suburban Electric Development Company. The plans were revealed at a meeting of the company's supervisors and salesmen in the Hotel Schenley.

Men in Auto Smash Window With Bottle

Ben Berger, of 811 Peralta street, reported to North Side police early today that three men in an automobile threw a milk bottle through the window of his home. It was the second such attack within three weeks, Berger said. He was unable to explain the attacks.

Battle of Boyne Marked in Ireland

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, July 12.—(AP.)—Tens of thousands of marching feet tramped today over Ulster, down to the Free State border, in celebration of the anniversary of the Battle of Boyne, an event dear to the hearts of Orangemen.

Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, of Great Britain, was a distinguished observer. Celebration of the Battle of Boyne has been an Ulster event for hundreds of years, marking the battle between the armies of King William III and King James II, in 1690.

Friends: Taxidermist, Dog, Hawk

WALTER BREHM, HIS DOG "RAMONA" AND THE WILD YOUNG HAWK THAT SHE'S 'ADOPTED'

ST. BERNARD DOG ADOPTS YOUNG HAWK

Though the kindness of St. Bernard dogs is a by-word, it remained for "Ramona," a 3-year-old dog of that breed, owned by Walter Brehm, 22, of 5346 Beeler street, Squirrel Hill, to top the list by "adopting" a young wild hawk.

And the hawk, though it eats raw meat, returns the affection of the dog by not molesting it.

Brehm, a taxidermist at Carnegie Museum, today said he took a young Cooper's hawk from its nest about four weeks ago and brought it home, putting it in the cellar where the St. Bernard sleeps.

The natural gesture of "Ramona" at the intrusion of this stranger into her boudoir, would be to gobble up the hawk, Brehm said. Instead, the dog treats the bird with affection, and will allow it to hop over her shaggy back.

Besides raw meat, the hawk is fed cod liver oil and calcium phosphate.

James H. Rose yesterday was sworn in as burgess of Braddock by Justice of the Peace A. M. Patlak, of that borough. He was declared entitled to votes cast for "James Rose" on tickets other than the Republican on which his name appeared as "Jabbo H. Rose."

Make 'Em Scanty, Sally Tells Costumers

CHICAGO, July 12.—(AP.)—Sally Rand never gives the customers much business, so she gets them some advice instead.

Addressing the National Costumers' Association yesterday, she suggested they try adding carnations and colored lights, since that's about all there is to costumes anyway. She said:

"Costumes are all right in their place, but they shouldn't be in too many places."

Even the costumers cheered.

Institute Plans Three Recitals

NEED OF CHURCH TOLD TO C. E.

HERSHEY, Pa., July 12.—(AP.)—America's need is "more religion in home, in street, in office," Judge Harold B. Wells of the New Jersey Court of Errors and Appeals told the Pennsylvania Christian Endeavor Union last night, He asserted:

"Daniel Webster was not a goody-goody, but he said 'My sense of accountability to God is the greatest thought that ever came to me.' Even the cynical George Bernard Shaw said civilization needs religion as a matter of life and death."

Judge Wells said the "world now is crying for a helping hand," and urged his hearers to "reach into the pile of happiness which you have and give it to the world."

MAKES 'BLOOD' IN LABORATORY

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 12.—(AP.)—Dr. O. W. Hyman, dean of the University of Tennessee's College of Medicine here, announced today that Dr. W. B. Anderson, head of the Department of Physiology, has been working for three years in an effort to perfect "artificial blood."

During the past few months, Dr. Hyman said, progress has been rapid, and a rat, whose veins were entirely filled with "artificial blood," lived for 36 hours before it died.

Formed from an iron and a salts solution, the new fluid, if perfected, may do away with blood transfusions. It is emphasized, however, that the investigation is in the most experimental of stages.

$150,000 FIRE SWEEPS PLANT

GREENVILLE, Pa., July 10.—AP.)—Approximately 400 men are jobless as the result of a $150,000 fire which swept the plant of the Greenville Steel Car Company.

Plant officials said the work of rehabilitation probably will require several months. Frank L. Fay, president, interrupted plans of a European vacation to assist in the work.

An explosion of undetermined origin preceded the fire last night. It occurred in the paint shop, where 25 men were at work. All escaped safely, together with 190 men at work in other parts of the plant.

Two dwellings adjoining the plant, ignited by sparks, were destroyed. Families in the dwellings escaped safely.

The plant had been operating full time for several days, since receiving an order for 750 cars from the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Farmers to View Damaging Pests

Allegheny County farmers will soon get a chance to take a close-up look at a variety of the insect pests that annually destroy fruit and vegetable crops. More than 150 specimens of preserved insects have been ordered for the exhibit in the Allegheny County Agricultural rooms in the Court House. The collection is valued at $296.45.

SUN-TELEGRAPH HOST AT FAIR IN CHICAGO

Nearly 500 men and women, boys and girls of the metropolitan Pittsburgh area are at the World's Fair in Chicago today as guests of the Sun-Telegraph. They left Pittsburgh last night at 8:30 o'clock on a special Sun-Telegraph 14-car train over the P. & L. E. Railroad, arriving at Chicago at 7:00 o'clock this morning.

The party numbered 452, not including 21 Sun-Telegraph representatives and three registered nurses detailed to look after their comfort and entertainment.

The men and boys are quartered at the Y. M. C. A. hotel and the women and girls at the Hotel Lexington, both within easy walking distance of the Fair. In groups, each accompanied by a Sun-Telegraph representative, they will see the wonders of the Fair today and tomorrow, leaving Chicago tomorrow night and arriving home Saturday morning at 8:40 (Daylight Time) over the same railroad.

These Fair visitors earned their trips to A Century of Progress Exposition by obtaining subscriptions for the Sun-Telegraph. The greater number are from Pittsburgh and the immediate surrounding towns and cities.

This is the first group to go to Chicago as guests of the Sun-Telegraph. Another party will leave Pittsburgh for a similar trip next Wednesday night.

Within a few days the dates will be announced for the New York City and Atlantic City tours sponsored by the Sun-Telegraph. Scores of Pittsburghers are already booked for each of these all-expense-paid trips, earned on the same plan as the World's Fair tours.

HUNT DILLINGER IN CALIFORNIA

LOS ANGELES, July 12.—(AP.)—The trail of desperado John Dillinger was sought in the Pacific Southwest today.

Los Angeles Department of Justice agents notified Arizona officers to look for a small sedan bearing a Minnesota license in which it was believed Dillinger might be a passenger.

In Oceanside, Cal., police checked the movements of two men and a woman arrested there on information from Sacramento police, to see whether they might be Dillinger associates. One of the men had 160 one hundred dollar bills and the other man and woman an additional $500, but no firearms were found in their automobile.

They said they were J. (Jimmy) Payne and wife, Helen, of Hutchinson, Kas., and P. J. Bell of Texas.

PLANES TO JOIN BALLOON TRIP

RAPID CITY, S. D., July 12.—(AP.)—The camera eye will be utilized to portray the greatest stratosphere flight ever undertaken by man.

Two airplanes will follow the largest balloon ever built during early stages of the flight, sponsored by the National Geographic Society and Army Air Corps, to record the progress and landing of the craft, now awaiting favorable weather conditions for a take-off from Moonlight Valley near here.

Unfavorable conditions, Maj. Kepner announced last night were in prospect today, which would delay the impending flight until Saturday at the earliest date.

One plane will be ordered to follow the stratosphere craft up above 25,000 feet to take pictures of various stages of the flight. Progress of the balloon, which will hold three million cubic feet of hydrogen gas, will be followed by another airplane. The second airplane, also carrying photographic instruments, will attempt to follow the balloon to its landing and aid in its return to earth.

TAMMANY DUE TO PICK CHIEF

NEW YORK, July 12.—(AP.)—James J. Dooling, choice of the national Democratic party organization, became the heavy favorite today for the leadership of Tammany Hall and the post vacated by John F. Curry.

Dooling's election at next Monday's meeting of the Hall's executive committee was made a virtual certainty by the withdrawal from the leadership race by Edward J. Ahearn and announcement of his support for Dooling.

Ahearn's withdrawal leaves only Dooling and Stephen A. Ruddy in the race. The former's strength was not likely to be diminished before election time, but principally to the strength of the Ahearn bloc of votes.

It was Dooling who largely engineered the recent rebellion that forced Curry out as leader.

Alligator's Act Too Real' ic For Showman

JACKSON, Tenn., July 12.—(AP.)—Bob Barron, an animal trainer for a traveling show exhibiting here, was in a hospital today because either he or an alligator became too enthusiastic about their act.

As scheduled, Barron placed his head in the alligator's mouth during the performance last night. The alligator bit down. That was not scheduled.

RUM PRICE CUT HELD UNLIKELY

NEW YORK, July 12.—(AP.)—Regardless of unlimited importations of liquor, Americans will continue to pay existing prices for their drinks unless taxes are lowered.

This was the concensus today of several large liquor distilling companies following the announcement of the Federal Alcohol Control Administration that unlimited amounts of liquor could be brought into this country for two months, beginning September 1.

The announced purpose of the move was to "combat bootlegging and bring down domestic prices."

The distillers said, however, unlimited importations have been allowed for about three months now, prices not been appreciably lowered, and the bootlegger still is getting along pretty well.

An officials of one of the largest distilleries of domestic whiskies said prices would come down, "if taxes were reduced and if folks would drink more whisky." He added:

"Whisky consumption is not so great as we had expected."

Defer Zone Cab Hearings to Sept. 12

No further hearings on the application of the Zone Cab Corporation to operate cabs in Pittsburgh will be held by the Public Service Commission until September 12, it was learned from Harrisburg. The company seeks to place 300 cabs on Pittsburgh streets, pledging lower fares and employment to 1,866 Pittsburghers.

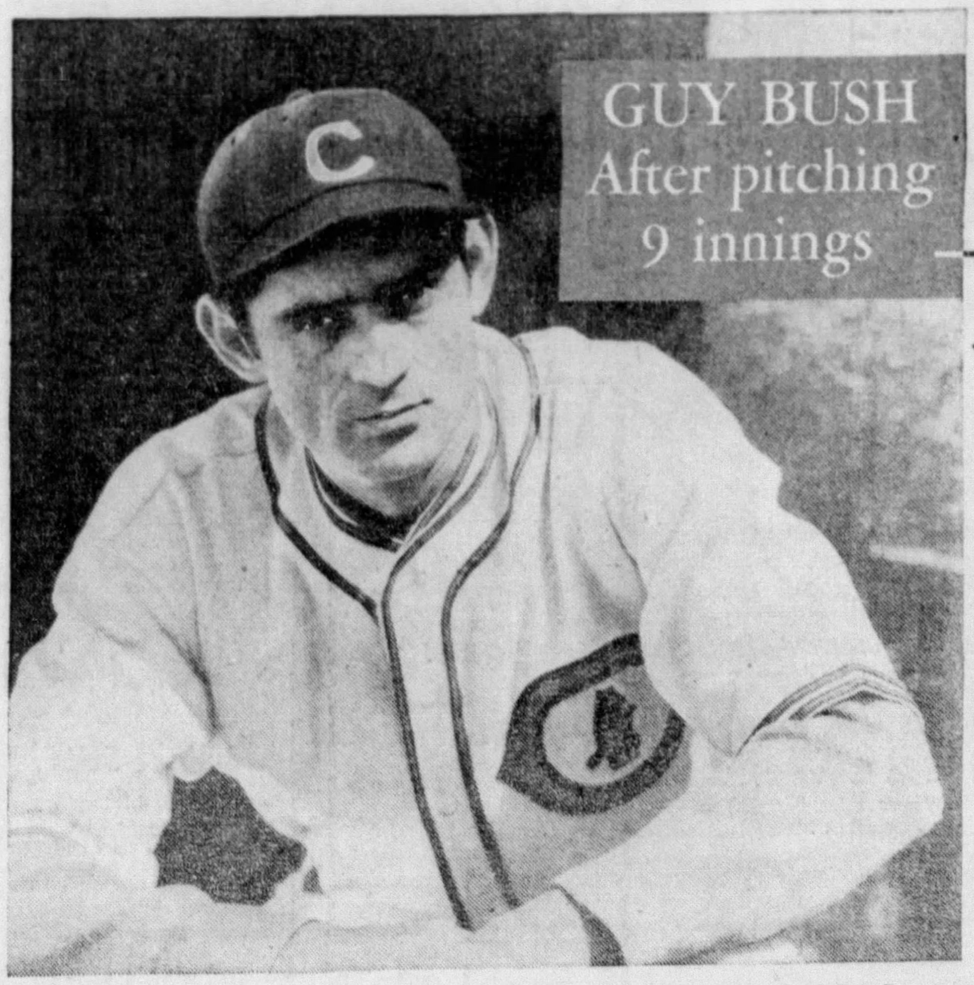
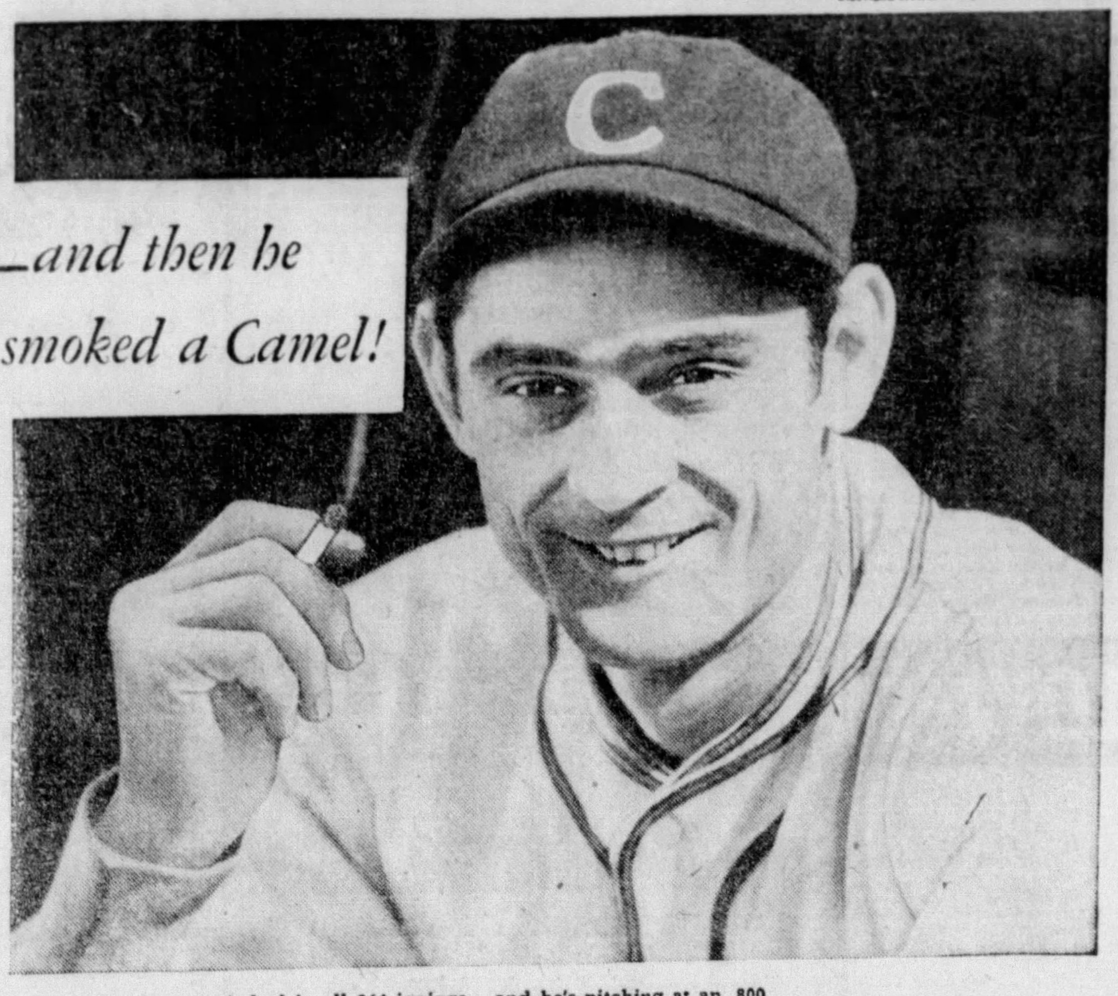
GUY BUSH
After pitching 9 innings
—and then he smoked a Camel!





MEET GUY BUSH... star pitcher for the Chicago Cubs! Guy won 20 games last year... pitched in all 264 innings... and he's pitching at an .800 clip this year. Like many athletes, Guy has found that at the end of a gruelling match, nothing brings back his energy and vitality like a Camel.

YOU TOO can increase Vim and Energy...quickly!

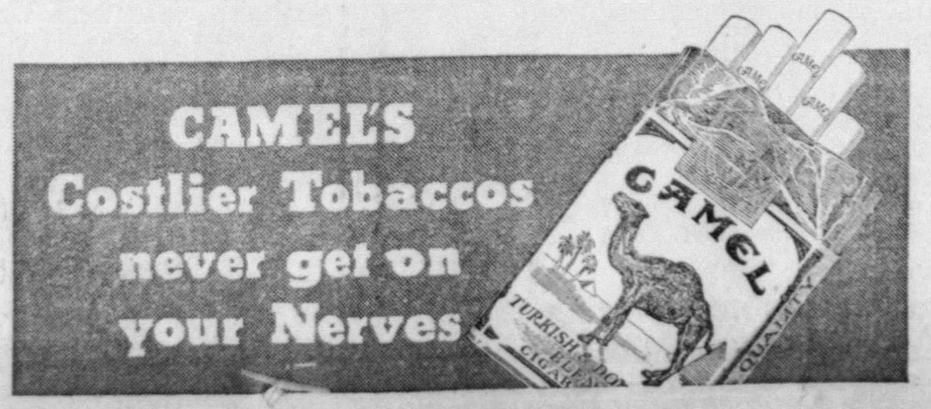
When you feel "used up"—smoke a Camel! Fatigue and irritability fade away. Your flow of natural energy snaps back to a higher level in a few minutes.

This experience is well known to millions of Camel smokers. It has been confirmed by a famous New York research laboratory. Take for example Guy Bush. There's a lesson in what Guy has to say about the "energizing effect" in Camels:

"Bases full, one out, and a strike. I'm watching the bases and the batter, too. Now I've got to pitch. The pitch—and it's two strikes! Will he strike out? You think so...and yet you can't tell. Baseball is full of tough spots that take it out of a pitcher who works his regular turn and stands up to the grind for seven long months.

"Like most of the big-league pitchers, I smoke Camels. And when I come out of a game after nine hard innings there's nothing that lifts up my energy the way a Camel does. I feel freshened up in no time at all. I smoke a lot. Camels never interfere with my nerves!"

Learn to "get a lift with a Camel" whenever your energy runs low. Smoke as constantly as you like. The finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS in Camels never upset the nerves.



● Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS —Turkish and Domestic—than any other popular brand.

"Get a LIFT with a Camel!"

AIRLINE CUTS SERVICE HERE IN DISPUTE

County Commissioner C. C. McGovern's assertion that an air line's threat to by-pass Pittsburgh, making the county airport a flagstop on the nation's air map, was just a bluff was answered today the revelation that Transcontinental and Western Air has already laid plans to skip the city on two flights between New York and Chicago.

The revelation was made by Leslie P. Arnold, assistant to the president, of TWA, in a statement in which he urged Commissioner McGovern "to become better advised as to facts before making erroneous statements."

CHARGES HIGH HERE

Arnold also revealed that airport charges here are 258 per cent higher than for any other municipally-owned airport in the country. In answer to McGovern's charge that TWA is one of the companies which "swept over the country gobbling up airports," Arnold had this to say:

"We are surprised that Mr. McGovern should accuse TWA of attempting to 'create a monopoly with a thought of gaining complete possession of the county airport at the expense of the taxpayers.'

"No such thought is in our minds and the only thing we ask is the right to use the county airport in common with others at rates within reason. It is noticed that Mr. McGovern makes no mention of the basic complaint in my letter to the effect that when business increases 50 per cent the airport charges increase over 100 per cent.

"When the taxpayers voted the bonds to build the airport they did so for the purpose of providing the Pittsburgh district with fast and frequent airplane service to other business centers. Surely McGovern must realize that any action by him that does not work toward that end is a direct disregard of the taxpayers whose money built the airport."

RATES CUT ELSEWHERE

Arnold declared the rate schedule now in force was evolved in 1928 and 1929 when everything was high-priced. Every airport in the country, Arnold said, has reduced rates, the last one being Indianapolis, which cut its rates 40 per cent.

McGovern, replying to Arnold's letter yesterday, said:

"We can't be bothered with all this stuff. That's why we have department directors. If the company feels they have a just complaint in the event Director A. M. Marion doesn't bring the matter up to us—well, it can appeal, and we'll be the supreme court."

Arnold said he had made repeated efforts to discuss the matter with Marion, but with no success. He said he would welcome an appeal to an impartial committee of businessmen and taxpayers, but that McGovern appeared to be prejudiced.

Saved From Bathroom

TOMMY, 3 — JOSEPH, JR., 1½

THE BROTHERS GALUSKA . . . FOUND LOCK STUBBORN

DELAY INQUIRY OF AIR OFFICER

The court of inquiry for Lieut. Corley McDarment, commandant at Rodgers Field, has been postponed from tomorrow until July 20, according to word received here from 99th Division headquarters at Baltimore.

The hearing was originally set for Friday, the thirteenth, on the request of Lieut. McDarment himself. He gave no other reason for his strange request other than he thought it would be "lucky."

Lieut. McDarment is being haled before the board of inquiry presumably because of public utterances here in criticism of army air equipment, which was being used to carry the mail last winter. The specific charges have been raked up from 10 years ago when his record was marked "inefficiency and lack of tact," a formal phrase used by a superior officer to whom an application was made for transfer.

The board will determine whether or not Lieut. McDarment should be discharged from the service because of this record, which, friends of the officer declare, has nothing whatever to do with his record here nor his ability generally. A group of local air officers will appear before the board in Lieut. McDarment's behalf.

'Alaskan Gold Rush Veteran Dies at 74

DENVER, July 12.—(INS.)—Volney T. Hoggatt, 74, Denver newspaperman, lawyer, founder of the "Ornery and Worthless Men's Club," and a veteran of the Alaska gold rush, died in a hospital early today of a heart ailment. Hoggatt was for many years closely associated with the late F. G. Bonfils, Denver newspaper publisher.

2 BOYS 'SAVED' BY FIREMEN

Three-year-old Tommy and 18-month-old Joseph Galuska, Jr., promised their mother today not to twist that stubborn bolt in the bathroom door again.

Their mother, Mrs. Joseph Galuska, had started to set the table for lunch in their third floor home at 114 Hemlock street, North Side, yesterday, when she heard the boys crying.

Tommy, she found, had bolted the bathroom door. And the bolt wouldn't turn back.

Rather than break down the door, she called the fire department with the news. Firemen from No. 50 engine company, Lafayette avenue, responded.

In an amazingly quick time, they hung perilously from the third floor porch to pry open the bathroom window, climbed in, and opened the door.

Her boys "home" again for a happy "reunion," the mother said:

"It was an exciting time but everything is all right now."

Langer Ouster Aired Third Time in Court

BISMARCK, N. D., July 12.—(AP.)—Ouster proceedings against Gov. William Langer, convicted of a felony, came before the State Supreme Court for the third time today.

Questions of law, involving the right of the Governor to continue in office, are to be argued in an action brought by Lieut. Gov. Ole H. Olson, who claims the governorship. In two previous actions, the Supreme Court declined to take jurisdiction.

200 Known Dead In Japanese Floods

TOKIO, July 12.—(INS.)—Two hundred persons have been drowned and 500 are missing as a result of disastrous floods that have swept three prefectures in Northwestern Japan, according to police estimates today.

Thirty-two villages have been wholly or partly destroyed and 19,000 houses have been inundated.

MOYER AT WAR ON RAGWEED

Health Director Ray P. Moyer replied to a request from the Allegheny County Medical Society for a weed-cuting campaign by stating that already he has one in progress.

For more than a month, Dr. Moyer stated, the Bureau of Sanitation in the Health Department has been receiving complaints and turning them over to the Public Works department for action.

In his answer to the appeal of the Medical Society, Dr. Moyer wrote:

"The Department of Health will continue to wage war on ragweed with the hope that with the elimination of this noxious hay fever stimulant, many sufferers will be relieved."

An ordinance of Council provides that the city may give property owners five days notice and then cut weeds at their expense if they fail to remove them.

Globe Trotter

Hello Ladies and Gentlemen.

Tommy Robinson, Jr., celebrated his 8th birthday yesterday but it wasn't as happy a birthday as it could have been. His puppy pal, Wimpy, was killed the day before under the wheels of an automobile.

Cheer up, Tommy. A Globe Trotter, Mrs. Werner has another dog for you.

A note from Cressson, Pa. tells us that the oldest married couple of that city is celebrating their 60th wedding anniversary.

They are Mr. and Mrs. Amos Rowland.

Mr. Rowland is 80 and his wife blushingly admits that she is 78.

The Globe Trotters are looking forward to their diamond jubilee.

Mrs. Koerner of West View asks me to repeat the suggestion that all Globe Trotters keep an available supply of fresh water outside where dogs, cats and birds may refresh themselves.

Teddy Messenger of Wilkinsburg, 206 Biddle avenue, is looking for a pet crow.

I have had a card from Mrs. C. H. Arthurs, telling me that she has a bed for one of the needy Globe Trotters.

I am obliged to Peter Goletic of Dresden way, who tells me of the plight of an old couple who can scarcely get around.

The man is paralyzed and sits all day by a window on an old broken-down chair.

Pete feels that a more comfortable chair would increase what enjoyment in life the old gentleman may have.

Please notify Ann Bales when and where I can get a chair from one of the Globe Trotters.

* * *

Don't forget tomorrow we welcome back to Pittsburgh a popular Globe Trotter, Jack Dempsey will be on the radio with me and I'm going to ask him a few questions about that Max Baer-Primo Camera fight.

Kill Kidney Acid New Way

Physician of national fame writes: Many people who suffer backache, rheumatic pains, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness, and other troubles, may find relief when they learn that these troubles are caused by kidneys that do not function properly. Most people have two pints of kidney poisons in their system. Ordinarily the kidneys remove about two pints of waste matter each day. But when they fail to do their work, poisons remain in the blood and cause trouble. Many people who suffer from these troubles do not realize that their kidneys are at fault. Doctors say that the best way to relieve such troubles is to drink plenty of water and to take Mountain Valley Mineral Water before meals. Mountain Valley Mineral Water is a pure spring water, bottled at the spring in Hot Springs, Ark. Ask your grocer for Mountain Valley Mineral Water.

"It's so old-fashioned to suffer-"

"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Tablets for painful periods. I used to suffer severe pains in my back and had to stay in bed most of the day. Your Tablets were recommended by a friend. Since taking them I am greatly relieved of the pains." — Mrs. Caroline Newman, Route #1, Barboursville, West Virginia.

The modern woman can't be bothered with cramps. Periodic pain is not going to interfere with her normal activities if she can help it. And she can.

But even when she feels at her worst, she hesitates to try narcotics or habit-forming drugs or those pain killers which may work too rapidly. She knows that Lydia E. Pinkham's Tablets contain no narcotics. They relieve her discomfort without bringing on headaches, dizziness or other unpleasant after-effects. If she takes them in time she can usually escape the pain altogether because this medicine treats the cause of the trouble.

"It's so old fashioned to suffer," says the modern woman. Silly, too, when Lydia E. Pinkham's Tablets cost only 50 cents.

At all Drug Stores.

Geo. Jessel Off the Air By Request

By AIRCASTER

George Jessel, jester and star of WABC's Sunday night broadcast, "The Voice of Columbia," carried freely by WJAS, won't be telephoning his "momma" next Sunday night, or any night thereafter.

In fact, he won't be the star of the show any more—or even in the show, or any other WABC presentation. Jessel is off the air—by request. He and WABC have called it a day.

There may be multiple reasons for Jessel's exit. One of the best, it would appear, is the fact that WABC has tried to sell him commercially, with consistent failure attending its efforts.

But failure to sell Jessel would hardly prompt the executives to do what they did last Sunday night.

They demanded Jessel's immediate resignation—and got it.

There were no explanations. None was asked, none was offered. Story stares discourage you when you ask the WABC head men what it is all about. Along radio row, the wiseacres will tell you they know. The split, they say, came because Jessel wouldn't stick to the script.

QUITE A SURPRISE

It was quite a surprise, I must admit, when I learned, and broadcast, that Deems Taylor was quitting the Thursday Whiteman shows tonight, presumably to find time to write another opera.

Well, it is quite probable that the opera won't be written. The fact is, Deems Taylor is going on the air in September with Donald Novis and Carol Deis, for the radio manufacturer who discovered both the singers.

THE KING'S MEN

Whiteman, by the way, is bringing to his show, after August has rolled around, that West Coast quartet, "The King's Men," whom you've probably seen and heard in pictures.

* * *

William Tell, the same historic archer who split an apple atop his son's head, is going to do it all over again for the radio audience.

From the village of Altdorf, William's home town, on the brink of Lake Lucerne, will come a costumed re-enactment of the heroic stunt via WABC at 1 p. m., July 22, when a cast of 125 actors, in a huge playhouse, will do "William Tell," with the aid of an English-speaking announcer.

RECORD CROWD JAMS FAIR

CHICAGO, July 12.—(AP)—Attendance figures at a Century of Progress are showing an upward swing.

Although the paid admissions thus far this year are more than half a million behind last year's figures for the same period of time, large crowds at the fair in recent days have contributed to a noticeable advance.

Yesterday's attendance set a record for a non-holiday Wednesday for this year, with the registers showing 84,659 has passed through the gates by midnight. The largest previous attendance on a non-holiday Wednesday was 67,147 on June 27.

The total attendance figures for the year to date were given as 2,780,913, as compared with 4,365,933 for the same period a year ago.

Patricia Pitt's Sprightly Comment on Pittsburgh's Society Happenings

In Mayfair —With— Patricia Pitt

Two of the largest yachts to come into Little Narragansett Bay this season, according to my correspondent, drew many sightseers to Watch Hill, R. I., yesterday afternoon.

And those yachts belong to two Sewickley families—the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Maitland Alexander and the William Christopher Robinsons. Mrs. Alexander and Mrs. Robinson are sisters, by the way.

Th Alexanders' yacht Viator, is a 106-foot boat. Solana is the name of the Robinson yacht.

Post-Debs In Party

Aboard the Alexander yacht were Dr. Alexander, Mrs. Alexander and one of their sons, post-debs Laura Childs and Martha Yost, also of Sewickley, and R. K. Ritchie, of New Rochelle.

Aboard the Robinson yacht were Mrs. Robinson and her daughter, Althea, also a post-deb. Mr. Robinson was to join the party later yesterday.

Both yachts are cruising together to Dr. Alexander's summer home in Dark Harbor, Me. They come from Fisher's Island. After visiting a day or two with friends at Watch Hill, they'll go on up the coast.

Social Registerites Not All Away

Judging from the sudden spurt of news about smart set numbers faring forth to this resort or that, or to Europe, one might conclude that there were no representatives of the social registerite set in town.

But there are—ever so many of them. Though I venture to prophesy that by August there'll be fewer of this group in town than in many a summer season—all because of the vanishing act the depression is doing.

Those who are still in town aren't at home much, however; almost all of them can be found at the various country clubs. Or at summer homes in Fox Chapel or Sewickley Heights.

In the summer time everyone goes to the country clubs to golf, to play tennis, to swim, even to play bridge. And so strong is the country club habit, that even on rainy days some members motor to their favorite club for a rubber or two.

Dinner-Dances Throughout Summer

On Saturday nights all the country clubs are meccas of both men and women—for dinner-dances are the rule.

Spacious Fox Chapel Golf Club will have a special dinner-dance Saturday night.

There'll be Saturday night dinner-dances, too, at Allegheny Country Club, Longue Vue Country Club and Pittsburgh Field Club. These three plan to have Saturday night dinner-dances throughout the summer.

And, of course, these dances are enormously popular—and no wonder. For they are the only large gatherings of the smart set in the good old summer time. And the clubs are all attractive and cool even during a heat wave.

Stewarts Off for Ross Mountain

Not far from Greensburg is an attractive summer resort where a group of Pittsburgh families have built summer cottages and go there every year—Ross Mountain Park.

Mrs. Denning Stewart, of Maple avenue, Edgewood, and her children left for Ross Mountain Park Saturday to spend the remainder of the summer at this cool, secluded spot.

Carrick Mothers Invite Neighbors to Parties

By MRS. CHARLES M. BREGG

There's an extra "welcome" on the doormat at the Carrick Mothers' Club this summer, for the club has invited all the women in the community to drop in for a pleasant afternoon and a game of cards at two open house affairs. The first of these was held yesterday and the second will be on July 25. Mrs. J. R. Bradley, the retiring president, is chairman for both.

The club has skillfully managed to keep "out of the red," but its treasury is depleted, so in order to begin next season with a well-filled exchequer every member will be asked to give a small benefit or the equivalent of its proceeds in cash. One of the members is making pies to raise her quota.

In the fall, on September 5 to be exact, there's to be a big party, which Mrs. J. T. Anderson and her committee are speaking of as "the last round up," when the total amount collected will be turned over to the treasurer.

The Carrick Club is one of several organizations which has put its newly acquired junior timber to work. Mrs. J. H. Twitmyer, recently come into the senior group from the juniors, is vice president and chairman of program and another former junior, Mrs. Robert Allen, is her co-chairman.

Unlike some of the other senior organizations, Carrick is not forming a department for its junior graduates. They are entering one by one and taking up their responsibilities in the general club activities.

The wedding will take place Saturday afternoon, August 4, at 2:30 o'clock in the Coll home with the Rev. Hugh Clark, assistant pastor of Calvary Protestant Episcopal Church, officiating.

Miss Burns Graham, sister of the bridegroom-elect, will be maid of honor, and Miss Marian Sherrill will be bridesmaid. Sherrill Coll, brother of the bride-to-be, will be best man.

Evelyn Spence Weds Pitt Teacher

Announcement is made of the marriage on June 23 of a graduate of the Elizabeth Steel Magee Hospital and of the University of Pittsburgh to an Allegheny College and University of Pittsburgh man, now a member of the faculty of the school of education of the University of Pittsburgh.

The bride was Miss Evelyn Spence, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Spence, of Trout's Crossing, Mt. Pleasant, Pa., and she married Dr. Carl D. Morneweck, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Morneweck, of Fredonia, Pa., in the Chelsea Presbyterian Church, New York.

Miss Ruth Baker, a classmate at Pitt of the bride, was her maid of honor. Dr. Anthony Coldberger, Pitt faculty member, was best man.

The bride is studying at the University of Pittsburgh graduate school for an advanced degree. She is a member of Kappa Phi. The bridegroom is a member of Phi Gamma Delta and Phi Beta Kappa, of Allegheny College, and of Phi Delta Kappa at Pitt. He is instructor in the Erie summer session of the university and will be at home there with his bride after September 15 when they will make their home at the Fairfax Hotel, Fifth avenue, East End. They are honeymooning in New York, Washington, New Jersey and Virginia.

Mrs. Joseph Jones, of Bellevernon, sister of the bride, gave a party announcing her engagement on June 16. She was assisted by her mother, Mrs. C. J. Spence, and her aunt, Mrs. C. L. Albright, of Pittsburgh.

Sorta like Old Mother Hubbard, that feeling that comes to mothers of young babies these hot days! Kinda like the Old Woman Who Lived in the Shoe . . . even though your "flock" consists of but one. It's true—preparing the first soft foods for the baby are a tedious task, and an exacting one . . . especially when the mercury sits up and kicks its heels against the 90 mark!

And that's why we have unearthed the news about the food mill that wipes out the woes of time and trouble! It's metal . . . made to fit over a stewpan . . . with a coarse sieve effect in the bottom of it . . . and a "paddle wheel" business that you crank 'round, forcing the vegetables, fruits, or other foods through the sieve and into the pan below. Ideal for making jellies and jams, as well as preparing the baby's spinach or peas! $1.00. (The first one of these that appeared cost $5. See how you save!)

Quite the cutest beach robes we've seen! NOT just the usual bahrobe-y type of wrap! BUT one of the gay and gladsome giddyites that every young girl (or her mother, for that matter) loves to wear!

Of heavy terry cloth . . . in white with appliqued anchors of navy, or Chinese-y characters of yellow . . . or foolish follies in red. Each one of them fastened in novel manner at the throat, with tasseled cords or "frogs." And priced $2.95. (We hear that little women, whose shoulders aren't too broad, are buying these for themselves, as well as for their daughters!)

A hospitality tray to poke under the assorted noses of your guests! A bright and shining chromium one complete with a bread-slicer and six square glass hor d'ouvres dishes! The self-same line that sells for $7.50 right along, wooden handles and all, and which is now tacking down and connecting itself with a $3 price tag! This is the same tray that was photographed in Harper's Bazaar some months ago . . . the most in-de-da of them all!!

* * *

And being in a hospitable frame of mind . . . an electric drink mixer is the next thing that springs up. The coveted item of every hospitable pantry shelf . . . the one that used to cost you around $5.95 . . . and talks, thanks to this and that, only takes $3.50 out of your handbag!

Well contrighted, modern mixers, these complete with beverages mixing bowls (or perhaps we should say "glasses").

In summertime, it's the undercover question that looms largest in most women's minds. The lingerie problems. Of what, and how and better still—how much?

Therefore, greet with glee this news of the panel slips for the growing girl (we've told you SO-O-O often where to find yours, it's their turn now). It seems that really truly panel slips that can't be seen through, and that fit the girl 11-13-15 or 17 are hard to find. And these being in tailored or lace-trimmed styles . . . with double-faced tops (for the non-brassiere-wearing youngsters) . . . adjustable straps . . . THREE, we chortle, are somepin'! Tearuse and white . . . at $1.95.

Helen Hayes Returns to Hollywood

MISS HELEN HAYES

By HARRISON CARROLL
International News Service.

HOLLYWOOD, July 12.—Helen Hayes, the little lady who created such a big furore when she forsook film pay checks in an effort to help save the stage, is back in Hollywood, but only for a brief stay.

Surrounded by more than 20 floral tributes from screen-star admirers, the diminutive actress told visitors to her Beverly Hills hotel suite today that she'll desert pictures again early in October to take her last season's Broadway hit, "Mary of Scotland," on a 27-week tour, mainly of arduous one-night stands. Helen declared:

"The theater all over the country needs reviving, and we players who love it must do our part."

Helen comes to Hollywood this time without either husband Charles MacArthur or her 4½-year-old daughter, Mary. MacArthur is busy in New York with his film activities and the youngster will spend the summer at the family home in Nyack, N. Y. Miss Hayes explained:

"We just opened a new swimming pool back there. Mary plays hostess to all the children in the neighborhood and she couldn't bear to leave."

First picture on Helen's Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer schedule will be her old stage role in Barrie's "What Every Woman Knows." When this picture is finished, she'll fly back to New York to visit the baby and then return for a second film.

SPEAK UP, SISTERS :-: Glances Into the Realms of Domesticity and Romance :-: By MARION BRUNOT

Past Stalks Youth Who Committed Crime

He was a BAD MAN once. He paid for his crime, and served two years. That was over three years ago, but the PAST stalks about for him, and he wonders now if he can marry the girl he loves.

Her family did not know of those two years, and the girl thought it should be kept a secret. They liked him, and everything went smoothly, except that grim specter out of the distance. It loomed and worried.

He isn't very old even now. Only 21, and she is 19. They adore each other. He kept this past of his even from his girl for quite awhile. But he finally confessed, and she forgave him.

Miss Brunot

Then the worst happened. The parents discovered the misdemeanor, and they called him a BUM, and wouldn't speak to him.

He hasn't seen his girl for over a week.

What shall he do? Go over, and ask the parents for their confidence? Tell them he intends to go straight?

He has a job, and the majority of people respect him. But he is up against it and he wants advice.

SHOW COURAGE

By all means, brother, go and confront the elder generation. Let them see you are not afraid. Give them the white of your eyes. You were a minor when you served your years, and have come out with flying colors. You know what sorrow is, and you know the way of the transgressor is hard. If they are real people they will take you at your face value, and not go behind you for bugaboos.

Then, too, the girl has forgiven. That should count for a lot. She will be with you, young man.

Dear Miss Brunot:

I am so disappointed in my boy friend. He came steadily until he found out I wasn't a petter, and has stopped dead. He talks nicely of me to others, and says he likes me. I met another fellow, and he also tried to make love to me. He said if I never let a fellow know how much I cared, I'd never get a husband. He also said that a fellow must get a few kisses in return for giving up his time and money in entertainment.

Please let me know what you think. BETTY.

SAVE KISSES

I don't agree with these young men. A girl takes a decided risk when she marries, and why shouldn't the boy? Remember, men argue considerably and put forth some good reasoning in order to win. Do not pet promiscuously and do not pass out your kisses to worthless and passing suitors. Why should you, Betty? You are young and have plenty of time to find the right man.

Dear Miss Brunot:

I have just read J. D.'s letter in your department. I think him probably a fortune hunter or lazy. I was a moonshiner's son, and thought I loved a rich girl, too. And she loved me. Her mode of living was glamorous and appealed to her, and we split. I built myself up to a $3,000-a-year business, and was only 22 years of age. It was ambition did it for me. It is a respectable business, too. I am no pauper now. And I didn't marry the rich girl either. I selected a poor one, and we are happy and fine. L. J. B.

Your letter should be an inspiration to other young men. You have done excellently with your life, and also your love. You do not need any advice, so I won't give it to you. You are quite able to take care of yourself, and your young wife is lucky.

WANTS TO WIN BOY

Dear Miss Brunot:

Sixteen, and in high school. I am deeply in love with a fellow I met two weeks ago. He asked me to come back to see me, and I said I did not know. And he has not come. He tells everybody he likes me. He lives in a different town.

He drives through here every day, but I do not see him so often. When I do, I speak and wave. I do not go with any other fellow. Please let me know what I should do to win him. BETTY.

You should have been more decided when this fellow asked you if he could come back. Such lack of decision looked to him as if you did not want him. Couldn't you in some way stop his car, and have a chat? Then you could invite him to see you. I am sure he still wants to come.

Mickey is 18 years of age, and admires a fellow of 23. Her greatest desire is to go steadily with him. How to go about it? That is her query. She feels sure she may have a chance with him, but he doesn't live in the same part of town. She can have boy friends, so her parents say, but she is SHY, is Mickey. What shall she do? That is her S. O. S.

Be less shy, sister. Shyness doesn't pay in 1934. When you see the young man invite him to your home, and when he comes be cordial, and entertaining, and I am sure from that time on, things will go swimmingly.

FAY KING'S MOANING MOLARS MAKE HER ENVY PEARLY TEETH

By FAY KING

The only persons I have ever really envied are those who possess two perfect rows of teeth, and who have never known the meaning of a cavity, abscess, or toothache of any kind.

It seems, too, that I am destined to be forever looking at some smiling mouth filled with "teeth like pearls," while my own poor moaning molars feel as if an expert crew of riveters were working overtime on my jaw-bone just to make me utterly miserable.

Fate is forever sending my way those persons with perfect teeth, and I hardly know what they are saying when we chat together, so enchanted am I to gaze upon such glory as their teeth, which they do not seem to appreciate!

Oh boy, how I envy them!

SHEER NIGHTGOWNS, NAUGHTY BUT NICE

By PRUNELLA WOOD

MOST of the trick nightgowns one sees lately are sheer pretense. They are wispy things that make a gal look like the ghost of Queen Louise, Little Nell, or some such varnished sweetie—but they use materials that have mostly been reserved down the ages for ball gowns. La Belle Louise, at that, was famous for her transparent silhouette, so she might have used one of these 1934 Empire chiffon nightgowns in court, if not in her boudoir.

As a class, they go in for very diaphanous fabrics cut along ultra-modest lines — high neck, long sleeves, trailing skirt and a lot of prim tucking and ruffling. It's quite an idea, and a wow with the budding young merchants tell us. Some of them prefer to ape overalls or high-waisted shirtmaker frocks in their models, but even these are far from being as prissy as their lines woul dindicate.

* * *

ONE OF the prettiest color combinations in gowns of this type and in those which conform to more conventional cuts and fabrics is that of dead white and lipstick scarlet.

It may be in a sheer stamped with tiny poppies (for sleep) scattered all over it. Or it may be o fheavy white flat sil kor satin made with tailored pipings of the red. It is a very cool, refreshing scheme and one that is awfully becoming to a girl with a rich, dark tan.

* * *

NATURALLY, very sheer nightgowns demand full length robes for wear with them. A cool combination is made by topping a diaphanous gown with a lace coat. A very tailored gown looks swank with a terry cloth polo coatish affair, and summer velvet is a wonderful bet for the week-end wardrobe where one likes to show off something swell for other women's maids to compare with the missus'.

There is a re-infection of sheer black nightgowns al lover town, mostly of mousseline de soie, often satin-striped. Most women look like the very deuce in them but the Very Young! How they go for them in an ecstasy of innocent worldliness!

Center, a Victorian nightie developed in gossamer peach chiffon. Note the frills over either shoulder and the fine tucks beside them. The cuffs have draw strings; the edgings are tatted lace. Above, white triple sheer with shadow design in a shirtmaker nightie, very 1934 Young Idea.

The bodice of this peach satin gown is fine Carrickmacross lace, and the tiny ruffled lisseuse has inserts of the same thread mesh. The model ties high under the bust in front, in Empire effect.

Contract Bridge

HOW TO PLAY and HOW TO WIN

By Josephine Culbertson

A Simple Communication Play

I have discussed in this column at various times many different types of hands. There have been complicated coups and squeezes, advanced bidding situations, complicated counts and many other situations of a more or less difficult and unusual nature. To use a prevailing slogan of the day, it seems not a bad idea from time to time to get back to fundamentals.

Today's hand shows a very simple hold-up by a defensive player, which enabled him to defeat the contract.

North—Dealer.

Neither side vulnerable.

	♠ K 8 2 ♡ K J 7 ◇ 8 7 ♣ A Q J 6 5
♠ 9 7 4 ♡ 10 4 2 ◇ A 9 6 4 2 ♣ 8 2	North West East South	♠ Q 10 6 3 ♡ Q 8 3 ◇ K 5 3 ♣ K 4 3
	♠ A J 5 ♡ A 9 6 5 ◇ Q J 10 ♣ 10 9 7

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 ♠	Pass	2 N T (1)	Pass
3 N T	Pass	Pass	Pass

1—South has 2½ honor tricks with additional Jacks, Tens and Nines. With no biddable suit South must make the semi-forcing bid of two notrump, although possibly the hand is a shade weaker than South would like it to be to make this bid.

West, on lead against the three-notrump contract, opened his fourth best diamond and East won the trick with the King. East of course promptly returned the five spot of that suit and South played one of his honors. West at this point must make the very simple play of refusing to win the trick. This is done so that when and if East again obtains the lead he will have another card left in the suit with which West can be put in to take tricks with his Ace and small cards. If West wins the second trick with his diamond Ace and returns a low card of the suit, automatically setting it up, he will have no card of re-entry left to make use of it. West knows from the bidding and a view of the Dummy that there is a good chance that East holds either the club King or one of the major suit Aces and should get in with one of them before the Declarer is able to run nine tricks. It is therefore imperative that West leave his partner with a low diamond to return, and obviously if West plays the Ace of diamonds and returns the third round of the suit, East as well as the Declarer will now be void.

Incidentally a question of ethics arises in connection with the use of this play. The West player should make every effort to decide at trick one or, at any rate, a few seconds in advance, whether or not he is going to allow South to hold the second round of the suit. If West hesitates unduly before ducking the second round of diamonds, this will give unfair information to his partner as it definitely marks him (West) with the Ace, as otherwise there would be no occasion for hesitation. The ethical player will lean the other way in an effort not to give such unfair information. An astute East player will be aware of the possibility that West is staying off with the diamond Ace whether or not West indicates this possibility by his manner of playing to the second trick.

A Sequel to Heart Of a Wife

Mention Two Mysterious Men

I saw Hugh Grantland stiffen as I told him that I would talk to Junior about the fright he had given me, and added, "Please talk to him about the other matter." I knew, of course, that he read into my words the meaning I had not voiced openly, and that if I had said, "Do not presume to discipline my child; that is a matter for his father or me," he could not have understood my meaning more clearly.

I hated to offend him, but his stern rebuke of Junior had roused something queerly defensive within me. He must not reprimand my child and Dicky's when either of us was present to attend to the discipline. That was the feeling behind my little speech, and I could not banish it any more than I could recall the words.

But I flushed guiltily at Hugh's low-voiced, but distinctly frigid, "Sorry! I shall not offend again," though for the life of me I could not offer the apology which I knew and he knew was due him.

Junior's instincts were finer than mine, however, and I was proud of him as he threw back his head and faced Hugh.

JUNIOR APOLOGIZES

"I'm terribly sorry I frightened my mother, Uncle Hugh," he said manfully, "and you're right to scold me. But I think maybe when you hear all about why we did it, you'll see it was really necessary. We couldn't let those Chinamen get away with anything, could we, Uncle Hugh?"

I wondered if Hugh's lips were twitching as mine were. The blessed relief that I had experienced in realizing that Junior and Roderick were safe had lightened my spirits to a degree where I could have laughed or sung or even danced in token of my eased heart.

But if he did not smile, his voice was distinctly softer as he answered Junior:

"Spoken like a man, my boy," he said, "and I am sure your mother will accept your apology. But now let's get down to cases. What do you mean by this talk of Chinamen, and why did you come down here this morning without telling anybody?"

Junior hesitated palpably.

"If you please, Uncle Hugh," he said, "don't you think we ought to wait for Bill and Hank before we make any explanations? They're guarding the other side of this place, and besides, it's really their affair. They don't know we're here. We thought it would be all right to help them out, even if they didn't know of it, but it doesn't seem fair to tell what they're doing. I'd a lot rather you'd ask them about it when they come over here, and they will, just as soon as that Chinaman shows up. Oh I forgot. I nearly told."

'TRAVEL IN PAIRS'

He clapped his hand over his mouth in such patent consternation that I saw Hugh's lips quirk into a smile. But I saw by his knitted eyebrows that there was some element in this fantastic situation which was arousing a more serious emotion than amusement at a small boy's vagaries. Yet not even to avert a danger would he ask Junior to depart from the ideal of good sportsmanship which he and Roderick had set up for themselves.

"You are quite right," he said. "We will wait for Hank and Bill. But as long as you have inadvertently spoken of a Chinese who is expected to come here, do you think it would hurt if you tell me whether you expect more than one?"

The query was apparently a casual one, but I noticed that, as he put it, his eyes were traveling intently from side to side of the little clearing. What he feared, I do not know, but I was sure that he was uneasy about something which Junior's involuntary revelation about the Chinese had brought to his mind.

Junior considered a second or two.

"As long as I've talked already," he said, "I guess it won't do any harm to tell you that the boys expect two Chinamen to come. They always travel in pairs, you know."

Correct Manners

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

His Mother

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I have been going with a young man for three years and just recently I met his mother. He introduced us by saying, "So and So, this is my mother." He has a habit of calling her by her first name. I would like very much to know if I should call her by her first name, too, or should I use "Mrs.?"

Don't even consider calling this man's mother by her first name. Her sense of good taste would be outraged. Always address her as "Mrs. Robinson," or at least until circumstances bring you closer together in relationship, and then undoubtedly she will talk the question of name over with you and will suggest one that she thinks appropriate.

Household Hints

Eggs are less liable to break or stick to the pan if a little flour is added to the frying fat.

Fill a bag with bran and immerse it in water in which you are going to wash cretonne curtains or loose covers. This will give them a slight stiffness and keep them fresh and uncrushed.

When stewing apples, add a teaspoon of golden syrup instead of sugar. This makes the juice sweet and thick.

If a little common salt is added to the petrol used for removing spots on thin and delicate materials it will not leave a disfiguring ring.

Vaccine for 'Parrot's Disease'

The recent epidemics of "psittacosis," or "parrot's disease," as it is more commonly called, aroused a great deal of fear among animal lovers and persons desirous of keeping pet birds. Now comes the interesting announcement of the Rockefeller Institute of Medical Research, telling about the development of a vaccine against this unusual disease.

Dr. Copeland

Five or six injections are made into the muscles. Though complete reports are not available as yet, this treatment is believed to give immunity or protection against the disease. The vaccine has been successfully used by several laboratory assistants who are constantly exposed to the dangers of this disease.

Though psittacosis is a rare and unusual disease and every precaution is used to prevent its occurrence, the possibility of an epidemic cannot be overlooked. The affliction is quickly spread by persons who have had contact with diseased birds. Since the complications of the disease are often of a serious nature, the development of this vaccine is of great importance.

The disease is caused by a germ given a big name, the "bacillus psittacosis." This dangerous agent is found in diseased parrots or other birds and may be transmitted to those persons who handle sick birds.

The disease, so rare is it, is often overlooked until serious and disabling symptoms appear. Occasionally it is confused with pneumonia, because the symptoms of psittacosis sometimes resemble those of pneumonia.

Psittacosis has been known for many years. But it is only recently that it received the wide attention of the medical profession and public. This changed attitude was brought about by reports from various sections of the country showing the widespread and serious nature of the ailment.

Fortunately, the disease is now more quickly recognized than in former years. In addition, certain legal steps have aided in decreasing the number of cases. Strict regulations attach to the importation of foreign birds.

May I assure all bird lovers that there is no need for alarm when purchasing a pet providing the bird appears to be in good health and shows no sign of disease. Most reliable bird stores will give a certificate of health with each bird sold. In this way you can be assured that the bird is in good health and free from psittacosis.

These precautions are important if you are purchasing a tropical bird.

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

No sense putting oneself on a reducing diet for getting rid of local fat, like chunky legs, hammy arms or adipose ridges on the back of the neck. The thing to do is to hammer off the fat cells with vigorous kneading and rolling exercise that gives work to those particular parts of the body that are to be diminished.

When the hair has been permanently waved, marvelous effects can result from the clever use of curlers.

Part the hair up and down at the back, place the curlers in that position and you'll have a pleasant change from the upturned tendrils at the nape line. Place them crosswise at the temples. When the hair is dry, separate them and flatten them. Quaint and chic.

Junior Birdmen Wing Cities Prepare to Send Winners to National Model Plane Contest!

By J. JAMES MOORE
Pittsburgh Wing Commander

Greetings, members! Junior Birdmen Model Plane Derby winners are nearly all selected in the Wing Cities throughout the country. Just think there will be seventeen champs widely scattered throughout the country who are thrilled to no end at the prospect of traveling to Washington, D. C., as entrants in the National Junior Birdmen All-American Model Plane Championship Contest the last week in July.

From Seattle, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Omaha, San Antonia and other points Wing Champions are eagerly awaiting the "toot" of the train that will take them east where they will fly their miniature craft in hopes of becoming the national champ. New York will be the last Wing City to hold its derby. About 250 entrants are expected to compete, making it one of the biggest contests ever held in this country.

Joe Isuzu, of the East End, is our champ and we are all very proud of his ability in making flying models. Before he leaves for the capital we are hoping to have a mass junior meeting somewhere in the downtown. At that time the derby prize will be awarded and Joe will be given a rousing send-off to Washington. We want you present and wish him luck.

Turner and Williams Will Probably Speak

We are hoping to have two of America's most famous fliers at the meeting to talk to you. They are Roscoe Turner and Al Williams. Everyone of you boys and girls I am sure have heard their names. They will have a live-wire message for you and so we want you to be one of the nearly 3,000 members of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph wing in attendance.

And you boys and girls who have either left for your summer camp or are about to do so, and who cannot therefore attend the meeting, here is good news.

Here is your opportunity to add a lot of good times to the usual camp activities. Organize one of the special Summer Flight Squadron units. These are no different than our regular units except that they are temporary, and upon returning home in the fall you can transfer your Flight Squadron number and become a permanent group.

See your camp director immediately. By now he has received a letter from National Headquarters explaining the Junior Birdmen Movement and he will be glad to give you every assistance.

You members who must necessarily remain in the city may take advantage of the pleasures and thrills that go hand in hand with Flight Squadron organization and activities.

Remember, only eight members are required to build a unit of your own, and this means yourself and but seven others. There's plenty of fun to be had in holding your own meetings, conducting your own activities and discussing and planning matters of importance at your round table.

Baldwin's Squadron Busy Making Many Airplanes

One of the busiest squadrons these days is No. 2, which is commanded by James Baldwin, of 1000 Macon avenue. There are 30 boys in his squadron, everyone greatly interested in airplane construction. They are not only building flying models but also scale models.

Of this squadron Baldwin said: "We get a lot of fun out of meeting together in the attic at my home and building planes. There is a lot of companionship to it and besides we can ask the other fellow for help when we bump into some difficulty."

Read this column every day. We have some big news stories for you!

Happy landings!

Japan Trade Holds Interest of State

Pennsylvania has a vital interest in the improving import and export trade between Japan and the United States, according to Paul T. Binsted, United States Department of Commerce trade commissioner at Tokio, who today is visiting Pittsburgh. Automobiles are one of the leading items of export from this country and this nation provides more automotive trade than any other part of the country, he said. Further Pennsylvania is one of the leading states in the production of silks and rayons, thereby controlling a great part of the raw material exported by Japan.

PENNA. FOURTH IN U. S. TAX PAYMENTS

WASHINGTON, July 12.—(AP)—In five of the 48 states—New York, North Carolina, Illinois, Pennsylvania and California—the federal government collected more than half of the $2,672,318,802 received from taxation in the fiscal year just ended.

Eleven states—Arizona, Idaho, North Dakota, South Dakota, Vermont, Wyoming, Arkansas, Mississippi, Nevada, Utah and Montana—meanwhile contribute less than 1 per cent of the federal tax yield.

NEW YORK FIRST

As usual New York had the year's biggest tax bill, $564,321,204. North Carolina was second with $260,744,351, while Illinois with $214,174,818, Pennsylvania with $193,562,322 and California with $151,245,457 followed in order.

At the other end of the scale Wyoming paid the least, $1,170,230. South Dakota was next to last with $1,285,706 and then followed Idaho, $1,432,106, Arizona, $1,962,192, and Vermont, $1,443,413.

The presence of North Carolina, essentially an agricultural state, among the leaders was attributed by Treasury officials to source collected tax on tobacco manufactures, later paid by citizens the country over. The state's income tax payments were $12,960,671, as compared with $217,811,109 in miscellaneous taxes, including the tobacco levies.

ALL SHOW INCREASE

Every state in the Union showed increases, ranging in some cases as high as 300 per cent, in miscellaneous tax collections for the fiscal year as compared with the year previous to raise the grand total for the country from $873,047,820 to $1,483,789,755.

In the income tax category every state but six showed a jump, while the total for the country as a whole increased from $746,791,494 to $817,303,457. The six whose income tax payments declined were Arizona, Idaho, Iowa, Kansas, Michigan and Virginia.

NEW LEVIES FACTOR

The increase in miscellaneous receipts was due partially to new taxes imposed at the special session of Congress in the spring of 1933. Income tax collections were at the same rates for the two years. The increased income levies recently enacted will be reflected in taxes on incomes of this calendar year, collected in the next.

All internal revenue receipts for the fiscal year 1934—figures previously announced—aggregated $2,672,318,602 as compared with $1,619,639,224 for the fiscal year 1933. The 1934 figure included $371,225,386 in processing taxes on farm products, a levy not in effect during the year 1933.

Bulldog's Bark Saves Woman From Blast

CHEYNNE, Wyo., July 12.—(AP.)—Sonny's a hero in Cheyenne. He's a little Boston bull terrior whose barking in the midst of a building wrecked by dynamite and roaring with fire drew attention to the plight of his mistress, Mrs. Joe Paris, caught in debris.

The dog was not trapped with his mistress but refused to leave the flaming ruins until firemen extricated her.

CONTRACT FOR $24,500,000 PWA LOAN COMPLETED

15 ARRESTED IN GAMBLING, RUM RAIDS

Men, Women Facing Police Court Charges

Nearly a score of men and women, arrested in raids yesterday, were to be arraigned in city police courts today.

Charged with selling numbers, Alo Nardinia, 48, of 116 North Wheeler street; Michael Harris, 33, of 217 Yardley way, and Alfred Williams, 28, of 5639 Mignonette street, were held in $2,500 bond each.

Leonard Klein, 18, identified as the manager of a drug store at Dallas and Frankstown avenues, was to be arraigned in East End Police Court in connection with a seizure of alleged gambling machines in a drug store.

The raid was made on a complaint of W. M. Campbell, 885 Inwood street, who informed police that his son was losing money on the machines in the drug store, police said.

Nineteen-year-old Betty Ginsberg, of 713 Homewood avenue, was fined $10 when arraigned before Magistrate J. W. McGowan in Morals Court today, accused of writing numbers.

Sarah Ford, 42, of 1812 Charles street, was arrested yesterday afternoon when police reported they found a numbers lottery slip and books in her home.

Two men and a woman were arrested when police raided an alleged numbers pickup place at 407 Kirkpatrick street. They said they were William Murray, Negro, of 634 Kirkpatrick street; Lewis Johnson, Negro, of 2249 Center avenue, and Alice Chambers, of 2949 Orbin street.

Stanley Skreski, 24, of 3003 Hope road, were arrested in Columbus avenue. Police reported they found numbers books in their possession.

Untax-paid liquor, wine and home-brewed beer were reported seized when police under Inspector John Schnurr raided two alleged Hill district resorts. Marie DeMel, 52, and her husband, Alex, 51, were arrested at 36 Clay way. As the officers left the house they took a key from Mrs. DeMel on which an address at 41 Clay way was stamped. Investigating, the officers reported they found several pints of liquor at that address.

At 37 Clay way the officers reported the seizure of wine and gin and the arrest of Mrs. Theresa Polito, 25, and her father-in-law, Marco Polito.

CITY PROPERTY CLERK NAMED

An effort to restore the office of superintendent of the Bureau of City Property is being made by Public Works Director Leslie M. Johnston.

A new chief clerk, Carroll B. Collins, of 436 Winterhill avenue, Brookline, formerly engineer with the Koppers Company, has been appointed by Director Johnston. E. J. Foley, formerly chief clerk, has been retained as a clerk, and John Lang, a clerk, has been transferred to another clerical position.

The title of Superintendent was eliminated in a budget session of Council several years ago. It had been held by Henry Townsend.

An ordinance of Council will be required to restore the position to the payroll.

Homestead Scout Executive Promoted

W. Wallace Hill, Boy Scout executive of the Homestead district for the past five years, has been appointed Scout executive of Westmoreland County, and will assume his new duties at Greensburg, September 1. Mr. Hill will succeed V. L. Huntsberger, who will become an official of the Allegheny County Scout organization.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

CLAREMORE, Okla., July 12.
To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

I never get through the thrill of coming back home, seeing kin folks and old friends. Nature has been rough with the ranchmen and farmers here. The drouth wilted the corn just as it was starting to "roastin' ear."

I asked about the wheat and oats, and some other Republican scourge had fallen on them, no grass for the cattle, but they did have an awful nice radish crop.

I never saw redder radishes. All I know is just what I read in the Claremore Progress, see where Speaker Rainey of the House of Representatives has been kinder beating the political bushes araund here. Wish I had been home, he is a mighty lovely old gentleman. It's awful hot to be campaigning. I would let the Republicans do all the talking. You lose more votes this weather than you gain. Yours, WILL.

'MY OWN STORY' -:- -:- -:- By Marie Dressler

Iceboxes and Garbage Pails Will Reveal True Character of Housewives, Belief of Noted Actress

Marie Dressler, the funniest woman in America, was born in a small town in Canada. After a series of ups and downs on the stage, she decided that in order to achieve success one must keep her troubles to herself. Her first big success was "Tillie's Nightmare," which sent her on the road to "hats with ostrich feathers as long as any in Newport."

Then came reverses on the stage and in her financial investments. She learned that no "voice" is as bad as "advice." Despite pleas and warnings, she set out for Hollywood without a contract and pounded the pavements searching for a job. Her first opportunity came as she was in desperate financial straits. With Polly Moran, she established the game of "Give and Take," which brought her temporary success.

CHAPTER IV.

After the lapse of a year I was sent for to play in a picture called "Dangerous Females." I may have looked dangerous in size, but goodness knows I was tame in spirit.

Then came "Anna Christie!" And right there I began to tow in the whale. It wasn't such a big part and what I did have was cut a lot, but—with your permission—let me quote here from a page in the Literary Digest for July 12, 1932:

"Marie Dressler ran away with the 'Anna Christie' talkie in spite of Greta Garbo in the title role. This is generally conceded both here and abroad. Miss Dressler plays the role of the bibulous Marthy, as Anna's father called her, and can act." This was the picture that earned me the title, "The Thief of the Talkies," for no matter how small a part I got, I somehow made it stand out—perhaps because I'm bigger than anybody else. Anyhow, the audience saw me, proving that one is not altogether lost in the chorus.

"Caught Short" and "Let Us Be Gay" followed in close succession. Then came "Min and Bill" and they took my breath away by telling me that they meant to star me. Before this happened, however, the autograph and bill collectors were evenly divided. The motor cars of my more fortunate friends passed me with the doors emblazoned with initials a foot high. They all had homes in Beverly Hills with views and rock gardens. (You can take it either way.) As for me, I was on the rocks in more senses than one.

Has Natural Aversion to Antiques

I want to give you my idea of a house. Or, rather, a home—there's a lot of difference, you know. When things began to look pretty good for me I gave up the first house I had chosen and selected another one. This was situated on a rock. It had a patio, a swimming pool and a view of the ocean. The view was immense, but the house was small and cozy.

I always keep my houses simple. Chintz is more to my taste than priceless musty fabrics valued because some king and queen had a deuce of a time when they lived with them. Palace stuff never inspired the song, "Home, Sweet Home." I like firm chairs when I sit socially. I've had more than my share of collapsible stage furniture, so that my aversion to antiques may easily be explained. I do feel, however, that ancient furniture in the home should carry weight limit signs like country bridges!

A house should be small enough and the furniture so arranged that there are no bunkers in the way of a straight drive to the kitchen; for around the kitchen the real home is built. A home with sloppy meals—whether they are prepared by the maid or the madam—leads to the divorce court sooner or later, and the woman who can give her husband better meals than any other woman wins—sometimes!

I've always wondered why folks who were so anxious to get their bumps felt and their palms read by experts didn't have their iceboxes and garbage pails examined. These are the true character indicators. In them you find extravagance, vanity, lack of imagination, laziness, stinginess, stupidity, carlessness, untidiness and all the sins pictured by the handwriting expert or other good guessers. On the other hand, these telltale containers may indicate tolerance, inspiration, energy, generosity, cleverness, carefulness and neatness.

Is Respected by Garbage Man

The whole point is to make the most of what you have and give the pigs a break. Garbage men respect me. One told me once, "Miss Dressler, you have swell swill. You see, it's nice for pigs and it ain't taking away from humans like most of them."

All of which is a delightfully direct way of informing the world that I can cook and like it. Did you ever notice that the bigger the woman, the better the cook? Well, that means my cooking is above the average. When I say I cook I don't refer to those people who order expensive materials and then start a meal. My idea of a cook is somebody who can take what would otherwise be thrown out and make you want to come again. Suppose I give you a few favorite recipes a la Dressler?

Take steak-tails, for instance. Everybody takes a steak-tail, lays it on a plate, carefully puts it in the icebox and throws it out on the third day. Somehow you feel less extravagant if you don't chuck it out upon its arrival. When it comes to steak-tails with me, I make both ends meat.

ICEBOX STEAK-TAIL
A Dish That Will Fit Any Stomach.

Take the steak-tail firmly and persuasively, all the while thinking, "Come seven—come eleven," reduce it to dice-like pieces. Worry some celery and potato into a similar state. Add one chopped onion, tomatoes if at hand, otherwise any vegetables left over in the icebox, toss in a lump of butter, and simmer these ingredients slowly in a frying pan in the vegetable juices or just enough soup stock to keep from burning.

When the odor makes you hungry, put the odor and the mixture causing it into individual ramekins, break an egg over each, add grated cheese if desired, and place in the oven to brown. If you have invited your worst enemy to dinner this will be the beginning of a beautiful friendship. And why not ask either your friends or your enemies to a pickup dinner? I shudder when I receive an engraved invitation to a meal so far ahead that I have to turn a leaf on the calendar. I can see in advance the crab flakes full of gristle carefully masked by the cold gravy they call cocktail sauce.

I can see the mock turtle chilling its skin in the clear soup and the other company dinner do-dabs which look so pretty in the magazines and taste like kid gloves just home from the cleaners. No, sir—my idea of enjoying my friends' hospitality is to drop in when they are not expecting me and enjoy honest-to-goodness food!

Compare company consommes and bouillon, for example, with my favorite soup, which anybody can have every day.

PAPERS READY FOR COUNTY SIGNATURES

Suggestions Made Here Adopted in Fixing Terms

By JOHN P. COWAN

WASHINGTON, July 12.—The contract between the Allegheny County Authority and the Public Works Administration for a loan of $24,500,000 for Pittsburgh improvement projects has been completed, it was announced today by PWA legal officers.

Suggestions made by Solicitors J. P. Fife and Ralph Frank on their visit to Washington last week have been incorporated in the document and other questions at issue between the county authority and the government have been "ironed out" to the satisfaction of all parties concerned, it was stated here.

The completed draft of the contract will be sent to Pittsburgh and be on hand for action early next week, according to PWA officials. They said that the next step would be for the county Authority to adopt a resolution accepting the funds. After the proper officers of the Authority sign the contract it will then be returned to Washington for ratification by Administrator Harold L. Ickes.

Officials here declared that nothing now stands in the way for the county Authority to proceed with the engineering features of the work and in setting in motion the machinery to let contracts, acquire material and give employment to idle men.

City, County Accord On Plaza Expected

City and county authorities today are confident that they will soon reach an agreement on engineering plans for the toll plaza at the south end of the Liberty Tubes, one of the nine major projects for which the county has obtained a $24,500,000 public works administration loan.

Attending a meeting yesterday were Reppert, Press C. Dowler, Allegheny County Authority chairman; E. N. Hunting, member of the Authority; Frank Vittor, City Art Commission member; Fred Bigger, City Planning Commission engineer; Lewis W. McIntyre, city traffic engineer; E. L. Schmidt, County Planning Commission engineer; Leslie M. Johnston, City Works Director, and others.

Following the meeting Dowler said that the same group will meet tomorrow to continue the discussion. City and county authorities, he said, have no radical differences regarding the plans. Director Johnston was also certain that an agreement would be reached soon and that there were no great differences to be overcome.

Early in the week, however, Johnston outlined in a letter to Mayor McNair defects in the plan for the plaza as drawn by county engineers.

RALLY TO WEIGH TUBE TOLLS

A mass meeting under the auspices of South Hills Civic Organizations to discuss the proposed toll on the Liberty Tubes will be held in Washington School auditorium, Washington road, Mt. Lebanon, tomorrow night at 8 p. m.

Speakers will discuss the South Hills projects, according to the announcement. Speakers will include Attorney A. C. Purdy and James L. Adams, chairman of the committee which has been protesting tolls.

Vets Committees Meet at Dinner

Committee chairmen and members of the United Spanish War Veterans and their auxiliary, in charge of arrangements here for the thirty-sixth national encampment to be held here in August, will hold a pep dinner and meeting in the Chamber of Commerce dining room at 6:30 p. m. Saturday.

More than 25,000 are expected to attend the encampment.

RUTGERS CREW IS 'SURPRISE' ENTRY IN OAKMONT REGATTA

Colorful List of Racers Wait Starting Gun on Saturday

Unannounced and unentered, the Rutgers racing crew of five drivers arrived in Oakmont yesterday and began tryouts in their fast motorboats for the Sun-Telegraph-Oakmont Boat Club outboard regatta.

The event, set for Saturday and Sunday, promises to draw thousands from all parts of the district.

The amateur winner will be awarded the William Randolph Hearst Gold Cup trophy.

The arrival of Rutgers' racing crew brought entries in the two-day races to 113—38 amateur and 73 professional, and they were still rolling in today.

The first annual outboard motorboat regatta for the Hearst trophy, sponsored by the Sun-Telegraph and the Oakmont Boat Club to stimulate interest in aquatic sports, is certain to give the district plenty of thrilling scenes, according to officials in charge.

Not only is the list of entries a colorful one, but the love of the sport shown by racing amateurs from this city and from distant points will add drama to the spectacle.

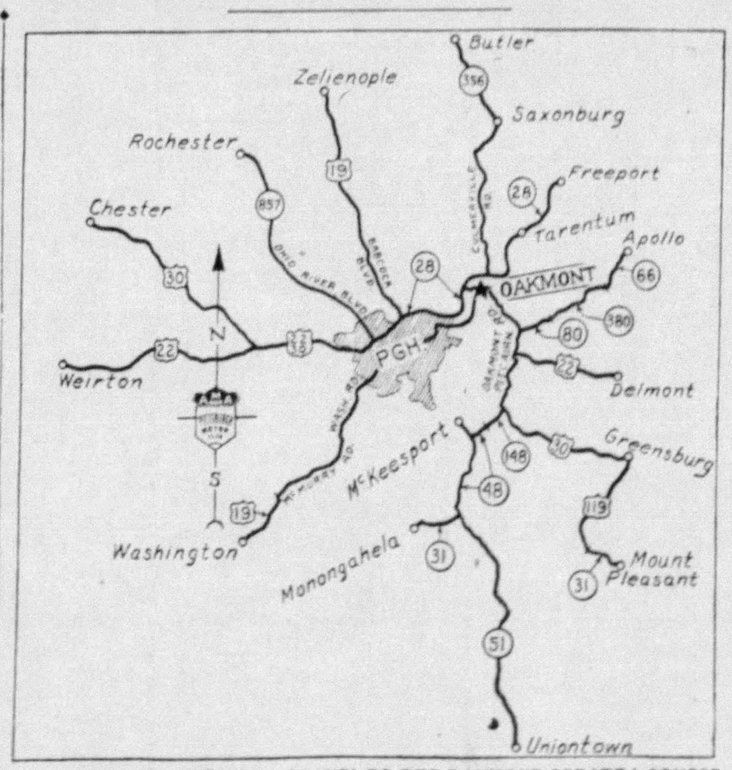
Rust Heinz, son of Howard Heinz, will race Saturday if his motor arrives in time, he said yesterday, despite previous reports that he might be kept out of the event by physicians' orders.

O. H. Babcock, another well-known Pittsburgher, is entered in the professional group under Class F boats. Heinz, racing as an amateur, will be in Class C. There will be four groups—A, B, C and F—depending on speed, which ranges from 39 to 50 miles per hour.

RACING LIST BIG

With two more states represented, the total number increased today to 11, besides the District of Columbia. From Orlando, Fla., came the entry of Cal Meloon, while from Westfield, Mass., came that of Leslie Slater, both in the professional ranks.

Among the many stars entered are Jim Nunnelly, former intercollegiate and national amateur champion; George H. (Chart) Johnson, winner of the Albany-to-New York Hudson River marathon; Jim Rogers, present Class F professional champion; Sam Crooks, Paul Hyatt, Morton Mandell, Arrell Reinking, Cab Waller, Johnny Edgar, Fred C. Weissell, Jr., and many others who have won renown in outboard racing circles.



HOW THE MOTORISTS WILL TRAVEL TO THE OAKMONT REGATTA COURSE

Plenty of Thrills In Store for Boat Fans

Jimmy Altman, New Kensington, because of his skill and experience, is rated as having a good chance to capture the trophy. His yellow racer, in rehearsals last Sunday, revealed surprising bursts of speed and he is a daring, resourceful driver, unafraid of the abrupt turns.

The United States Customs will be in charge of patrolling the river, it became known today. Maj. W. D. Styer, United States Army engineer here, aboard the customs boat Monongahela, will see that the Allegheny River is kept clear of obstructions during the two-day event.

Last-hour arrangements for the regatta centered on caring for the huge crowd which is expected. Roads leading to the scene without passing through Pittsburgh or loading the few routes between this city and Oakmont were indicated, and plans for care of the crowd on both banks of the river detailed.

REGATTA FREE

A limited number of seats will be available for guests of the Sun-Telegraph and Oakmont Boat Club, and private individuals are erecting additional sections of seats for sale to cover the cost of their undertaking, but the regatta is free to the general public, and a complete view of the two-day rac-

Soon There'll Be Stamp for Sunday Drivers

By ARTHUR (BUGS) BAER

The duck shooters of America must buy a gander stamp from Jim Farley. They cost one dollar a shooter.

Business is so good that Jim is cancelling stamps with scatter guns.

All this artistic stamp business started with Whistler's mother. She was old, but a decided improvement on Andrew Jackson.

Soon there will be a stamp for Sunday drivers, good for one trip through the windshield.

The government has developed a taste for pasting stickers on everything. Dillinger is carrying ten thousand dollars' worth of postage right now.

The next beautiful view ahead will be a testimonial stamp showing the Democrats carrying the fall elections.

Author to Speak On Russia Tonight

Two talks on Russia will be made at the Y. M. & W. H. A., Bellefield avenue, tonight at a meeting sponsored by Friends of the Soviet Union. One of the speakers is George A. Burrell, author of the book, "An American Engineer Looks at Soviet Russia." The other is Leonard Grunet, who has just returned from a trip to Russia.

Walter Winchell ON BROADWAY

Incident-ly

How odd that my great joy should come of pain,
And dampened lashes, sob beside my ear,
Quivering lips, more sobs, and then a tear.
I'd love to live that moment once again,
For tho' you've laughed and some impassioned sighs
Have shown your heart is not of tempered steel,
It took warm falling tears to make you real
And taught me more than I'd guess otherwise.

It was your tears which first unlatched your heart,
And showed me all my efforts were not vain.
So I had proudly set myself apart
My pride, my honor, lifted to their peak
But dear, I hope that if you cry, again,
You will not leave mascara on my cheek.

—Sparrow.

Quiteso, Quiteso

A. H. Johnson, of New York, observed our recent comment that in most West Coast deliveries they do not peddle beer.

"Of course not," he chuckles. "Hollywood has a monopoly on it!"

Merciless Fact

Jules Levine reports that a friend once asked Charles Lamb if he knew a certain person he had ridiculed in print.

"Know him?" sighed Lamb. "Of course. I don't know him. I never could hate anyone I knew!"

Very Likely

And Tony Schoenhoff, of Minneapolis, notices that Dillinger has finally been heard from again, at South Bend. The last time before that was April 23.

"Now we know," observes Tony, "how long it took John to read 'Anthony Adverse'!"

By Way of Report

For the first time in racing history, it appears, the ancient cry of the bookmakers (that they are losing money) is true. It figures this way: There are approximately 100 bookies. The "nut" for each, every day, is about $250. This makes a grand total of $25,000 per day for all of them, or $150,000 per week.

Any chump can tell you that that makes $600,000 a month for their operating expenses, and in five months of racing every year around New York, the gamblers will have to win three million dollars to just break even! Those of you who have lost coin on the nag called "Okay, Winchell!" can laugh, but loud.

Nifties

By Olin Miller: So many "arrive" on others' backs . . . Life begins tomorrow — whether you're 40, 15 or 59! . . . "A newspaper writer should avoid reference to anything he doesn't understand," asserts an author, who doesn't understand newspaper writers . . . But how can you avoid ending a sentence with "with" when there's no other word you can end it with? . . . "What is the man in the street thinking?" asks an editor. Probably nothing which an editor can publish! . . . An editorial writer says "Nothing is impossible!" . . . Say, mister—did you ever try to pawn a bridge prize? . . . Why do women, on being kissed, close their eyes? . . . Go look in a mirror.

The Retort Proper

In "The Shining Hour," when one of the cast said to Raymond Massey:

"I have always been ungrateful and rotten to you," Massey replied: "Not rotten — just young."

Form of Criticism

"Just a line," writes Jack Linx, "to offer my description of Broadway. It is the place where you meet someone from back home that you didn't like, and you like him!"

Oop!

Buffalo newspapermen are employed by the city of Buffalo to write a history of the city, and while going through newspaper files, ran across a good columnist nearly 100 years ago. The following paragraph is from April 21, 1835. It is titled: "Things I Hate" and follows:

A woman riding a stage with seven bandboxes and a squalling infant—a dull razor when I am in a hurry—a long call when I'm busy—dinner a half hour late—the fumbling of a beginner over piano keys—advice from people I consider fools.

In Case You Didn't Know

In Boston they say of a visitor: "Has he manners?" . . . In Philadelphia: "Who's his family, important?" . . . In Chicago: "So, what?" . . . In Detroit: "Is he clever?" . . . In Los Angeles: "Well?" . . . In San Francisco: "Has he charm?" . . . In Hollywood: "How much has he?" . . . In New York: "Let's get it."

Hint

Seen by B. Featherstone under situations wanted in a New York want ad column:

"I cannot sing, dance or speak good English, but want job acting, etc.—Ilay Schneider, 154 Rivington St."

Avon's Bard Chicago's Big Hit

By GEORGE SEIBEL

It seems that Shakespeare, by way of Pittsburgh, has captured Chicago. One of the sensationally successful features of that Century of Progress is the English Village, with its Globe Theater modeled after the one in which Shakespeare was part owner, actor and chief playwright. In this reproduction of the old Globe, as it was built in 1599, a company directed by Pittsburghers and recruited mainly from students of Carnegie Tech Drama School, presents Shakespearean plays in abridged form, every hour.

Mr. Seibel

The repertoire includes "The Taming of the Shrew," "The Comedy of Errors," "A Midsummer Night's Dream," "Julius Caesar," etc.

The directors are Theodore Viehman and Thomas Wood Stevens, who were first assisted by B. Iden Payne. And in the company are Carl Benton Reid, Jackson Perkins, Donald Gallagher, John A. Willard, Martha Ellen Scott, Joseph Curtain, Bert Tannewell, Irene Tedrow, Russell Spindler, Rhys Williams, Boris Aplon, Philip Coolidge, Thomas B. Gorman, Elsie Dvorak, Ray Jones, Thomas Fisher, Joseph Calloway, Peter Martin and Andrew Cruikshank.

SHAW'S NEW PLAY

While Shakespeare has been conquering Chicago, Bernard Shaw has gone home to Dublin and scored a success. "On the Rocks," presented at the Abbey Theater by the Irish Players, appears to be another political argument—but who can make a political argument more interesting than St. Bernard?

F. J. McCormick, whom many consider the finest tragedian of the British Isles, has the part of a conservative British Prime Minister, with revolutionary inclinations but bourgeois courage. Barry Fitzgerald, most amusing of comedians, plays a sly Cockney laborer who rises to dictatorship. Eileen Crowe, who is Mrs. McCormick, plays the role of Miss Brollikins, which rhymes with Frollikins.

Shaw, as is his custom, demolishes society and the government in his new play, and leaves everything "On the Rocks," with very vague hints of some happy Utopia in the rosy clouds of tomorrow morning.

The Abbey Players have recently brought out another play that seems to have created a deep impression—"Bridgehead," by Rutherford Mayne. It deals with the land hunger of the Irish peasantry and the red tape of ramrod officials.

LUNTS ON THEIR FARM

Just to make sure that the new Noel Coward play, "Port Balaine," is fit for Broadway babes to see, I have written to Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne suggesting that they bring it to Pittsburgh before they take it to New York. Many of the Lunt-Fontanne successes have started from here, and Pittsburgh is for that reason one of their favorite towns.

Just at present they are on their farm in Wisconsin, where Lynn is feeding the chickens and Alfred is painting the fence. They have not applied to the government for any farm relief funds for plowing under any of their crops. But then it must be remembered that they saw the new deal in Russia, where distribution and not destruction is the program of the government.

Miss Fontanne saw a production of "Camille" in Russian which gave her a high opinion of Russian dramatic ideals. She says there is no such thing in Russia as a part being written for an actor. The actor must measure up to the part.

One is permitted to wonder whether Noel Coward has followed this rule in writing "Port Balaine."

Swim Race On Screen

Pictures of the leading events in the National A. A. U. water championships at the Century of Progress in Chicago are contained in the current issue of Hearst Metrotone News with descriptions by The Globe Trotter. Jack Medica, Washington University sophomore, amazes the crowd by beating his rivals by 100 yards in the mile swim, breaking the world's record by over eight seconds.

A group of Army fliers brave the treacherous air currents of the Grand Canyon to gather data for the 7,000-mile flight to Alaska to be held this month. A Hearst Metrotone News Cameraman accompanies them.

Postmaster General Farley and Secretary Ickes get the first sheets of new "See America First" postage stamps. The issue shows a beautiful reproduction of El Capitan in Yosemite.

In Bardstown, Ky., at the house in which Stephen Collins Foster write "My Old Kentucky Home," hundreds gather to honor the memory of the author.

New York beaches are enjoying the greatest season in several years and pictures show how crowds are entertained.

Note—Owing to the necessity upon theater managers to arrange programs in time schedules, it is possible some subjects of Hearst Metrone News may not be shown in your theater.

PLAYS AND PLAYERS

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

Next Tuesday and Wednesday Pittsburgh Civic Playhouse audiences will have the privilege of seeing the first American production of a play by Ferenc Molnar, noted Europe playwright, whose "Liliom," "The Play's the Thing" and "The Good Fairy" have all been enjoyed in Pittsburgh. "The Lawyer" is the title of the Molnar play that the Civic Playhouse will present for two nights next week in the Arnold School, where its current offering, "The Green Bay Tree," is demonstrating that Robert Gill, in the leading role, is a real actor. "The Lawyer" is described as a satire on the legal profession. It is an extra production not in the subscription group of plays, the third of which will be Paul Osborn's "Oliver Oliver," the week of July 23.

Charles Hutchinson, for years treasurer of the Ringling and Barnum & Bailey Circus, will be buried in New York Saturday. His death followed an illness of three months, ending probably the last lineal connection of the present "Greatest Show on Earth" with the circus that originally carried that boast, and in which the proprietary interests were held by Barnum, Bailey and Hutchinson. Charles Hutchinson was a nephew of the late James A. Bailey, whom P. T. Barnum made a partner as a means of getting rid of him as a competitor in the circus business.

"Winesburg, Ohio," play made from the book by Sherwood Anderson, and which has been on the tentative production list of the Theater Guild, was recently given a tryout in the Hedgerow Theater, community playhouse in Philadelphia, with Libby Holman as a member of the cast. Mr. Anderson and Arthur Barton made the dramatization. One opinion was that at present, although interesting, it is too episodic, but that, with expert editing, it could be made into a better play.

Double Feature Bill

Mary Boland has a leading role in "Here Comes the Groom," comedy in Warner bill that also includes Jack Holt in "Whirlpool."

Hostesses Now Check Claims of Royalty

By JIMMY STARR

HOLLYWOOD, July 12.—Hello! With royalty, nobility, near-royalty and fake royalty either entrenched in Hollywood or casting an eye filmward, the flicker capital today is checking its titled and subtitled visiting list, careful investigation disclosed.

Hostesses and producers have played "patsies" in the past for royalty rackets, with only entertainment expense accounts, a few rubber checks and some laughs to show their hospitality.

Short, short story—

A frantic mother aroused the Culver City police. Ten-year-old Johnny Beloc had been sent to the butcher shop. Five hours later he had not returned home.

Johnny had passed the Pathe Studio on his way to the market. He had overheard that a small boy was needed for a role in "Peck's Bad Boy." In fact, Jackie Searl had been talking to the gateman when Johnny came by.

The gateman had "snatched" Johnny for his movie debut.

Get ready, backbones — here come the spooks!

Tod Browning's directorial knack for creating hysteria has again been enlisted by M-G-M. He is returning to the lot, where he megaphoned many of the Lon Chaney thrillers, and will put the chills in "The Paradise Murder Case."

The mere presence of Browning on the lot causes studio workmen to begin building cobwebs!

Kolker Given Role In 'Serenade'

The role of the emperor in "Serenade," the Sol M. Wurtzel production now in work at Fox, has been assigned to Henry Kolker.

LOEW DIVISION SHIFTS

Two Loew division managers, well known in Pittsburgh, are prominently mentioned in a series of shifts and promotions announced today by J. R. Vogel, general manager of the Loew Theater chain. They are H. M. Addison, former manager of the Penn here, and Col. Harry Long, manager of the division which includes Pittsburgh, with headquarters in Washington.

Addison, who left here a few years ago to become Cleveland district manager, is shifted from the Ohio territory to Boston, where he takes over the duties of W. A. Downs, district manager there. Downs becomes a district manager in New York on the staff of C. C. Moskowitz.

Col. Long will succeed Addison in Cleveland, and Long's old post will be filled by Carter Barron, who has been city manager of the Loew theaters in Washington. Both Long and Addison rose from the ranks of theater managers to their present division executives capacities, and their latest shifts are regarded as promotions for all concerned, a move that continues the Loew policy of promoting from within the organization.

Long was raised to division manager in his territory, when W. A. Finney was shifted to the mid-western territory, with headquarters in Columbus, a few years ago. Today's announcement also contained the information that Jack Simons had been sent to Loew's Poli in Hartford, news of which was carried exclusively in this space yesterday.

"IT COULDN'T HAPPEN"

This, my friends, is another of those "put it in the movies and they wouldn't believe it" stories. It was written by that master tale teller of them all, Jack Lait, and, as it has a theatrical tinge and is human interest "copy" of the first order, I set it down here as Jack told it in the New York Evening Journal.

Jack warmed up to his yarn by saying that Joan Sawyer, once one of the most glamorous dancing pets of the stage world, is now the sedate wife of a Hamilton, O., millionaire. Although she is now "a genius at keeping herself out of print," Lait discovered that she has shown up in Miami where she bought the Hutton's palatial deep-sea yacht.

The real story goes like this:

"The same day that my Miami Mati Hari tipped me on the presence there of Joan, a ragged bum came to my door. The prim and prissy young person who acts as Cerberus at the main entrance to where I toil, came in with her nose in the air and said, 'I don't guess you want to see that bozo. He says his name is Jack Jarrett and you know him—well, they all say that.'

ONCE A GENTLEMAN

"I looked at her, a young and probably reasonably romantic girl, and wondered—wondered how she would have felt had she been at that door 20 years ago and Jack Jarrett had called. Her heart would have bounced against her Adam's apple.

"She would have known the name—everyone did then. And she would have seen a fascinating, handsome, athletic, immaculate young gentleman, charmer and star. Jarrett was at one time Joe Sawyer's dancing partner (or rather she was his) when he was the thrill of New York, London and Chicago—Jack Jarrett, the 'Alabama Kid,' who originated the fox-trot and the Texas Tommy, who became an international sensation when he sprung these dances in a levee dive in Chicago and went on to fame, to fortune—and to hell.

"Jarrett now tells me that luring Josephine Howard was what made him a tramp, a dope-fiend and a public and private pest. Joe Howard was probably as beautiful a woman as I have ever in my whole life seen. She aired a duke to team up on and off with Jarrett, and they danced and romanced to high triumphs and ecstasies.

PERFECT SCREEN PLOT

"But, in Chicago, she met Arthur Greiner, former automobile racer, aristocrat, sportsman of the whole globe, and, I think, the handsomest man my eyes have ever beheld. She met Greiner and she was lost. She married Greiner. To see Art and Joe walk into the College Inn was a picture to live forever in your memory.

"But Arthur died of a malady which took him rapidly and tragically. And Joe married a British war hero, Maj. Campbell, who had brought down the first German Zep that cast a cloud over London, and she died in childbirth. Jarrett says he has 'come back.' He says he did six months in a rehabilitation camp, was discharged as cured and is off the stuff forever. I hope so."

If Jarrett comes all the way back to a reasonable position of respectability and perhaps a place in the theater world, the perfect motion picture plot will have been completed. Hollywood sends forth many pictures carrying "It just couldn't happen" labels, yet the next time I see one I'm sure I'll remember the story of Jack Jarrett.

Perhaps some of those "highly improbable" screen yarns aren't as ridiculously incredible as they often seem.

Odds and Ends

YOU CAN take my word for the fact that it actually took place in the City of New York the other afternoon. The gentleman walked up to the information desk and said he had to see one of the bosses. And so confident and impressive was his manner that there was no question of sidetracking him to an assistant.

Once in the president's office, he got down to business.

"Mr. S.," he began, "you are in the beauty parlor game. I think you have about 35 departments. They are well appointed, and the fixtures and creams and implements are of the very latest and best. But no woman really enjoys herself while in your care—nor, for that matter, in any other beauty shop.

"And why? Because the noise of the drying machines, the clatter of the manicurists' clippers, the banging of the permanent wave machines set the customer on edge instead of relaxing her."

Mr. S. nodded.

"That's true," he agreed. "But what are we going to do about it?"

The visitor drew his chair a little closer.

"Mr. S.," he continued earnestly, "I have a sure-fire method of eliminating every bit of noise in your departments. It's very valuable—and it's very secret. Would it be worth one million dollars to you to have my noise-destroying device installed and to have your departments different from all others in the world?"

"Well," said Mr. S., "that's a great deal of money. But if your invention can do all you say, it might possibly be worth that much. We cannot make a deal, of course, until I have had a demonstration. You know you can trust me, else you wouldn't have come. Why not show me your invention?"

The inventor lowered his voice.

"I don't have to show you, sir," he said thrillingly, "I can tell you. Mr. S., my plan is this

"Install a five-piece orchestra in every one of your beauty departments—and the sound of the music will completely drown out the noise!" . . .

TWO layoffs, standing in front of the Palace Theater for the past year, decided to take the bull by the horns the other morning. They walked into the office of a booker in the Palace Building and nailed him at his desk.

"Listen, you," said the head man of the team, "we've been laying off in front of the Palace now for almost a year. We're tired of it. We're two fine vaudeville actors and we wanna go to work. We wanna know the answer right now. Are you going to give us a job—or ain't you?"

"I'm sorry," said the booker. "But there's nothing I can do right now."

The head man banged the desk.

"That settles it," he cried angrily. "We're through. We're tired of you and your whole organization. Beginning this afternoon, we're gonna walk down and lay off in front of the State Theater!" . . .

SPEAKING of actors out of work, Molly Picon's favorite yarn deals with a Jewish actor who once earned $500 a week on the Yiddish stage. Things grew very tough, however, and last winter found him accepting a part for $25 a week.

He stepped into the Royal Cafe, on Second avenue, after the show one night, and an acquaintance began to bait him.

"I don't understand this," said the annoyer. "You once got $500 a week, and now you work for $25. What's the idea?"

"Well," replied the actor, "$25 a week is not a bad salary these days. And you mustn't overlook one big point. In the second act, I eat two salami sandwiches!"

SOME years back, when George M. Cohan was playing an engagement in Chicago, he was sitting in his hotel room one night after a performance. With him were two actors who were playing in the same attraction.

The phone rang. It was Joe Frisco, the stuttering comedian, who asked if he might spend an hour or so with George. Cohan told him to come right up. Frisco did so, and was introduced to the other two actors.

They all gabbed for awhile, and then Frisco went into a rather long story. He addressed himself to Cohan and, when he was finished, he turned around to discover that the other two men had gone to sleep. Frisco burned.

"Are t-t-those t-t-wo fellers in your s-s-show?" he asked.

That's right," replied George.

Frisco gazed at the sleeping actors.

"T-t-then t-t-tell me s-s-something," he requested. "Are t-t-they as c-c-clever on stage as t-t-they are off?" . . .

Ominous Words Prevent Director's Return

By LLOYD PANTAGES

HOLLYWOOD, July 12.—Word comes from English Mata Hari that CYRIL GARDNER, author and director, STILL would like to be COMING back to the Americas, BUT still won't on account of HE is the GENTLEMAN who, when he first set sail from Hollywood to dear old Lannon was told by a SEER OR PSYCHIC or some other BOLOGNE artist, that when he arrived his MOTHER AND FATHER would both DIE and that should he EVER return here he would DIE en route. Unfortunately for MR. G. the PSYCHIC was right, for his PARENTS both passed away the MOMENT he reached the other side, and now he feels the CURSE is SO completely on him that he is afraid to ever return.

PEGGY PEARS the BEAUTIFUL little LADY now about to GIVE HER HIPTRONICS to the Fox Company, is going through the USUAL PHYSICAL change that Hollywood seems to DEMAND of all it's players REGARDLESS of how BEAUTIFUL they may be from SCRATCH. At the mo' PEGGY HAS suffered THROUGH an eyebrow LIFT consisting of YANKING out the UNDER hairs nearest the eyelid and a HENNA pack, which has further enhanced the beauty of her already FAMOUS crowning glory. Just WHAT will they be doing NEXT I wouldn't be knowing but seems as how EVERYBODY'S face has to be set along a STANDARD Pattern, she will probably EMERGE as a GARBO or a HEPBURN before they finish with her.

YODLER'S NOTES: DICK POWELL, whose VOICE is practically TOO wonderful on the screen, has an even BETTER voice for the giving out of OPERATIC airs than we, the patient gewbits, have YET had the opportunity to hear. RICHARD, in the FUTURE, will do an odd bit of CONCERT work just to PROVE the theory, and at the MOMENT is devoting his EVERY noon hour to SINGING lessons of the PAGLIACCI variety. All of which is very FINE for us, but VERY tough on the writers, who share a building next to MR. POWELL'S dressing room and ATTEMPT to concentrate while he is YELLING.

Believe it or no, the following ACTUALLY happened, at least, ACCORDING TO W. C. FIELDS. MR. FIELDS was sitting QUIETLY in a shallow stream in a BOAT OF COURSE, attempting to fool the elusive TROUTIES with a very long line. He took off with a TREMENDOUS cast which landed in a BUSH on the bank instead of the stream and WHEN he pulled it out he had HOOKED a rabbit instead of a TROUT. A little more wilier in skies please.

It would SEEM that when JEAN MUIR emerged from being a wallflower into an ACTORINE she started her thespian activities with the company presenting John Brinkwater's "A Bird in Hand," all of which gave her SUCH a hotpotato-in-the-mouth ENGLISH accent that when she moved to a stock company in Ohio, a fellow thespian, LYLE TALBOT said, "lady else'n you STOP dropping your H's your career will END practically where it started." SHE DID AND look at her NOW. Isn't it wonderful?

LUX TOILET SOAP
Sylvia Sidney PARAMOUNT STAR

SCREEN STARS are wise in the ways of loveliness! And thousands of clever girls all over the country are adopting Hollywood's beauty care to guard against unattractive Cosmetic Skin—keep their complexions exquisite.

Have you seen warning signals of this distressing modern complexion trouble — enlarged pores, tiny blemishes, dullness—blackheads, perhaps?

Cosmetics Harmless if removed this way

Cosmetics need not harm even delicate skin unless they are allowed to choke the pores. Many a girl who thinks she removes cosmetics thoroughly actually leaves bits of stale rouge and powder in the pores day after day. When this happens, the pores gradually become clogged, distended—unable to function normally—Cosmetic Skin develops.

Lux Toilet Soap is made to remove cosmetics thoroughly. Its rich, ACTIVE lather sinks deeply into the pores, carries swiftly away every vestige of dust, dirt, stale cosmetics. Before you apply fresh make-up during the day, and ALWAYS before you go to bed at night, use this gentle white soap to protect your skin—keep it beautiful. You want the loveliness that makes a girl attractive to everyone who sees her!

Come Out Tomorrow and Have a Big Day of Fun

150 OR MORE STARTERS ASSURED FOR REGATTA

SPORTS COMMENT BY HARRY KECK

What Regatta Means.
Room for Water Sports.
Project Hailed.
Yarosz Watched.
Lefty Gomez' Case.
Loughran After Baer.

What will be the aftermath of the big speedboat meet which the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph and the Oakmont Boat Club are staging at Oakmont Saturday and Sunday afternoons?

There is only one answer. It will lead to the greatest revival imaginable in interest in water sports in the Pittsburgh district. Once the scene of many proud rowing regattas, a generation or two ago, this city has been lagging badly in making use of its natural advantages for sports and recreation on the three rivers.

It took this regatta, which is exceeding all expectations as to its immensity, to make the people of the district water conscious again, and there already is a huge and growing demand for river craft of all sorts, motorboats, yachts and canoes. The Oakmont Boat Club has doubled its membership since the first announcement of the regatta and other boat clubs, long dormant, are coming to life again all over the rivers and Pittsburgh gives every promise of developing into one of the greatest water sports centers in the country. Which is as it should be.

SPONSORSHIP IS PRAISED

A sample of the interest evoked by the Hearst Gold Cup regatta is contained in a letter to the editor of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph in response to an editorial which appeared last week, calling attention to the fact that this regatta was filling a long-felt need in the community. It comes from John M. Rice, consulting engineer of Pittsburgh, who writes:

"I wish to congratulate the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph upon the active position which it is taking in favoring a revival of water sports in the Pittsburgh district. I can recall in my childhood days the activities on the Allegheny, when scull racing was a favorite sport.

"I have, for many years, been studying the question of recreation in Allegheny County, and was greatly disappointed when the government engineers decided on a low level dam at Aspinwall instead of a high level dam which should give us a 17-mile stretch of water held at a constant elevation.

"I prepared a report upon the Squaw Run project for the Chamber of Commerce Recreation Committee, and hope that your publicity will succeed in again arousing interest in this project. No doubt, the proposed water sports next Saturday and Sunday will excite a great deal of interest and will help the cause along, and I also believe that the new Allegheny River boulevard, which is one of the most beautiful river drives that I have traveled on in this country, will tend to focus the public's attention to the desirability of water recreation.

"I am sure that this endeavor on your part will meet with widespread public approval and that in the future you will be proud to have sponsored this activity."

ENTRIES FROM FAR-FLUNG AREA

To say that the Sun-Telegraph and the Oakmont Boat Club are gratified by the response to their venture is to put it mildly. Most enterprises have small beginnings, but here is a maiden effort crowned with the success of an assured turnout of many thousands of sports lovers who will get their reward in two afternoons of exciting thrills and swamped with an entry list of drivers stretching from Massachusetts to Florida along the eastern coast and as far west as Michigan and Illinois. In fact, there are so many entries in the various events that it may be necessary to start as many as 25 or more drivers in a single heat. The officials will have a trying time, but they are well organized and hope to pull through without a single hitch.

The entries to date hail from Michigan, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Virginia, West Virginia, District of Columbia and Florida, and they include champions and former champions and record holders. It is doubtful if any first regatta ever held anywhere has approached this one in this respect, and the Sun-Telegraph is indeed, as Mr. Rice has so aptly put it in his letter, proud to have sponsored the event.

VETERAN TO PASS UPON YAROSZ

Critical eyes will be focussed upon Teddy Yarosz when he makes his bow in the Middle West against Tait Littman, of Milwaukee, in one of the all-star bouts on a benefit card at Wrigley Field, Chicago, next Wednesday night. Many matchmakers will be on hand to see him perform, and among them will be Tom Andrews, veteran boxing authority of Milwaukee, long famous as the compiler of the annual boxing records and as the American representative of the Australian arenas. Andrews has heard so much about the prowess of Monaca's favorite son that he has arranged to be there to see him perform and get a first-hand line on his talents, with a view to signing him for a Milwaukee engagement.

GOMEZ AND THE ALL-STAR GAMES

Last year Lefty Gomez started off the American League team on its way to a 4-2 victory over the National League team in the first major league all-star game at Chicago by gaining a 3-0 lead in the first three innings, in which he allowed only one hit. In this year's game, on Tuesday, he was hammered for four runs and three hits in the first three innings, leaving his team trailing 4-0, at the end of that time, although it eventually won, 9-7. Proving once again that you never can tell in advance about these all-star games. A single game hardly is a real test. The popularity of the feature, however, leaves no doubt that it will survive as an annual attraction. The fans want it, and so long as they are willing to pay for it in the major leagues will give it to them.

There has been some talk to the effect that the "dream game" idea eventually will develop into a three-game series, but this is not likely to be brought about, as it would conflict with the World Series and take away considerable of the glamor from the fall classics.

LOUGHRAN WOULD BOX BAER AGAIN

Tommy Loughran wants to fight Max Baer, the new heavyweight champion, whom he easily defeated when the Californian first came East a few years ago. This is to be expected in the light of the statement attributed to Tommy when he stepped off a boat from England the day of the recent Baer-Primo Carnera battle in which Baer won the title. Tommy, who shortly before had lost a 15-round bout with Carnera in Florida, said he hoped Baer would win because it would make the heavyweight class a better division with the freakishly large Carnera removed from the scene. He said:

"So long as Carnera remains champion, there will be little chance for average-sized heavyweights getting anywhere. Promoters will hesitate to match them with him. Get a normal-sized champion in there and watch the competition develop. I would have beaten Carnera except that he was too big and too heavy."

VIGNETTES OF SPORTS

The race of the year may develop if Cavalcade, Discovery and Peace Chance all go to the post, as scheduled, in the Arlington Classic at Chicago on Saturday . . . Cavalcade is all that his name implies, and the season's rivalry among this trio should be settled definitely in this race . . . A reader inquires about the makeup of the National Professional Football League for the coming season. There is only one change, the Portsmouth (O.) franchise having been transferred to Detroit . . . The other teams are Pittsburgh, New York, Brooklyn, Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago Cardinals, Chicago Bears, Green Bay and Cincinnati.

M'LARNIN GETS SECOND SHOT AT ROSS

NEW YORK, July 12.—(AP.)—Jimmy McLarnin, who has never failed to whip, in a second attempt, the few fighters who managed to beat him the first time out, is going to get another chance at Barney Ross, the lightweight champion, who took over the slugging Irishman's welterweight crown.

The match, again considered a natural in view of the battle the pair put up in Madison Square Garden Bowl last month, was made yesterday for September 6. The site has not been selected, but the 15-round bout probably will be held in one of the major league ball parks or in the Bowl, where incidentally no champion has ever successfully defended his title.

TERMS THE SAME

The terms will be the same as in the first fight except that Ross will get the champion's share of the purse and McLarnin will be allowed to come in at 147 pounds, the welterweight limit. In their first bout he agreed to make 145 pounds and weighed in at three pounds less. Before approving the fight the New York State Athletic Commission stipulated that Ross must defend his lightweight title against Tony Canzoneri within 60 days. This Ross agreed to do.

Two other champions were notified that it was time for them to swing into action against recognized challengers, while another would-be title contender, Enzo Fiermonte, was as firmly told that he didn't belong in such swift company.

Fiermonte, youthful Italian husband of the former Mrs. John Jacob Astor, has been matched with Maxie Rosenbloom for a light-heavyweight title match this summer, but the second refusal of the commission to take him seriously apparently ended the matter.

MAXIE GIVEN CHOICE

Rosenbloom, deprived of his first big chance for contact with society, was ordered to choose between Georgia Joe Knight and Bob Olin, of New York, and sign to meet either within 30 days.

Vince Dundee, middleweight champion, similarly was given 30 days in which to sign for a title defense against Teddy Yarosz, of Pittsburgh, recognized here as his outstanding challenger.

CHOCOLATE BEATEN

NEW YORK, July 12.—(AP.)—Kid Chocolate, just a dusky husk of the greatest Negro warrior the prize ring has seen in the past decade, came close to the end of the trail last night when he dropped a 10-round decision to Petey Hayes, an obscure featherweight from Brooklyn, in a show that drew 8,000 to the National League ball park in Brooklyn.

Hayes, scarcely known outside the metropolitan precincts, won a unanimous decision after flooring the one-time Black Jewel of the Antilles twice in the third round and sending him reeling to his corner at the end of almost every round thereafter.

Chocolate, retired featherweight champion, the spectacular Cuban "Keed" who foug t them all, from Tony Canzoneri, Jackie (Kid) Berg, Al Singer and Bat Battalino down, had little or nothing to offer in the way of resistance. Only the fact that Hayes is known for his doggedness rather than his punch let the little Negro remain to the finish.

Cecil Smith Out Of Polo Title Play

NEW YORK, July 12.—(AP.)—Cecil Smith, of Austin, Tex., one of the country's three 10-goal polo players, is suffering from an attack of sinus trouble which has so affected his eyes that he may not play in the National Junior championships, starting at the Rumson (N. J.) Country Club Saturday.

The hard-riding Texan, also slated to lead the West into action against the East in September, has been confined to a dark room in his home at Westbury for the last two weeks. He was able to be out today with dark glasses over his eyes, but his physician has advised against him playing in the Junior championships. Smith is a member of the all-Austin (Tex.) team.

Golf Stars Stage St. Paul Exhibition

ST. PAUL, Minn., July 12.—(AP.)—An exhibition match in which three nationally known male stars will play with two well-known women stars will provide a prelude today to the $5,000 St. Paul open golf tournament.

Tourney officials announced the fivesome would include Harry Cooper, Olin Dutra, Horton Smith, Miss Helen Hicks, feminine star recently turned professional, and Mrs. Austin Pardue, Minnesota's leading woman golfer.

PRO DRIVERS OUTNUMBER AMATEURS

By HARRY KECK.
Sports Editor.

One hundred and fifty to more drivers will face the starter in the various events of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph-Oakmont Boat Club outboard motor boat regatta in the Allegheny River at Oakmont on Saturday and Sunday afternoons.

The entry list this morning totaled close to 125 and there was every indication that it would increase steadily with post entries being received up to the time the regatta officially opens.

Some of the drivers already are on the scene among them the crew of Rutgers College of New Brunswick, N. J., which arrived unannounced and unentered and began working out over the course. The big influx will come tomorrow, when the course will be the scene of feverish activity as last-minute details are arranged.

Following are the latest entries received:

AMATEUR

Dan Frazier, Rockwood, W., A, B, C and F classes.
Ed McKeown, Arlington, N. J., Class B.
Arthur Washburn, Columbus, O., A and B classes.
John C. Pickett, Brooklyn, Class F.

PROFESSIONAL

Don Thomson, Cincinnati, Class C.
J. W. Peel, Newburgh, N. Y., Class F.
George Wilcox, South Bend, Ind., Classes A, B, C and F.
Maynard Frazier, Rockwood, W., Classes B, C and F.
Richard H. Whitaker, Media, Pa., Classes B, C and F.
Everett Simpson, Audubon, N. J., Classes C and F.

The professional drivers outnumber the amateurs on a ratio of about two to one, being lured here by the attractive purses hung up for them. The awards are $100, $60, $40 and $25 for the first four in each race, split on a two-heat basis. The amateurs receive valuable merchandise awards for the first six places and the winner of the most points in all the amateur divisions takes home with him the beautiful William Randolph Hearst Gold Cup, now on display at Kaufmann's.

Cal Meloon, of Orlando, Fla., the driver coming the greatest distance to race, arrived last night with his wife and children and reported in at the Oakmont Boat Club.

S. HILLS NINE LOSES, 13-3

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa., July 12.—One more victory tonight in the second game of the series and the New Kensington American Legion junior baseball team will have the section crown safely stowed away and be ready for further competition for the state title.

The locals defeated the South Hills Legionaires, of Pittsburgh, Allegheny County champions, 13 to 3, here last evening in the first game of what is scheduled for a best-out-of-three series. Sokol, on the slab for the locals, turned in a fine performance, while his mates hit Treloar freely, getting 14 safe blows. Four runs were chalked up in the first inning, enough to win the game.

Orr, at short for South Hills, connected for two safe blows to lead his team's weak five-hit attack. The second game of the series will be played this evening at Dormont. The score:

HEARST SWIM ENTRY HEAVY

By STEVE HEALEY
Universal Service.

CHICAGO, July 12.—Contestants in the William Randolph Hearst, Herald and Examiner $10,000 15-mile open swim marathon, and the closed five-mile event for women are arriving here from the four points of the compass.

The $5,000 top prize in the open 15-mile marathon has been the magnet that has attracted the greatest number of national and international stars that have ever competed in an event of this kind in the United States.

Long distance travel seems to be no hindrance to the entrants. Arvenna, Italy, is the home of the European champion, Giani Gambi, and he has made the trip here for the sole purpose of entering the competition scheduled July 22.

Paris, France sends Joe Marty, French champion and holder of the record for the swim across the Seine river.

NET NOTABLES NAMED AIDES FOR SUN-TELEGRAPH TOURNEY

115 ALREADY IN LINE FOR PARKS PLAY

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN

Names notable in district net annals will grace the roster of committeemen in charge of individual parks tourneys comprising preliminary action in the annual Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph Pittsburgh Parks tennis championships, getting under way next Tuesday on the courts of Schenley, Highland, Frick, Olympia, West, North and South parks. Five youthful racquet devotees were appointed yesterday to battle facilities at Schenley, Highland, Frick, Olympia and South, and 'tis probable that before today passes nominations for the West and North points will be made.

Billy O'Loughlin, youngest of the famed P. A. A. trio that has made history hereabouts the past decade or more, will handle the Schenley reins. At Frick will be Johnny Snowden, brother of the late Andy Snowden, whose efforts in behalf of municipal tennis were outstanding up to and including the successful 1933 tournament, of which he was chairman hardly a week prior to his untimely death. Joe O'Connor will officiate at Highland while Gerald Maloney, powerful Mt. Lebanon driver, is slated for South leadership, and Dick Creighton, Mt. Washington luminary, will care for the Olympia assignment.

KEEP ENTRY OPEN

With the total enrollment of players reaching the 115 mark last evening, there comes announcement that the entry lists in both the men's and women's divisions will be kept open till noon on Saturday instead of tomorrow evening, as originally planned. The special entry blank printed daily on the Sun-Telegraph sports page will, however, register its final appearance in tomorrow's editions.

South Park stole a clear lead on all rivals for top entrance honors yesterday. The County preserve now boasts 23 masculine contenders and three feminine aspirants. West is still well to the fore in the women's singles with a coterie of seven, who, with 16 man-to-man delegates, comprise an aggregate of 23 to place the lower North Side bailiwick second only to South. North has 13 men and three women to deadlock Frick with 15 and one. Schenley's group numbers 14, of whom but one is of the fair sex, while Highland's 11 entrants likewise flash but a single racquetress. Olympia continues to trail the field, the Hilltoppers offering only nine combatants and these being men without exception.

Among Wednesday's quota of 33 entries were a host of capable players. Chief of the throng was Mrs. Jean Artzberger, captor of Steel City Parks women's title honors in 1930, 1931, 1932, and 1933. Mrs. Artzberger's alignment with the feminine troupe has been delayed due to her absence from town. Her addition to the competing force lends further strength to an already talented array in the women's singles section. She has filed for West Park, which also drew Margaret Stenger, another likely newcomer of yesterday. Marion Klein, McKeesport girl and one of the most promising stars of the district's younger galaxy, entered at South.

BEILSTEIN ENTERS

Ralph Beilstein, brother of Karl and always a dangerous pursuer of North Side honors, joined up at West and Curtis Stone, clever Perry High School youth, cast lot with North. Irvin Sobel followed his slashing brother George to the Frick domain, and Dick Creighton will battle as player-boss at Olympia.

Attempt will be made to complete festivities in the individual parks by Saturday, July 21. The Inter-Park Elimination Series, wherein men's and women's victors in the preliminary tussling will tangle in title tilting at Frick and South, will be reeled off the following week. Quarter-final and semi-final Inter-Park matches may be moved ahead a day to Wednesday and Thursday, July 25 and 26, with Friday the twenty-seventh to be held open in case of rain. Final struggles for the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph Challenge Trophies and right to travel as Pittsburgh representatives and Sun-Telegraph guests to the National Public Parks championships at Minneapolis from August 13 to 19 will be held on Saturday, July 26, on the gallery rectangles of Frick Park.

To the Sports Editor:

It seems like every time I pick up a paper I read where John D. Rockefeller is celebrating a birthday. But I guess the only thing that shows is that the years go pretty fast. Ninety-five is a ripe old age. Just think a person born now will not be 95 years old until the year 2028. A lot is going to happen before that. Of course every generation thinks the next one is going to be the "most interesting," but I reckon at that that the next 25 to 50 years will make good reading. Regards,

MADDEN, BALD HEAD JUNIOR NET FIELD

Defending Champion Ralph Bald, of Rockwood, and Bob Madden, ace of Pitt's freshmen and the University Club, head a large field of aspirants to 18-year-old honors of the annual Western Pennsylvania junior and boys' tennis championships, beginning on the University of Pittsburgh courts next Monday and continuing for some three days thereafter. Co-Chairman Bob Grier has announced that other stars of the Junior firmament will include Jimmy Arensberg and Allerton Miller, Shady Side Academy performers; Ray McCulligan, Duke Prep southpaw; Bobby Brown, Mount Lebanon driver, and Bill Fay, 1933 West Penn Boys' premier.

Harry Zink, clever Steubenville lad and '33 runner-up, and Bobby Bald, talented brother of Ralph, top the 15-year-old delegation to date.

GRIER IN CHARGE

Entries for the classic will be received by Co-Chairman Grier until noon on Saturday. He may be telephoned during the day at Atlantic 1375 or in the evening at Lehigh 5863-J. His address is 146 Woodhaven drive, Mount Lebanon. Grier will be assisted in conducting the event by his Rockwood team-mate, Harold Hatch, and by Ralph Massey, Stanton Heights racqueter.

Invitations are out for the new Western New York clay court championships to be staged on the rectangles of the Eastview Tennis Club, Jamestown, N. Y., from July 23 to 29. Pittsburghers vacationing at Chautauqua are especially urged by Secretary George Pitts to compete in the coming conclave. Men's, women's and junior singles and doubles will be sponsored and there is likelihood that girls' singles and doubles and mixed doubles will be added. Address entries to George B. Pitts, Jr., secretary-treasurer, 13 East Third street, Jamestown, N. Y.

MATCHES POSTPONED

Drs. Dave and John O'Loughlin, 1933 victors, will meet Neal Rumsey and E. A. Knoche, crack Stanton pair, and Eddie Alcorn and Russ Unger, Mount Lebanon stars, will engage Joe Madden and Bobby Grier, youthful Pitt-Westminster combination, in quarter-final features of today's program of action in the third annual Fox Chapel invitation turf court men's doubles net tournament.

Other contests will bring together the Bob Schmertz-Howard Burgwin outfit with the Blair Childs-L. W. Bughman array and the Don Snyder-Tack Hammer duo with McCook Reed and Andy Black. Additional matches in the bracket of eight will be played tomorrow, with semi-finals scheduled for Saturday and the final Sunday. Rain washed out yesterday's card.

Gilbert Keating's clever Pittsburgh contingent has dismissed the Amber Street Club atop the standings in the East End Twilight Tennis League by virtue of a 3-0 triumph over the erstwhile pace-setters in the week's tussles just completed. With but one more session of the round robin to be staged, the position of the new leaders seems fairly secure, for in their remaining fracas they will encounter Westinghouse, the tail-ender, while their chief rivals engage the First Baptist Club, which in an early contest registered the lone setback administered Fifty-Shady. The summaries:

Fifth Shady 3—Amber Street 0.
Doubles: Kinsley and Kinsley defeated Gilbert and Keating, 6-4, 6-3; Charles Darrock and Ralph Massey defeated Wesley and Wesley, 6-3, 6-3.
Eastwood 3—Westinghouse 0.
Singles: Hagenbuch and Hagenbuch defeated R. C. Campbell and Mc..., 6-2, 6-3; Kelly Shaffer and Bill Shaffer defeated R. F. Gillon and William Shaffer, 6-3, 6-4.

Manager Mario Rosenberg's undefeated Commercial Garage team will oppose the Dragons today in a bracket V game of the senior division in the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph's Western Pennsylvania amateur softball tournament on the Washington Park field.

The Commercials have been bowling over the opposition with ease and they look like probable winners against the Dragons. The team is composed of speedy fielders and hard hitters. Johnny Metz, Commercial third baseman, has been playing a fine game.

In another bracket V game, the E. J. McAvoys clash with the Steubs A. C. of the South Side, while the U. S. Engineers play Main and Company in a bracket I game of the senior class on the Carnegie Tech campus field.

Manager Helen Kasputis Goldenson Vanities won the championship of Bracket II of the girls' division, defeating the Cecil Red V's, 6 to 3, at Cecil yesterday. Edythe Forsythe's good pitching aided the Vanities in scoring their impressive triumph. She fanned 14. Miss Forsythe won all three games for her teammates.

The Cecil team took the lead in the fourth inning by scoring three runs, but the Vanities put on sixth and seventh inning rallies to record six runs. In the sixth canto the winners tallied four markers, and added two in the final stanza. Martha Ward and Marie Barthelemy starred for the Vanities, while Ellen De Pash played best for the conquered team.

YANKEES RISK LEAD IN CRUCIAL SERIES WITH DETROIT

DICKEY'S PAIR OF HOME RUNS TOPS TRIBE

Associated Press

With the all-star game a matter of records, major league baseball swung back into full stride today with the first of the annual crucial series looming to test the supremacy of the New York Yankees in the West and the New York Giants at the Polo Grounds.

The Yankees, after making a one-day stop at Cleveland yesterday and defeating the Indians 9 to 4, were at Detroit for four games in as many days.

The Giants, with a slightly longer lead of one and one-half games, had until Saturday before they took up in a five-game series with the Chicago Cubs.

Bill Dickey was largely responsible for the Yankees victory yesterday. He smashed out two homers, each time with Ben Chapman on base. The Tigers had a much more difficult time beating the Washington Senators, 13 to 7.

The Cubs picked up a half game on the Giants by defeating the Boston Braves twice, 7 to 1, and 2 to 1, while the league leaders were trimming the Pittsburgh Pirates in another close affair, 3 to 2.

Hal Schumacher's three-hit pitching through the last eight innings and some hefty slugging on the part of Manager Bill Terry and Lefty O'Doul gave the Giants their game.

The Phillies hit Tex Carleton when hits meant runs and Phil Collins hurled eight-hit ball as Philadelphia beat the Cardinals, 6 to 2.

Ray Benge pitched steady ball to give Brooklyn a 5-to-2 decision over Cincinnati.

BUCCOS OBTAIN HOLLEY, FARM BILL HARRIS

NEW YORK, July 12.—In an effort to bolster what hardly can be termed the league's strongest slab staff, the Pirates last night obtained Ike Holley, a right-handed pitcher, from Philadelphia via the waiver route. At the same time, Pitcher Bill Harris was farmed out to Albany of the International League on option. He can be recalled on 24 hours notice.

Holley started his baseball career in the Kentucky League in 1932, and in 1933 went to the Chicago Cubs. He was obtained by the Phils two years ago after playing for a time with Reading and Kansas City.

The Pirates were beaten, 3-2, as they opened their Eastern invasion against the Giants here yesterday. Hal Schumaker, on the mound for the Terrymen, limited the Bucs to six hits and blanked the visitors after Lloyd Waner's single and doubles by Paul Waner and Arky Vaughan had produced two tallies in the first frame.

Waite Hoyt pitched seven-hit ball for Pittsburgh, but the Giants scored in the first, third and fifth innings to bag a close decision. In the first frame Moore walked with one out and was forced by Terry. Ott and O'Doul came through with singles to score their manager. Terry hit a home run into the rightfield stands to knot the count in the third inning and followed this up by scoring the winning run in the fifth. Critz opened this frame with an infield hit. Moore flied out and Terry forced Critz. Hoyt then hit Ott with a pitched ball and O'Doul came through with another single to score Terry.

Near Riot Marks Perez-Pladner Bout

PARIS, France, July 12.—(AP)—A row that greeted the return of Young Perez, of Tunisia, last night over Spider Pladner, French bantamweight, in a closely contested 10-round bout for the pro-ogo of meeting Champion Panama Al Brown.

The police had to keep the crowd, which classed Pladner ahead, from storming into the ring. Both fighters tasted in at 118 pounds.

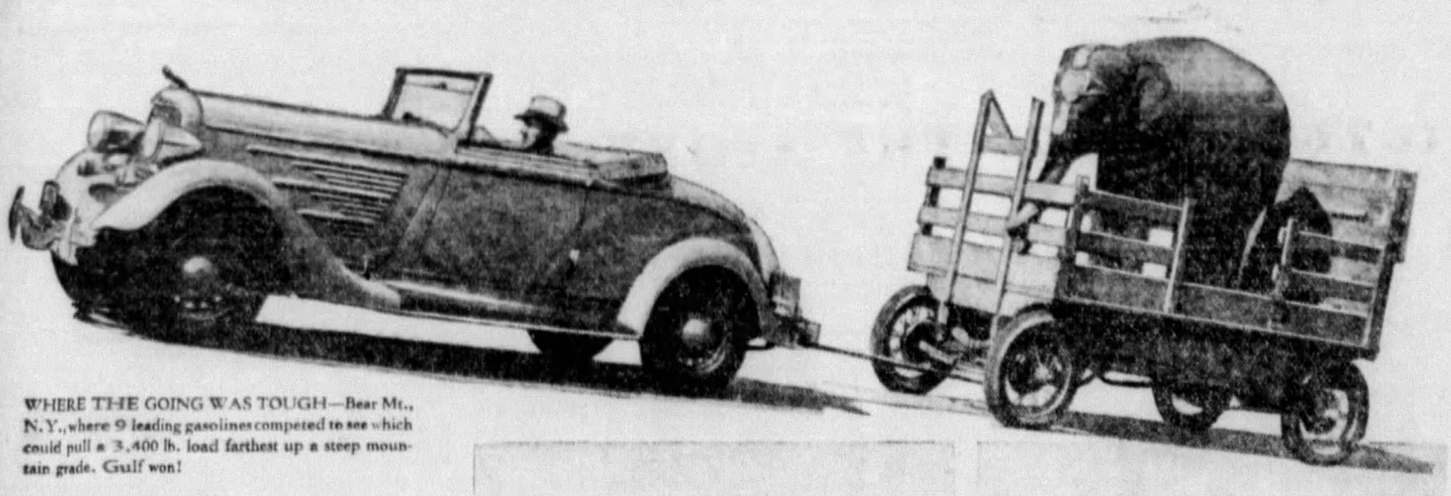
HOMER LEADERS

YOU BET THERE'S A DIFFERENCE IN GASOLINES! . . . HERE'S PROOF!



WHERE THE GOING WAS TOUGH—Bear Mt., N.Y., where 9 leading gasolines competed to see which could pull a 3,400 lb. load farthest up a steep mountain grade. Gulf won!

Don't let anyone tell you that it makes little difference which gasoline you use! There's a big difference in even the best-known brands. To prove it, Gulf made a series of power tests with 33 gasolines—and uncovered some facts worth knowing. Read them!

NOTHING gives a gasoline a harder fight than a tough hill—that's where a gasoline proves its power.

For that very reason, Gulf chose 15 of America's toughest hills for a series of show-down power tests—in which 33 gasolines fought it out.

On each of these hills, leading gasolines from local service stations competed to see which could take a car and heavy load farthest up hill in high gear before the motor "died."

The results are summed up in the chart below—and all results were certified by a local Notary Public. Study that chart.

Here is plain, unpainted evidence—evidence which shows beyond question that it does make a difference which gasoline you put into your tank—a difference you can notice in your motor! Next time try Gulf!

LOADS LIKE THIS—on steep mountain grades tax the power of any gasoline. But in 10 out of 15 power tests Gulf walked away with first honors!

GETTING READY TO START—gas being tested was placed in a jar, which fed direct to the carburetor. This made possible quick changes of gasoline for each test run.

The NEW GULF wins more power tests than 32 gasolines combined

BABCOCK, ROYSTON, BENSON WIN IN STATE AMATEUR

16-YEAR-OLD STAR UPSETS BILLY MARKS

By TOM BIRKS

Ray Babcock, of the Oakmont Country Club, meets Lloyd Beyer, of Aronomink, former Penn State captain, and 1931 champion, in the feature duel of the second round of match play in the Pennsylvania state amateur golf championship at the Fox Chapel Golf Club this afternoon.

Babcock turned in a sparkling 7-and-6 victory over John Tenney, of Lancaster, while Beyer pulled a big upset by defeating George H. Flinn, of Oakmont, 1 up, this morning.

Other second round matches this afternoon pit Barrett Melvin, Wenango, against Dr. S. B. Raison, Oakmont; Joe Royston, Jr., Highland, yesterday's medalist, against John Berdan, of the home club, and Jack Benson, long-hitting youngster from the South Hills Country Club, against J. A. Allen, of Scranton.

BILLY MARKS BEATEN

The big surprise to many in the gallery in the morning matches was the victory of young Melvin over Billy Marks, of Kiski. Marks never led throughout the match, and the 16-year-old youngster played like a veteran.

Joe Royston, Jr., who won the medal with a 72, kept up his brilliant play in the tourney by defeating Wright McClure. The medalist won the first five holes and then coasted home to victory.

Dr. Ralston had to play an uphill battle to defeat Fred Wepner, of the Field Club. Weppner won the first three holes from the doctor, but the turning point of the match was when Ralston scored an eagle on the par-5 ninth hole, while Wepner scored a birdie to lose the hole.

BENSON VICTOR

Benson eliminated the last Philadelphian in the tourney when he beat T. L. Hulme, of the Merion Cricket Club 5 and 3. Benson matched par for the 15 holes played.

Francis J. Allen, of the Fox Hill Couptry Club, Scranton, broke the string of local victories when he defeated George L. Craig, of the Allegheny Country Club, 2 and 1.

Tenney, the Merion star, won only one hole from Babcock in the morning round. The Oakmonter played better golf than in the qualifying round, his medal score being two shots under par for the 12 holes played.

Weppner and Flinn gained the championship flight this morning when they won in a seven-man palyoff among those who had tied at 79 in the qualifying test. The results of first round matches:

ROOKIE SENT TO CHARLEROI

CHARLESTON, W. Va., July 12.—(AP.)—Watt Powell, president of the Mid-Atlantic League Senators, has announced the release of Bill Cox, young outfielder, to the Charleroi club of the Pennsylvania State Association on option.

Gordon Johnson, formerly of the Beckley Black Knights, was signed to replace Cox.

In yesterday's Mid-Atlantic League tussles, Johnstown, hitting hard behind the splendid hurling of Joe Vittelli, walloped Springfield, 11 to 2; Dayton nosed out Wheeling, 1 to 0, and Beckley downed Huntington, 5 to 1. Zanesville and Charleston were held idle by wet grounds.

In the Penn State Association, Washington defeated Monessen, 5 to 0, as Bill Yocke pitched a seven-hit shutout. Mele, Washington left fielder, slapped a home run in the seventh.

Charley Dunn Meets Brother After 26 Years

CHARLEY DUNN.

Charley Dunn, former Ambridge boxer, and his brother, John, of Denver, Col., were reunited after a separation of 26 years when Charley, representing the Ohio Valley Post, attended the convention of Disabled War Veterans over the Fourth of July, according to word just received from Charley.

Charley was one of the best lightweight and welterweight boxers in this section before the World War. He boxed Johnny Ray, Ray Pryel, Jack Perry, Eddie McAndrews, Mike Milko and others of note. He was injured in the service and did not get overseas, being confined in hospitals on this side.

Brother John also was in the service and after the war headed West, where he married and settled down. He is employed by a steel company in Denver. Some months ago he contacted his folks in Ambridge and Charley took advantage of the veterans' convention to visit him.

DOPE SHIFTS ON CLASSIC

International News Service.

NEW YORK, July 12.—The position of chief contender in the $35,000 added Arlington classic, mile-and-a-quarter blue ribbon event which will be decided at Arlington Park, Ill., Saturday, is moving away from Joseph E. Widener's Peace Chance and going to Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt's Discovery.

Two conditions are held responsible for this shift—the recent sparkling performances of Discovery in the East, in which he trounced some prominent older thoroughbreds, and the sudden report from Arlington Park, where Peace Chance is quartered, that the Widener representative suffered an injury to his knee.

Following his sensational six-length score in the Belmont stakes, Peace Chance loomed as the chief threat to Cavalcade's claim of superiority in the 3-year-old division. High Quest, regarded by Trainer Bob Smith, of the Brookmeade stable, as good a colt or better than Cavalcade, finished second in the Belmont stakes, decisively vanquished. This served to heighten interest in Saturday's classic, in which Cavalcade and Peace Chance were expected to settle the question of superiority in a battle of titans.

Sarazen to Defend Pro Golf Title

NEW YORK, July 12.—(AP.)—Gene Sarazen is coming back from Europe to defend the National Professional Golfers' Association championship at Buffalo this month.

TED YAROSZ NEAR TITLE BATTLE

Teddy Yarosz, Monaca middleweight boxer, training at Conneaut Lake for his bout with Tuzi Littman in Chicago next Wednesday night, was a step nearer the middleweight championship of the world today as a result of the action of the New York Athletic Commission in recognizing him yesterday as the leading contender and ordering Vince Dundee to accept his challenge within 30 days under penalty of forfeiting his recognition in that state as champion.

Yarosz defeated Dundee twice before the latter won the title in a bout with Lou Brouillard which Yarosz turned down, and he was virtually matched to box Yarosz at Forbes Field here this summer for the championship when his manager, Max Waxman, decided to pull out. Waxman will be here tomorrow with Jack Dempsey for the latter's personal appearance in the benefit show at Monessen tomorrow night and his comments on the situation should be interesting.

Mike Bario, the southpaw socker, of New Kensington, has been matched to box Eddie Andrews, of Cleveland, in one of the 10-round bouts on the Hickey Park, Millvale, card next Monday night and Irish Jimmy Perry will be one of the principals in the opener.

Two exhibitions by Yarosz will feature the all-star amateur boxing card to be staged by the Joseph Conrad Club, of the University of Pittsburgh, at Hickey Park, Millvale, July 20.

EATON ANNEXES GOLF MEDAL

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 12.—(AP.)—Zell Eaton, Oklahoma City youngster who hopes to spend this twenty-first birthday next Sunday playing in the finals, annexed another medalist trophy to his large collection here yesterday with the low qualifying score, 72-72—144, in the thirty-sixth annual Western Amateur golf tournament.

Two over par on each of both qualifying rounds Tuesday and yesterday, Eaton succeeded himself as the Western medalist and was four strokes ahead of Rodney Bliss, of Omaha, Nebraska state champion. Eaton carded 141 last year in the tournament at Memphis and he also was the 1933 trans-Mississippi and Oklahoma amateur medalist.

Eaton needed remarkable recoveries to stay close to par. He was one over standard figure on each nine.

Bliss, playing orthodox, mechanical golf, parred the first 10 holes and threatened to overtake Eaton, but he found trouble on the second nine and carded a 40 for a 73-73—146.

The high qualifying score was 158, 18 over the unyielding par for the short though difficult layout, and Charles (Chick) Evans, Jr., of Chicago, eight times Western champion, was barely in the field. Still adept with his putter, Evans recovered for a 77 after taking an 81 his first time out.

The other former champion in the field, Johnny Lehman, of Chicago, did a comeback with a 74 to go with his first round 80. Defending Champion Jack Westland, a Walker Cup team member, spared from the qualifying test, idled through the first two days, gallerying and practicing.

Followers of the City League have their pick of three games this evening, with the J. J. Vaughans, of the North Side, traveling to Olympia Park seeking to break the winning streak of the Book nine in the feature game.

Clubs in the City League are beginning to realize that unless one of them soon checks Heinie Bill and his mates that it will not be long before the second half championship will be in the bag.

The Vaughans are a fighting outfit and may be expected to give the defending champions plenty of trouble.

The other two games are just as interesting at this stage of the race. Homewood goes to the West Penn Park to meet Immaculate Heart, where Joe Dobbs' outfit will be out to avenge the defeat at the hands of Books on Tuesday.

The third game finds Dormont traveling to Mt. Oliver to meet the Business Men's club. Last evening's City League program was rained out.

Hazelwood friends and followers of Julius Solters, a member of the Boston Red Sox of the American League, are planning a Solters' Day at Cleveland Sunday, July 23, when the Red Sox play there. A party of more than 200 fans is expected to make the trip.

CHILLYSAUCE

To the many fans who in the past few days have asked this writer for information concerning the organization which receives and dispenses the money derived from the now established all-star diamond game.

The organization is known as the Association of Professional Ball Players of America. It was formed about eight years ago with administrative offices in Los Angeles. Its object:

"It shall be the ultimate object of this organization to provide a home for sick and indigent ball players, a home where the sick may have care and medical attention, where the aged or infirm ball player may watch the setting sun of his career surrounded with all the comforts and care that it is possible to provide."

The organization is made up of players and umpires. The dues per year are major, $10; class AA and A, $5; class B, C, D, $3.

The entire Pirate roster holds membership and Manager Pie Traynor is a member of the board of directors.

Those folks who feel the national game is slipping will sense a new international flavor to the sport and take heart accordingly after reading a classic news nugget dug up from the obscure country correspondence in this week's Sporting News. The correspondent was writing of the four-club Nebraska State League and here is his gem:

"A riot call brought out many policemen to the park at Sioux Falls, July 6, to protect Umpire Hobart and Worshem from angry fans in a game that was distinguished by a fight between Jim Horio, the Japanese outfielder of Sioux Falls, and Catcher LeMay, of Beatrice. LeMay taunted Horio bouncing him out of the way when he blocked the plate as Horio was attempting to score.

"After players and umpires had separated the contestants, Horio was called out for bowling over Shortstop Keeney while the latter was trying to field the batted ball on which Horio went across the plate.

"The fans topped off the evening by deflating the tires of the umpires' automobile and the climax was reached when it was revealed that Umpire Hobart, around whom most of the controversy centered, had been released previously by President J. E. Bellizer and had no official right to be umpiring the game."

HAMBLETONIAN HOPE LOSES

TOLEDO, O., July 12.—(AP.)—One of the Winter book favorites for the rich Hambletonian stake was upset here last night when Emily Stokes, driven by Fred G. Egan for C. W. Phillis, of New York City, won the historic Matron stakes for three-year-old trotters.

Musicstone, highly regarded for the richest of trotting prizes at Goshen, N. Y., in August, was heavily played but could not respond to the prompting of H. Parshall.

The second event, the 12 class pace, was won by Colonel Tom after Dick Reynolds, driven by Harry Stokes, had won the first heat.

The 13 class trot split of two dashes of one and one-sixteenth and one mile proved a romp for Lu Barient, owned and driven by Will Hodson. Taffy Vole, driven by Ben White and Dr. Parshall's Mac Hanover furnished contention.

Y.; Frankie Parker, Spring Lake, N. J., and Berkeley Bell, New York; J. Gilbert Hall, South Orange, N. J., and Samuel B. Gilpin, Philadelphia. Today's play will be confined to the doubles.

From early this morning until late this evening, members of the association will be starting off under Professional Tosta Brath's direction. J. W. Johnson, superintendent of the Railway Express, is supervising the affair.

This is where Paul Jones Rye Whiskey is made. In Maryland—where the best Rye has always been made—and where special limestone spring water bubbles up from hidden ledges. The grain used is the finest money can buy. And the yeast is from the same perfect culture that Frankfort has guarded for 50 years.

This is the way the whiskies that go into Paul Jones are made—the way the finest Rye has always been made—by the old-fashioned, hand-made method. It costs more and takes longer to make whiskey this way—but the whiskey is the best that ever came from a still.

Employe Loyalty Amazes

By B. C. FORBES

SAID THEODORE ROOSEVELT:

"The unit of society is not a man or a woman, but a man and a woman."

A successful business enterprise is not comprised of an efficient management or an efficient working force, but of an efficient management and an efficient working force.

Mr. Forbes

The rest of the world regards America as possessing a measure of employe loyalty not approaching elsewhere.

Is this loyalty to continue?

Or is the American Federation of Labor going to succeed in bringing cleavage between employers and employes in industries all over the land?

MY GUESS is that this country will witness expansion of labor unionism, but that the American Federation will not attain sufficient power, sufficient domination, sufficient monopoly to enable it to become, as many fear, a sort of super-government, able to dictate to both political parties.

AFTER ALL, there are in America a very large number of concerns where genuinely friendly relations have been established between men and management.

Where such harmony and co-operation exist, outside labor agitators usually can make little headway.

Workers are disposed to ask themselves whether outsiders would prove able to do more for them than their sympathetic employers.

For example, the workers in one concern recently were induced by "alien" agitators to strike; they demanded that an outside union be recognized. The management gladly accorded the strikers a hearing. Then the presiding executive replied:

"It's all right with us if you want to throw in your lot with a union. It certainly will save us a lot of money."

The strikers looked puzzled and murmured questioningly.

The executive went on:

"Of course, after you belong to the union, we won't have to give you your two weeks' vacation with pay, we won't have to pay you for holidays, we won't have to pay you any day you stay home because you don't feel well. All we will have to do will be to pay you for the hours you actually work and not another cent."

The ring leaders laid their heads together, exchanged views and there and then announced:

"We're going back to work right now."

ON THE OTHER hand, there are many establishments where relations with "outside" unions have proved entirely peaceful and mutually satisfactory. Railway unions constitute conspicuous examples.

The prospect is that the American Federation will be able to entrench itself in establishments where the majority of workers are more or less dissatisfied with their lot—and it is entirely fitting that dissatisfied workers should turn somewhere for possible help in improving their conditions.

But where both sides, employers and employes, are operating in harmony, each having confidence in the fairness of the other, it would hardly be natural to expect the workers to vote to put themselves under the orders of outside union leaders and to hand over part of their pay every week to third parties not obliged to give any accounting of what is done with their money.

WHEN BRITAIN several years ago sent to this country a delegation of representative workmen to investigate labor relations here, one of the plants visited was General Electric. There they found a degree of employe loyalty which amazed them.

This company has followed enlightened labor policies. It instituted "unemployment insurance" some years ago and has in operation other modern plans for treating its work-folk humanely both in health and in sickness—including an arrangement to aid workers in saving and becoming part owners of the enterprise.

How thoroughly interested G. E. employes are in co-operating with the management to achieve better results is revealed by the number of suggestions constantly made by factory employes. This table will interest and may inspire other employers:

Year.	No. per Sug'tions Received.	1,000 Pct. Emp.	Adpt.	Awards Made.
1928	16,077	339	31.1	$62,381
1929	27,991	433	31.6	104,272
1930	29,919	536	32.1	94,091
1931	19,595	428	32.6	55,739
1932	6,723	220	37.1	18,930
1933	4,390	161	26.7	10,277

No less than $537,114 has been paid for suggestions during the last 11 years.

IF RIGHT relationships can be maintained between employers and employes, the industrial future of America would seem assured.

DEMOCRATS SHY AT APPOINTING COMMITTEES

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER

Editorial Service.

NEW YORK, July 12.—The administration at Washington is commission shy.

Two recent experiences have intensified this feeling. First the Darrow commission on the NRA, though its personnel had been approved by Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, proved a thorn in the side of the government. Likewise, the durable goods committee of the NRA has proved a stumbling block for conservative propaganda not altogether palatable to the NRA.

Mr. Rukeyser

When President Roosevelt is nowadays urged to appoint a commission, his mind is likely to turn to Hoover's experience with commissions. Accordingly, the present incumbent thinks he can get action better out of an interdepartmental committee, or unattached experts.

In paying final tribute to the Darrow commission, Gen. Johnson, in a current magazine, says:

"I made a gross error in consenting to the appointment of the Recovery Review Board with such headline hunters as Clarence Darrow and Mr. Thompson. I always loved that old fellow for his very intransigency, but his habit of passin, with 10 minutes of consideration, on codes on which we have lavished weeks of study, invalidates all that he says. His reports are simply a succession of jokes, and in so far as NRA is concerned, it will pay no more attention to them than if his board had never existed."

With the modification of the NRA recently, there has been a striking toning down of the ballyhoo. Nevertheless, in speaking of business recovery, Gen. Johnson says:

"We do not for a moment contend that all recovery came from NRA. In fact, it is only one piece in the mosaic of the President's recovery program, which was a balanced and comprehensive plan of attacking every particularly depressed element in our national economy."

This gives the impression that the NRA contributed substantially to business recovery.

Nevertheless, the index of industrial production of the Federal Reserve Board shows that output was higher in July, 1933, just as the NRA was getting launched, than at any time subsequently. The figure was 96 per cent of the 1923-25 average in July, 1933. Then industrial production started on a steady decline, which brought it down to 69 in December, 1933. A gradual recovery in the first third of 1934 brought the index by the end of April up to 88.

TEXAS SULPHUR DEAL LOOMS

NEW YORK, July 12.—(AP.)—Negotiations for the acquisition by the Texas Gulf Sulphur Co. of the Gulf Production Co.'s half interest in the Boling Dome Sulphur development in Texas have been renewed, it was learned in Wall street today. No terms have yet been arranged it was said.

Texas Gulf is the owner of the other half interest in the Boling property and its desire to obtain complete ownership has been known for sometime.

Birmingham Steel Production Lower

BIRMINGHAM, July 12.—There has been a sharp drop in steel ingot production in Alabama. From a high of 55 per cent of the recent past, the rate has been decreasing and is likely to reach about 17 per cent by the end of the week.

Pig iron production in the state in June amounted to 135,144 tons, bringing the total for the first six months of 1934 to 783,906 tons, as against 227,378 in the first half of 1933.

Treasury Bond Yields Lowest in 20 Years

NEW YORK, July 12.—(AP.)—For the first time since the early part of the century, the yield on the U. S. Treasury has dropped below 3 per cent.

In other words, the federal government can borrow more cheaply today than at any time within the past 20 years or more. This condition exists in the face of a huge increase in the public debt during the past six months and the promise of still more borrowing to come.

Based on the yield to the nearest callable date, the average return on all bonds of the Treasury maturing in eight years or more stands at 2.85 per cent.

For all bond issues, including those maturing in less than eight years but excluding the first and fourth Liberty issues, which are callable this year, the average yield is 2.75 per cent.

Since there are no Treasury bonds with coupons of less than 3 per cent, all issues are well above parity. Yields range from just under 3 per cent for the high-coupon issues to below 2½ per cent for 3 and 3¼ per cent obligations with relatively near maturities.

The average yield on long-term governments (over eight years) has fallen ¾ of 1 per cent in six months, a period notable for a rise of $2,500,000,000 in the Treasury's debt. The apparent paradox in this statement is explained by the fact that the volume of funds available for investment has grown far more rapidly than the supply of new securities, government and other.

The Federal Reserve Board's new index of yields on government issues provides an interesting chart of one of the country's recent financial history. The pre-depression low for the average yield was reached at 3.15 per cent at the end of March, 1928. It rose until the following March as the result of the competitive appeal of the stock markets, touching a peak of 3.81 per cent.

After the securities crash of October, the yield dwindled to a low of 3.16 per cent at the end of November, 1930. Then it rose for a few months, only to fall to 3.05 per cent in May, 1931.

By January, 1932, however, following the European financial crisis, the yield had climbed to a peak of 4.37 per cent, the highest in recent years. Then it crumbled, rose momentarily in the 1933 banking collapse, fell again to 3.17 per cent in September, as the avenues of investment became more and more choked.

In November, 1933, monetary uncertainty reversed the trend to 3.63 per cent. Since the turn of the year, the yield has fallen steadily, reaching 2.99 per cent in May and 2.85 per cent at the present time.

R. C. C. PAYMENT DUE JULY 31

WASHINGTON, July 12.—E. G. Buckland, president of the Railroad Credit Corporation, announced that another liquidating distribution will be made by that organization to participating carriers on July 31. This refund will be the ninth that has been made, and will amount to $726,502, or 1 per cent of the fund created by pooling the net proceeds of the emergency freight rates through March 31, 1933. Of the amount of the refund, $339,357 will be in cash and $387,145 will be in credits.

With this liquidating distribution, the total amount returned to participating carriers by the Railroad Credit Corporation will have amounted to $16,961,370, or 23 per cent of the pooled fund. Of that amount, $7,353,890 represents cash, and $9,607,479 credits.

Reiman said the Salem Company will exchange all of its capital stock for the Anchor Cap Corporation, parent company of the Capstan concern, subject to the approval of the Anchor corporation stockholders.

Sugar Market.

NEW YORK, July 12.—Raw sugar was quiet and unchanged today with spots quoted at 3.15.

Futures were quiet and price movements narrow and irregular. The inactivity in the spot market seemed to restrict fresh commitment, with the trade in general inclined to hold off and await some activity in the spot market or for Washington developments on the new Cuban trade agreement.

The market opened at 1 point advance to 1 point decline with the near months a little steadier on covering and commission house buying, while the later positions were off under liquidation and selling against new crop duty frees. The general market at midday was unchanged, with September contracts selling around 1.76 and May at 1.92.

Refined sugar was unchanged at 4.75 for fine granulated, with only a moderate withdrawal demand reported.

STOCK MARKET AGAIN DULL AFTER RISE

By LEWIS HANEY

Professor of Economics, New York University

NEW YORK, July 12.—On Tuesday the stock market had another of those one-day push-ups which have become so characteristic of these thin and dull market days. It is doubtful if these mean much.

Compared with similar moves in the not distant past, the Tuesday rise was relatively feeble, and there was little indication of momentum or follow through. Yesterday dullness was resumed, with little change.

Probably there is important "resistance" in the leading stocks at levels not more than one or two points higher. Personally, I can see no reason at present to anticipate that such resistance will be broken in the near future.

The President is away. His lieutenants are off on speaking trips, campaigning for the New Deal party. Under the present virtual dictatorship, it hardly seems probable that any vital change will be made till the Chief gets back.

Then, too, we find a good many drawbacks which seem sufficient to hold down these spasmodic upward moves.

The utilities as a group are rather weak, and the passing of its dividend by the Columbia Gas & Electric Company was a jolt, especially as the President explained this as being due to increased costs and reduced rates.

RAILS BACKWARD

The rails as a group are mostly backward. While the early movement of winter wheat, which caused an unusually large jump in the visible supply for this time of year, has helped the car loadings of some, the total wheat crop promises to be the smallest in 40 years. Total car loadings last week will probably be a little below a year ago. Then there are the new pension bill and higher wages for railway labor.

The coppers face the threat of a decline in copper prices, which were marked up artificially under the code. The foreign demand has been weak, and foreign markets lower.

The motion pictures have to deal not only with summer dullness, but also with the movement to "purify" films.

The steel industry, after slumping with extraordinary sharpness from the artificial June peak, has hardly made the usual seasonal gain from the Fourth of July week. Operations are the lowest for this season since 1932.

Factory employment apparently declined more than seasonally in June, and labor unrest is widespread. Present indications are that labor is not disposed to cooperate in the building program by taking reduced wages.

NO LARGE RISE

Finally, the collapse of New Deal price-fixing arrangements is unsettling in those trades which had depended upon them to maintain markets.

But, while no large or sustained rise is thus probable, it remains true that the market has apparently established a firm bottom. Those who hold stocks do not sell on weakness.

Certainly those who have selected stocks as a hedge against inflation have no reason to abandon their positions. Senator Thomas' blast to Banker Harriman shows that the inflationists are on the job. The committee on the nation—or whatever they call themselves—is agitating for further devaluation. The government is printing up greatly overvalued "silver certificates."

It can be said that the market shows more volume on the rise than on the decline. It seems to follow that if it is trying to go anywhere it is trying to go up.

I am inclined to think, therefore, that as long as there is so great a prospect of inflation and artificial stimulation of business by New Deal tactics, the stock market is likely to edge upward in anticipation.

For the present, one may well confine purchases to the periods of dips and dullness which seem sure to recur for some time yet. In doing so, the more reasonably priced "industrials" (such as chemicals and dairy products), merchandising issues and precious metals (gold and silver) should continue to be favored when backed by good earnings.

It is well to remember that inflation taken alone cannot logically help a stock which has no earnings.

Wernicke Offers Plan to Revamp

CINCINNATI, July 12.—A plan to reorganize the Globe Wernicke Company, manufacturers of office equipment, in receivership since July, 1932, has been filed in United States District Court here by the company. The receivers and a creditors' protective committee headed by J. J. Rowe, president of the Fifth-Third Union Trust Company, Judge R. N. Nevins will hear arguments on the plan September 11, and he has appointed the receivers as trustees to continue operations.

Department Store Sales 10 to 36% Over 1933

WASHINGTON, July 12.—(AP.)—Department store sales showed an 18 per cent increase during the first six months of the present calendar year as compared with 1933, a survey by the Federal Reserve Board reveals.

The changes ranged from a 10 per cent increase in the Federal Reserve district of New York to a maximum of 36 per cent reported by the Atlanta district.

The percentage increases by Federal Reserve districts: Boston 12, New York 10, Philadelphia 13, Cleveland 28, Richmond 21, Atlanta 36, Chicago 25, St. Louis 23, Minneapolis 13, Kansas City 21, Dallas 30, and San Francisco 12.

From May to June there was a more-than-seasonal decline in sales. The index figure dropped from 77 to 73 per cent of the 1923-1925 average.

Sales for June, according to preliminary figures, were 9 per cent larger than in the same month of 1933, with the Atlanta, Dallas and Richmond districts showing increases of 33, 32 and 21 per cent, respectively.

The smallest increase, 1 per cent, was reported by San Francisco.

STOCKS DRIFT LOWER IN DULL TRADING

NEW YORK, July 12.—(AP.)—A jaded stock market showed little disposition to be up and doing today and prices, as a whole, displayed a moderately lower drift.

Various traders seemed to be somewhat skeptical of the ability of the list to forge ahead at this time in view of the hazy trade and industrial questions which are pending. At the same time there was no widespread liquidation and the activity was considerably lower than in previous session.

The irregularity of commodities may have caused some hesitancy on the part of a few operators. While wheat at Chicago added more than a cent to its yesterday's sharp advance, corn was retrogressionary. At Winnipeg wheat dropped more than 2 cents a bushel on a slightly bearish government crop report. Cotton was in supply at a loss of around $1 a bale as weather conditions appeared to have improved. Rubber and silver were neutral factors. Bonds were quiet and mildly mixed. United States government securities eased under profit-taking.

There was little news of consequence. Professional interest apparently was still cool, and the public evinced no especial urge to climb aboard the market wagon.

There was said to have been some buying in selected stocks based on the expectation of new tax legislation at the next session of Congress which would be directed at corporate surpluses. Various companies, it was figured, might decide to divide up their excess funds among stockholders rather than pay them out in taxes.

The more optimistically inclined observers were encouraged by the recent behavior of the bond market, which, not infrequently, is supposed to provide a cue as to what may be in store for equities. Many prime investment loans for several weeks have been making record highs for the past several years.

BANKS RETURN U. S. FUNDS

WASHINGTON, July 12.—In a significant movement to better earning power and at the same time rid themselves of unwanted excess funds, scores of the larger banks throughout the country have been returning to the federal Treasury heavy government deposits in the form of postal savings moneys.

During the last three months a grand total of $187,000,000 of the once much-desired deposits was shipped back to the Treasury by bankers who could find no profitable use for the funds.

WHEAT SOARS, CORN FALLS

CHICAGO, July 12.—Sharp fresh upturns of wheat values took place early today, stimultaneous with a big tumble of corn. In some cases, corn fell to the maximum limit allowed, four cents a bushel.

Opening all the way from 3/8 to 3 1/8 cents higher, September new 94-94 1/4, wheat afterward steadied somewhat at around 1 1/2 cent overnight gain. Corn started 3/8 to 4 cents down, and later pivoted at about 1 cent under yesterday's finish.

An immense volume of trading was witnessed both in wheat and corn, with the corn market bearishly affected by decided enlargement of rural offerings of corn to arrive. Wheat responded to the influence of accumulated unfilled speculative orders to purchase.

Favorable weather conditions for corn growth, together with heavy profit-taking, added to the selling pressure which developed in the corn market as a result of liberal rural offerings of corn to be shipped to Chicago. Oats followed corn rather than wheat. Rye was relatively steady.

NASH CAMPAIGN PLANS SET

Plans for a nation-wide campaign to maintain prosperity by keeping one of the nation's key industries moving in high gear throughout the late summer and fall were outlined to more than 200 Nash-LaFayette dealers and salesmen from all parts of the Pittsburgh territory here today for a series of meetings with factory representatives from Kenosha, Wis. Sessions were held at the Schenley Hotel.

Mr. Johnson.

Courtney Johnson, Nash-LaFayette sales manager and principal speaker pointed out the far-reaching effect on national recovery of continued progress in the automobile industry. He detailed plans which Nash-LaFayette officials have developed for "one of the greatest campaigns in automobile history" designed to aid in keeping this industry at top level and he predicted that late summer or even fall this year would not see the customary seasonal slump.

George Gray, Pittsburgh distributor for Nash and LaFayette cars, was in charge of the meeting here.

Girl in the Family

By BEATRICE BURTON

CHAPTER XXXIII.

"Susan, this may sound childish to you," Allen went on, "but you'll have to choose between those people and me now. There's no real reason why you can't come with me now. Tonight . . . And tomorrow I'll start getting some kind of home together and you can come to it as soon as you're ready. But I want Steffen and your people to know that you belong to me. I want to know it myself."

"I can't leave tonight—not even for an hour or two," she said. "In two or three weeks perhaps—" She began to back away from him, drawing her hands from his, hating to leave him, knowing she must.

"Susan, please get this through your head. If I go without you tonight, I'm not coming back to this place. I'm going for good."

He threw one arm around her, drawing her back to him. "Listen to me, Susan. Think of Connie — She dropped everything in the world at a few hours' notice and went out to an unknown place with John. She didn't even go down home to say goodby to her people. She walked out on her job," he said. "That's what a girl does when she's really in love, Susan. That's what you'd do now if you really gave a hang about me . . . Look here, we could get Anna back here for a few weeks. I could scrape up the money to pay her—"

"And give up law school!" Susan finished the sentence in her own way.

"The thing for you to do is to pass your bar examinations and then talk marriage, darling. I'm not going to hang around your neck like the well-known millstone." She tried to put her arms around him but he pushed her away from him.

"Goodnight," he said.

And then she was running up the front walk and Allen's tall shadow was moving across the lawn as he started toward the corner where the street car stopped.

The moment she opened the hall door the vague feeling of impending disaster that she had not been able to shake off all day deepened into quick alarm. Wallace was standing at the foot of the stairs, his forehead bent against the newel post, listening. From upstairs came an odd rattling grating sound that seemed to fill the house. It was a sound utterly unlike any sound that Susan had ever heard before and for a few seconds she did not realize that it was Uncle Worthy's breathing. Then all at once she knew that that was what it was. She dropped her coat on the floor and raced up the stairs to the sickroom.

Planning Future

Lutie and Aunt Edna were planning their future.

It was the Sunday after Uncle Worthy's funeral. The smell of flowers was gone from the house, and the winter sunshine streamed in through the Battenberg curtains. The rooms were warm once more, as if it had been Death and not the zero weather that had made them so cold the day that Uncle Worthy died.

Aunt Edna and Lutie were in their armchairs and the parlor was filled with the sweet inky smell of their dyed black dresses. Susan was in black, too. Black crepe de chine that brought out the gold along the ripples of her hair and made her mouth seem unusually red against the honey-whiteness of her skin.

John, with a black band on his coat sleeve, which Lutie had insisted upon sewing there, sat in his old chair with Susan beside him on a stool, and all of them were listening to Wallace Steffen.

It had been Lutie who insisted upon sending for John. "We can't find out where your father is, and John's the only other man in the family," she had said to Susan the morning after Uncle Worthy's death. "It's only right that he should come and look after things for us."

But Susan wondered now why she had been so insistent. For now, as she sat in her black clothes, she was telling him that Wallace could see to everything.

"Edna and I think he's the logical person because everything that we own—this house and The Broderick Arms—are mortgaged, and the First National holds the mortgages," she pointed out. "And the worst of it is that the interest on the mortgages hasn't been paid in ever such a long time. At least, that's the way I understand it, Wallace—?" She looked appealingly at Wallace, and he took up the story.

"The bank's real estate department will have to sell the two pieces of property and pay the bank the money that's due it," he explained slowly to John. "I've made clear to your aunts that that is the only thing to do since the mortgages are so large. There'll probably be a fairly good sum of money left after the bank has deducted what the Broderick estate owes it. I've told Mrs. Broderick and Miss Lutie that I'll show them how to invest it when the time comes so that they'll have some kind of sure income."

He turned his face to Aunt Edna. "That's what you want me to do, isn't it?" he asked solemnly.

It was all Greek to Susan who knew nothing about business and had never had more than twenty dollars at a time in her life. All she understood was that somehow her father and her uncle had made "ducks and drakes," as Aunt Edna put it, of the large fortune that Grandfather Broderick had left. They had mortgaged the house and The Broderick Arms to the hilt. They had sold government bonds and gilt-edged stocks, and there was no record of what they had done with the money. Certainly they had not reinvested it.

Wallace, who had spent hours in Uncle Worthy's little office, going through his desk, said that there would be nothing for Lutie and Edna except the money that the bank would turn over to them from the sale of the house and the apartment buildings. Morris Broderick would receive practically nothing for he had borrowed more than what would have been his share long ago, and actually owed the estate several thousands of dollars.

"If I were you," Wallace said to Aunt Edna and Lutie, "I'd sell the furniture and all the silver in this house, keeping out just the things that you'll want for your new home when you get one. I'd sell it right away and settle down in a flat somewhere. It must cost a fortune just to heat this big place."

Susan saw the two women exchange a swift glance, and then Lutie spoke up with something like a return of her girlish brightness and vivacity.

"We had an idea," she said, "that if we could lay our hands on any ready money, we'd go away for the rest of the winter. We've had so much housekeeping that we're sick and tired of it, and you know how sick we've both been for weeks. We'd like to go down to Florida or out to California, where it's warm. I thought if I could just lie on a beach and bake that rheumatism out of my knee—"

Want Money for Trip

"If we could just borrow a little money on the strength of what's coming to us when the places are sold!" Aunt Edna quickly interrupted the indelicate conversation about the knee. "Or on the money that we'll get from the sale of the furniture and the silver—unless we could sell the things right away—" she left the sentence hanging in the air, and her eyes questioned Wallace.

"That sounds like a fine idea to me," he replied. "Tomorrow when the appraiser comes to look over the house for the bank, why don't you tell him to tell you what you ought to get from the sale of the things in the house? He might be able to tell you where to sell them, too."

Wallace stayed for supper, eating cold roast beef and celery and toast with great appetite, and afterward he came out to the kitchen to help Susan with the dishes. He tried to catch hold of her hands as she piled the plates and cups in the wire basket on the drainboard and told her that she was his girl, and that he wasn't going to let her get away from him. Not by a long chalk.

She hated everything about him. The gloss on his hair, the slight fullness of his cheeks when he smiled at her, the odor of spearmint gum on his breath, the purple and white checks in his satin tie. She found out then what every normal woman finds out some time during her life—that when she loves one man, any other man who woos her becomes at once the most objectionable and loathsome creature under the sun, so far as she is concerned.

"Wallace, I wish you'd go in and talk to the aunts," she said to him, pulling her hands away from him and putting them under the hot water as she rinsed a plate. "They love you to talk to them."

"And you don't?"

"Not right now. Not—at any time."

He went away and then, after a moment, he came back. He stood beside her and put his face down close to hers.

"Let me get this straight. . . . Have you been letting me break my neck lately, straightening out your family's affairs, because you thought I wanted to do it—enjoyed doing a lot of extra work?—You knew I was doing it for you! Doing it because I thought you'd forgotten all that hooey that you told me at lunch that day!"

Polish Gone

In the crack-up of his romance Wallace's polish was rubbed off entirely.

"Doggone you, Susan, you can't do this to me! Turn to me when you want me, and when you don't, kick me out of the way like a yellow dog—" That was what he said: "Like a yellow dog." He paced up and down, an elegant and impressive figure of a man, saying inelegant and unimpressive things, flinging out his arms like an orator as he went from one end of the big kitchen to the other.

"I thought you were just looking after your bank in this," said Susan, "and I still think so. After all, what are you or the bank doing but selling us out, paying yourselves what we owe you and handing the rest to Aunt Edna and Lutie?—You're doing just what you did to that nice young couple when you bought their house in cheaply because they couldn't pay off the mortgage or keep up in the interest—"

"It's business," said Wallace, and he said it with a roar. "It's just as straight and honest as business can be! Every bank under heaven does it."

"Well, just don't try to tell me that you're doing the Brodericks a favor then," said Susan mildly and went on washing her dishes.

Presently Wallace went away and soon afterward she heard her aunts saying good night to him in the front hall.

They were talking him over when Susan rolled down her sleeves and joined them in the parlor. "He's a lovely person," Lutie declared. "You could go farther than Wallace and fare worse, Susan."

In spite of everything, they took it for granted that Susan was going to marry him. She wore no engagement ring, she had told them that she was in love with Allen, but that did not change their attitude in the least, apparently . . . They believed what they wanted to believe: Wallace and Susan were friends again and everything was as it should be, therefore.

Junior Patrol Mail Box

Grand news today, fellows! We're looking for the fellows and girls, too, you bet, who can write us the best letter about the good deed they are proudest of since they joined the Junior Patrol.

Prizes are $2.50, first prize, $1.50, second prize, and $1 third prize.

Read over your pledge again, fellows. Then think what good deeds you have done, keeping the Junior Patrol pledge. For the three best letters we get telling us about good deeds you are proud of we will award the prizes.

And notice, too, this contest is for Junior Patrol members only. You have to be a member, and you should put your badge number on the letter right after your name.

If you aren't a Junior Patrol member now, sign your pledge and send it in.

These prizes are a wonderful chance for patrol members and captains to get money for the Patrol treasury.

First prize is $2.50. That will help any Junior Patrol treasury a lot.

So we would like to have every Junior Patrol captain read this Mail Box to his members at the next meeting. Every member ought to write at least one letter. It's just as easy as can be. If you are not a member of a patrol you can still enter as an individual Junior Patroller.

What we are going to count in judging the letters for the prizes is how good a deed it was and how well you tell us about it.

Your letter doesn't have to be written on expensive paper. You can write it on ordinary paper with a pencil—and it will have just as much chance to win a prize.

And you can send in as many letters as you desire. But make every letter about a different good deed.

The contest on this subject will last one week, beginning today. Next week a new subject will be given you to write about.

All the letters for this week's contest must be in the Sun-Telegraph headquarters by midnight next Thursday, July 19. And be sure to address your letters to Junior Patrol Contest, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh.

Now let's see who can write the best letters. And who has done the most and best good deeds. We know we are going to be prouder of Junior Patrol members than ever after reading your letters. Start writing them now!

Detour -:- Daily Short Short-Story

By STANLEY CARP.

A young man in a brown suit trudged down Union avenue. He carried a small satchel that contained some of the educational books which he was willing from house to house.

He raised the satchel a few inches as if testing its weight again. He muttered, "Lord, it gets heavier every block . . . Well, one more hour. Here's one that looks O. K. I'll sell three books or starve trying."

He walked up the steps of the neat little cottage. It was painted white and trimmed with green. He rapped sharply on the door, waited a few moments and rapped again. A middle-aged woman with tired blue eyes opened the door. He noticed that her hands were wet, as if she had been washing clothes.

"What is it?" she asked quietly.

"Good afternoon, madam," replied Charles Riley. "I'm representing the Bryant Corporation of Educational Works. I would like to show you our books. They can supply you with a complete education, thus improving your mind and allowing you to enjoy in full this wonderful world of ours. Not only will they give you an entire outline of history, science and art, but they explain the mysteries which surround us. For instance . . . " He rattled on in his carefully memorized sales talk, inching his way through the doorway.

His prospect finally interrupted the flow of speech.

"Well," she hesitated, "I'd like to buy a set, but really we are very short of cash. How much do they cost?"

"Forty-nine dollars and fifty cents. But you merely have to pay $10 now and the balance upon delivery."

"I'm sorry, but honestly I have only a few dollars in the house. I really would like to get a set, but I don't see how I can afford it."

"Perhaps if I could speak to your husband, ma'am . . . "

"Why, yes," she grasped the way out eagerly. "Here is his address." She went to the desk in the corner of the room and returned with a business card.

He read:

H. MAYFAIR, CONTRACTOR,
Offices, 241 Maxim street.

"Thank you, Mrs. Mayfair, would you tell me how to get there?"

"I've never been there myself, but I can tell you the best way."

She wrote the directions on the back of the card. He returned the books to his case and went out.

"I might as well finish the job," he thought. "She seemed fairly well sold, so I guess I'll hit the old man on the subject."

He arrived downtown about 3:30 and made his way to the address on the card. He took the elevator to the sixth floor, where, to his surprise, H. Mayfair had a luxurious suite of offices. In the ante-room a haughty stenographer took his name in to Mr. Mayfair. She returned quickly and said, "You may go in."

He entered the inner office and stopped in amazement, for the room had about it a richness he had never before seen. Ivory-inlaid furniture, tapestries and oil paintings on the walls.

Hiding his astonishment, Salesman Riley said: "How do you do, Mr. Mayfair? I have just come from your home. I was speaking to Mrs. Mayfair about our set of educational books, Bryant's, you know, the world-famous home-education set."

Mr. Mayfair shouted: "Do you mean to say that you bothered my wife with that trash—taking up her valuable time?"

"Why, yes, sir. She was deeply interested, but referred me to you as she didn't want to take final action herself."

"Well, the answer is 'no.' My business affairs are at a standstill, and I'm not making enough to pay the rent. Do you think I can afford to get these luxuries when business is so bad? I never went to college, and my children don't need any education to be successful."

Riley began to get hot under the collar, and he was about to retort angrily when the germ of an idea manifested itself.

"Yes, sir, I see," he said, and left hurriedly.

As he passed through the ante-room on the way out, he noticed that it, too, shrieked of money.

"Millions for the office, but not a penny for the home," he muttered.

"The selfish pig. He spends it on the office and his stenog, and to the devil with his wife and kids."

He took the trolley back to the Mayfair home. This time he was admitted without argument.

"I'm back again, Mrs. Mayfair. I spoke to your husband, but it seems that business is not very good at present. But I'll bet that new ivory-inlaid office furniture he has just purchased cost him plenty. And I suppose his beautiful stenographer demands quite a large salary."

"Stenographer! Furniture! . . . Why, he's never told me anything about that. I always understood that he had only a cubbyhole downtown, and he has a stenographer, did you say? Well—can you come back tomorrow?" Her voice was sharp and her eyes were overbright.

"Surely," he replied politely. "Do that. I'm going downtown right now, right this minute."

Salesman Riley returned the next day. "Good morning, Mrs. Mayfair. Have you decided to order a set of our books?"

"Yes," she said firmly. "Just sit down while I get my checkbook. By the way, young man, how do you make out a check?"

OUR RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALINE MICHAELIS

With My Two Hands

O, some day I will walk a road
That I have known of old,
A road which winds through sun-drench hills
And fields of green and gold.

The white adobe dust will veil
The laurels' purple flowers
The yellow cups of prickly pears
That line the way for hours.

The hacienda on the crest
Will slumber in the sun,
And lightly up the rocky slopes
The frisking lambs will run.

Yes, one day I will walk the road
That leads me back to you,
And, taking life in my two hands,
Will build it all anew!

Vice a Tough Problem

Public Safety Director Bell Does Well in Seeking Good Counsel

Public Safety Director A. Marshall Bell is entitled to sympathy as he girds for battle with commercial vice.

Here is a problem that has tormented mankind since the dawn of civilization, and is apparently not much nearer solution now than then.

Director Bell has asked Mayor William N. McNair for a committee of from five to seven civic, social and industrial leaders to help him in the struggle. He does well to seek good counsel.

There are two schools of thought on this subject. One group maintains that there must not be the slightest compromise with vice—that whenever and wherever it is discovered it must be suppressed. The other group contends that it is no more practical or advisable to follow such a course than it would be to enforce to the letter the Pennsylvania law which forbids the driving of an automobile at a speed of more than 40 miles an hour.

The advice of the latter school of thought is to strike at vice when it becomes too flagrant in its manifestations, but to wink at it if it stays modestly under cover. Whatever may have been the theoretical policy, that has been the general course followed in Pittsburgh by every administration for many years.

There is, of course, a third group which boldly advocates the licensing of gambling houses and immoral resorts, on the grounds that they can thus be more effectively supervised by the police, that they will yield revenue to the city, and that, if not licensed, they will operate illegally. Mayor McNair is quoted as advocating such a policy, but we cannot believe that he is serious. Those who sincerely favor licensing vice probably are so few that Director Bell need give no consideration to such a scheme; moreover, even if desirable, it could not be done legally without action by the General Assembly.

The trend of public opinion not only in Pittsburgh but throughout the country has run strongly in favor of an effort to suppress commercial vice completely. Up to 25 or 30 years ago we had a "segregated district" which was taken more or less as a matter of course. Such a condition would not be tolerated by the people now.

Director Bell should make an honest attempt to enforce the law. With few exceptions, we believe, the rank and file of the police, as well as the higher officials, will be glad to co-operate in such an undertaking.

The County Airport Rates

The Aviation Companies' Protest Seems on Its Face to Be Justified.

Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc., and several other aviation companies have complained to the County Commissioners that the rates charged for the use of the county airport are too high. Transcontinental threatens to drop Pittsburgh from its schedules for coast-to-coast and Chicago-New York flights unless the rates are reduced to the level prevailing at other municipal airports on its routes.

On its face the protest seems justified. Figures are quoted showing that airport charges have increased 112.75 per cent during a period when the company's revenue increased only 44.03 per cent.

Even more impressive is the statement that Allegheny County's rates for the use of the airport are in excess of those charged elsewhere. Even if the rates at other municipal airports are unduly low, the County Commissioners might well bring the local rates down to the same level as encouragement to an important infant industry which we should help to develop.

It would be a severe blow to Pittsburgh's prestige to be made a mere "flag station" on the transcontinental air routes.

Tax Collections Improve

City Treasurer Kirk and the Citizens' Committee Deserve Much Credit.

Not only the city employes, relieved of the fear of "payless paydays," but also the citizens generally should be gratified at the news coming from City Treasurer James P. Kirk's office that collections of delinquent taxes during the first six months of 1934 were $738,197 greater than during the corresponding period last year.

It is an auspicious development in the movement to wipe out the city's deficit and balance the budget.

While an improvement in business conditions no doubt has been a factor in the better tax collections, Mr. Kirk and the citizens' committee co-operating with him deserve a lot of credit. For they did not simply wait for the taxes to come in, but went out for them energetically. Letters were sent to a thousand of the largest delinquents, asking them to come to the city's aid, and many of them were personally interviewed. These methods have proved effective.

Now with economy, and with the development of greater efficiency in the municipal service—goals at which a volunteer commission of businessmen are aiming—Pittsburgh may attain sooner than seemed likely a few months ago the sound financial condition that is so essential to the well-being of the municipality.

Making History Vivid

The Annual Pilgrimages of the Historical Society Serve a Useful Purpose

The Historical Society of Western Pennsylvania will conduct its third annual tour next Friday and Saturday to places of historic interest in the Pittsburgh district. The pilgrims will visit the Bushy Run battlefield, old Hannastown, the site of Fort Ligonier, Greensburg, and an historic house at West Overton.

These pilgrimages serve a useful purpose by directing attention to important events and developments in the story of Western Pennsylvania. They make local history more vivid. They inculcate appreciation of the courage, industry and hardihood of the men and women who conquered the wilderness and gave us the land and civilization that we now enjoy.

This year's tour is of special interest because it covers the scenes of great events whose omission from history textbooks used in the public schools l[illegible] to an interesting and, we believe, instructive controversy between C. Hale Sipe, of Butler, the historian, and public school officials.

It is to be hoped that a large caravan of motorists will take part in this educational pilgrimage.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, July 12.—Grogshops on the Bowery are flashing window banners of red: "Whisky—10 cents." The new bars, open so passers-by may see, are filled with the same old soaks that frequented the sunless back-rooms during prohibition. And gulped raw and lethal "smoke."

The change has given the dour highway some of the royster of the days of Suicide Hall and Atlantic Garden. For the beetle-browed bouncer has been restored to oust sleepers and the more jubilant jags. It's only after midnight that life moves to a minor key.

Then the Bowery takes on something of the pathos and elegiac quality of massed squalor. Drunks snore in hallways and tired women hang out the upstairs windows, seeking some faint scour of breeze. Only the jangle of the elevated spun overhead breaks the silence.

All-night pawn shops appear listless, for the Bowery has little more to pledge. The dingy restaurants with menus frescoed in white on windows are faint peeps of light. The only glitter comes from the pert, white-tiled 5-cent hamburger towers. But the Bowery is not bothered by depression. Depression has been with it always.

LISTEN, WORLD!

Four Good Books for Vacation

So you're going on your vacation. And you wish I'd give you "the names of some good books to read."

"Only," you warn me, "be sure they're easy reading. I can't stand highbrow stuff. And I hate 'improving' books in hot weather. Gimme something light and peppy."

All right. Here are four books that are as "easy" to read as the wrappers on a package of gum—and as "peppy" as any murder yarn. Yet, in spite of your worst efforts, they'll do something for you . . . wise you up to a new Self and a new World if you'll give them a chance. All four have been reviewed in this department.

First, it won't hurt you to know something about your own country. Strikes are going on. Riots. Why? You've had a lot of theories, done plenty of tall talking. How about reading a few facts for a change in a report that reads like a seven-reel thriller. The name?

She had just been graduated, was busted flat, and wondering what it was all about. She particularly wondered what striking, starving miners in the coal fields of Pennsylvania were all about.

Not having anything else to do she went down to find out—and came back with a tale about America that will and should knock your patriotic ga-ga for a goal.

IF YOU WANT TO GET AHEAD.
By Ray D. Sherman,
Little, Brown & Co.

Here's a story on your favorite theme, YOURSELF. A success book—and they're mostly tripe But this one is the real stuff. A thin little book with the whale of a wallop. Doesn't pretend to tell you how to become a Master Mind or Captain of Industrty. But it does tell you how to make the most out of Jim Jones—whatever his job. And it will painlessly remove a lot of cockeyed notions. Swell for what ails us all.

AS THE EARTH TURNS,
By Gladys Hasty Carroll.
MacMillan Company.

Remember one of those rare moments when suddenly everything seems right, as though a cool, kind hand passed softly over your tired heart, soothing away trouble and strain? "AS THE EARTH TURNS" is like that.

It is the story of old-fashioned America—of simple strong people living upon the soil — moving quietly, patiently with the turning seasons. The smell of gingerbread in a friendly, low-roofed room . . . of fresh ploughed earth beneath a quickening April sun. The sound of sharp scythes singing down tall, bright files of grain . . . of snow flakes rustling softly against a window pane.

And suddenly you're remembering the dreams you dreamed, when you and life were young together. A dream of a home, somewhere, small and sweet and safe; far, so far away from the hurt and the heat and the hate of the cruel city.

Have you ever read one serious, fair report of what they are doing, what they believe? Would you dare read a report like that? Would you dare compare the actual conditions in Russia today with actual conditions in America? If you would, here's the book for you.

Four books. One about America. One about Russia. One about Yourself. One about the rich old earth from which we all come. If you read those books, giving yourself up to them, they will make you over—raise your sky—push back your horizons.

MARRY-GO-ROUND

Woman's Wit

"A woman should never seek to be witty, for wit is something that has been denied to women," once remarked Mr. A. B. See. And, lots of men secretly agree with him.

* * *

Oh yeah? That depends on your idea of "wit." Every now and then I HAVE to defend my own sex against this masculine tradition! I could quote pages and pages of wisecracks from women—but I haven't the space. So, here are a few.

"Woman's freedom is God's greatest gift to man." Ursula Parrott. (My favorite.)

* * *

* * *

"Marriage is all very well but it seems like carrying love too far." Texas Guinan.

* * *

"It's not the men in your life—but the life in your men." Mae West.

* * *

"Rouge is God's gift to women." —Juliet Wilbour Tompkins.

* * *

"He must have been weaned on a dill pickle."—(Credited to Alice Longworth.)

* * *

"A bachelor is a collection of HABITS, entirely surrounded by ego."—Nixola Greeley-Smith.

* * *

"A man's heart is like a barber shop, in which the cry is always 'Next!'"—Helen Rowland. (My goodness, how she hates herself!)

* * *

"Fickle men so prize a first kiss that they never take a second—from the same girl."—Minna T. Antrim.

* * *

"Three things there be I shall have 'til I die—laughter and hope, and a sock in the eye!"—Dorothy Parker.

* * *

"I would rather raise hell than chickens!"—Eleanor Patterson.

* * *

"I left my husband because he believed in the triple standard of morality—one for me and two for himself."—Lillian Day in "Kiss and Tell."

* * *

"In New York, everyone is so busy and direct, I haven't been insulted once."—Belle Livingstone.

* * *

"It is easy to get married, but it takes up too much time trying to stay married."—Mary Garden.

* * *

"Understanding woman has long been the greatest masculine sport."—Florence G. Seabury.

* * *

"Sometimes when I am low in the mind I think I'll end it all by getting married."—Tallulah Bankhead.

And, if a—beg pardon, anybody's idea of wit-and-humor is making faces or throwing things, he ought to SEE the faces that Marie Dressler can make—and the way a woman can throw a bridge-lamp.

* * *

I have always claimed that the reason for a woman's lack of a sense of humor was that she didn't DARE, laugh at a man—the only thing she saw to laugh at! But, NOW what?

Mme. Curie, Who Gave Her Life for Science, Received Only a Pittance for Her Services to Mankind

By Edwin C. Hill

TWO arresting facts spring instantly from the passing of that noble woman, Mme. Marie Curie. The first was that she was permitted to live and die in poverty. The second was that she was a martyr to her own scientific labors. If the head of the hospital in which she got through with life is to be believed, she was killed by the very mysterious element she, herself, discovered—radium.

We learn that her only means of support consisted of a grant of $2,500 a year from the French government, surely not a princely pension! The woman who brought great glory to France was rewarded with a pittance, and even this pittance she spent mostly in her scientific researches. She knew that radium was killing her—so, at least, says the physician who treated her—but refused to give up, treating her life as of no importance compared to the possibility of some fascinating discovery in her chosen field of physics.

And now she will lie in the Pantheon, with her husband, Pierre, peaceful and happy for the first time in 30 years; for the first time since her young husband stepped out into the street to have his life crushed out by a passing vehicle.

Mme. Curie belonged among the 10 greatest scientists of the world. She was the No. 1 woman of her generation. Even at 67, little, white-haired Marie Curie, clad in her neat, straight, tailored suit of black, with white blouse and black four-in-hand tie knotted close to her slender throat, worked 12 hours a day, patiently delving into the mystery of life.

She was not a Frenchwoman born, for she was born in Warsaw, Poland. Her amazing aptitude for physics and mathematics came from her father, who was a professor in the University of Warsaw. An interesting example of the workings of heredity.

As a young girl she lived in a Paris garret while she toiled away at her studies. And one day, at the home of her professor, she met a rising French physicist and chemist named Pierre Curie.

Honeymoon Spent In Bicycling

IT was one of those cases of love at first sight which sweeps all obstacles from the path of lovers. A year later they were married. Both were as poor as church mice. They had just 500 francs to their name. With a hundred of this combined capital they bought two bicycles and spent their honeymoon discovering the outskirts of Paris.

They lived in a three-room flat, blissfully happy, and there the daughter, Irene, was born. These were the happiest days of Madam Curie's life. It was in 1899 that Pierre and Marie Curie discovered the mysterious force which they named radium. They were not money-hungry, so they took out no patents and made no effort to protect their marvelous discovery. But it gave them world-wide fame.

The Nobel prize in physics was awarded to them—in fact, it was awarded twice to her—and for Madam Curie was created a special chair in physics in the Sorbonne, the great university of Paris.

And three years later came the tragic blow which robbed Marie Curie of her happiness. Pierre was killed by a truck as he started to cross a street—a terrible stroke of fate to this woman who was both a distinguished scientist and a loving wife and mother.

It was in 1903 that Madam Curie first received the Nobel Prize, but this was jointly with her former teacher, Henri Becquerel, the distinguished professor of physics at the University of Paris, and her husband. The second award was eight years later, when it was presented to her alone. The money from these awards was devoted to research work.

While she accepted these honors and honorary degrees from many universities, so long as they related to her work, she refused the decoration of the Legion of Honor, partly on the sentimental ground that it had been refused also by her husband. More important than this reason, however, was the consideration that she found publicity or ceremonial attentions distasteful. Her modesty was very real.

Madam Curie paid two visits to the United States, the first in 1921 to receive a gram of radium purchased for her by the women of this country for $100,000, and the second time in 1929.

* * *

Disliked All Show Of Sentiment

SHE disliked romanticising, either her life or the dreary days which she spent in patient research with her husband. Of those years Paul Appell, president of the Academy of Paris, wrote as follows:

"M. and Mme. Curie, not being able to pursue their chemical experiments in a school room which had been placed at their disposal, arranged for these in a sort of abandoned warehouse opposite their atelier. In this place, with its asphalt floor, its broken and patched glass roof, hot in summer, heated by a cast-iron stove in winter, they performed their wonderful work. The equipment consisted of some old and worn deal tables, upon which Mme. Curie prepared the material for the production of radium.

"She was laboratory chief assistant and handy boy at the same time. In addition to her intellectual labor, it was frequently necessary for her to perform severe manual toil. On many an afternoon she stirred in a great cauldron, with a heavy iron rod, the molten mass of the radio-active products, reaching home at evening exhausted by fatigue."

The time has not yet come to measure the importance of Marie Curie's principal discovery. Will radium or some adaptation of its use eventually end one of the greatest scourges of humanity, cancer? If ever that comes to pass, the name of Marie Curie will be listed among the authentic saints.

Oklahoma Has Strong Gubernatorial Nominees

By James T. Williams, Jr.

GOOD news goes out to the four corners of the country from the people of Oklahoma.

They have just nominated in the Democratic and Republican primaries of that state two strong men for governor. They have suffered many ills under "Alfalfa Bill" Murray's administration as governor and obviously are eager for a change.

This was demonstrated by the result in the Democratic primary, where the winner was opposed by the Murray faction. Ernest W. Marland, whom the Democrats have nominated as their candidate for Governor, is an educated man of independent means and considerable experience in public life.

A native of Pittsburgh and a graduate of the law school of the University of Michigan, he has been an independent producer and royalty owner since 1928. Never active before in politics, he was elected to Congress in 1932 from a district, which, prior to that time, had always been represented in Congress by a Republican—the only Republican district in Oklahoma.

Mr. Marland was supported in the primaries for Governor by Roosevelt Democrats and Roosevelt Republicans and is pledged, if elected, to co-operate with the Roosevelt administration in giving Oklahoma a New Deal administration.

* * *

Present Situation Without Precedent

HIS Republican opponent, W. B. Pine, of Okmulgee, is a native of Bluffs, Ill. He has been in turn farmer, oil producer and manufacturer. His chief public service has been in the United States Senate, to which he was elected in 1924. He visited Pittsburgh as a member of the Senate committee which investigated the coal strike of 1927. He was defeated for re-election in 1930 by his Democratic opponent, Senator Gore, who had retired from the Senate in 1921 after serving three successive terms.

This is the first time since Oklahoma entered the Union as the forty-sixth state, in 1907, that her citizens have nominated for Governor two men of independent means who have already represented the state in the national legislature—the one in the House and the other in the Senate.

The cause of popular government would be the gainer, north, east, south and west, if the other 34 states which elect Governors in 1934 would elect men qualified by character and experience for an office that ought to be second in importance only to the exalted office of the Presidency.

What the President is to the people of the United States, the Governor should strive to be to the people of his own state. The Governor is the only state official who represents all the people of his state, just as the President is the only federal official who represents the whole American people in their corporate capacity as a nation.

For the most part, the powers of a Governor are executive powers. Theoretically he has no legislative functions, but in practice he can, if he is a strong leader, exercise a tremendous influence over the course of legislation.

* * *

Need Aid to Abolish Oxcart Government

CERTAINLY in the gigantic task of modernizing the obsolete system of county and local government which inflicts nearly every state in the Union, the leadership of a strong Governor is essential if the people are ever to throw off the yoke of oxcart government and substitute popular government for the sordid exploitation which pork-barrel politicians have the effrontery to call government.

There was a natural prejudice against the office of Governor among the framers of the original 13 state constitutions. This prejudice, as Dr. William Bennett Munro in his authoritative book on "The Government of the United States" explains, was "a legacy from colonial days when the Governor had to carry out the instructions which came to him from England and hence obtained on many occasions a reputation for high-handedness which was not of his own making."

This was the reason why these original constitutions made the Legislature the predominant arm of the government in all the states and reduced the office of Governor to a post of relatively small importance.

During the last 150 years this situation has entirely changed, but there is still plenty room for improvement in the type of men elected to the office of Governor, even in recent years in most of the states of the Union.

And seldom in American history has there been greater need in the several states for the leadership of action which only a strong governor can raise up—a leadership strong enough to force the modernizing of our obsolete system of county and local government.
